Star Bath

The sky is peculiarly lovely on a frosty night when winter lies thick on our roof and window sills. A night wind has shepherded flocks of woolly clouds to some distant celestial fold so that the blue-black heavens above us are clear. Sparkling in cold brilliance in a high and wide silence above the earth the distant stars look down upon frost-bound, snow-drifted land. A slender sliver of new moon drifts dreamily across the sky.

Such a night is meant for wading in thoughts until the wonderer is beyond his depth. Then lie back awhile, lazily leaning one's weight upon deep mysteries, like stumbling in a deep drift of snow, lying there, relishing it, not caring to rise too soon.

Especially after a day of dealing with small details it is good to take such a star bath. We are so prone to become like what we are attentive to that hours spent on minutiae make us small. Punching a time clock, putting parts together on an assembly line, typing reports, tapping keys on an adding machine, correcting computations, fulfilling assignments—all the little features of daily living have a way of dragging our minds down to their size. To achieve and maintain the full stature of manhood and womanhood we need frequently to focus our minds on bigness.

In Florence Barclay's "The Rosary" a doctor says to his patients: "See a few big things. Go in for big things. You will like to remember when you are bothered about pouring water in and out of leopards that Niagara is still flowing." And when we are tired of accounting for where our money went, or wearied of adding up duties still to be performed before the weekend arrives, or bored with planning how many and what guests we should invite to our next party—then it is restful to step out side and attempt to count the stars in the vastness of the sky. Bigness is the best antidote for littleness.

On a clear night, with the unaided eye, from 5,000 to 7,000 stars can be seen throughout the world, only half of them, however, being visible in our half of the sky. But with the help of the 100-inch Mount Wilson telescope approximately 1,500 million can be seen. Look through the two-hundred-inch mirror on the Palomar Mountain telescope and additional billions of stars come into view. Distances to the stars are measured in terms of light years rather than miles. A light year is the distance light will travel in a year's time while speeding at the rate of 186,000 miles per second. In other words, a light year represents a distance of approximately six trillion miles.

The Milky Way, of which our sun and its planets are but a tiny part, is composed of some one hundred billion stars. From our earth to the center of the Milky Way the distance is about fifty thousand light years. If you could go from Charlevoix to the far outer edge of the Milky Way on some heavenly steed, galloping along at the rate of 180,000 miles per second, it would take you 100,000 years, which means a person contemplating the journey should start rather young if he is to make it.

Still, beyond the Milky Way there are other galaxies, yet more vast.

Such a star bath for our thoughts cleanses the mind of the transitory, the little, the insignificant.

Pungent ones thoughts into the immensities of our universe does something else for us, too. It can deepen our religious faith and enlarge our reverence for God. When Dr. Henry Norris Russell, famed Princeton University astronomer, once gave a lecture he talked of the Milky Way and its millions of stars. He told how many of them were far larger than our sun and how the still more distant heavens swarmed with stars innumerable.

When he finished his address a troubled woman came to him and asked, "Dr. Russell, if our world is so little, and the universe is so great, can we really believe that God pays any attention to us human beings?"

The noted astronomer answered, "That all depends, Madam, on how big a God you believe in."

The immense magnitude of the universe demands a bigger God than most of us know. Stretch your mind and soul on the stars, and you will make more room there for a greater God.

Annual Style Show Is Feature Project With County 4-H Girls

4-H clothing projects can lead to at least one week of fun and education on M.S.U.'s campus, according to Clare Brown, home demonstration agent. Each year every girl that has participated in the clothing project, models her garment in the county style show. If you never have seen this spectacle of approximately 135 live models showing off their skill in sewing, be sure to attend this year's style show at the East Jordan high school auditorium on April 30 at 8 p. m.

From this style show one girl will be chosen as Charlevoix county dress revue candidate for the state style show. An alternate will also be chosen in event that the first girl cannot attend. This style revue candidate is sent, expenses paid, to M. S. U.'s campus for State 4-H club week. Here she lives in the large dormitory on the campus like a regular college student. During Club Week the style revue girls put on a show for the 2,000 boys and girls attending Club Week. The judges pick 25 outstanding girls in their garments and these candidates again come back to Michigan State University for a second week. This time it's for the State 4-H Show when all of the best exhibits and demonstrations in the state are brought in to the campus for showing and judging. During this week the 25 girls again model their garments for a vast audience. Immediately after State Show they leave for Detroit to model their garments in a gala style show at the State Fair.

How has Charlevoix county fared in this? Last year Miss Nancy Erber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erber of Boyne City, was one of the 25 finalists that attended both State Show and State Fair.

Finish Season With Even Wins And Losses

The Charlevoix Rayders wound up their 1956-57 basketball season Friday night with a record of seven wins and seven losses after dropping the final game of the schedule to Harbor Springs by a score of 56 to 39.

The Rayders were scheduled to meet Pellston in the opening game of the Class C district tournament at Petoskey Wednesday. In the second game Wednesday Boyne City will take on Harbor Springs. The winners will meet in the district finals at 8 p. m. Friday.

Last Week With Class 'C' Teams

The Boyne City Ramblers clinched their second Northern Michigan Class C conference title Friday night with a 50 to 29 victory over Mancelona. Grayling finished the season in second place behind the Ramblers following their upset by East Jordan by a score of 67 to 59. Harbor Springs dumped Charlevoix 56 to 39 to move into a third place tie with the Ironmen and Gaylord set a new team scoring record as they defeated last place Pellston 89 to 68. Charlevoix finished the season in fourth place followed by East Jordan in fifth and Gaylord in sixth place.

Boyne City 50; Mancelona 29

Boyne City romped into an 18 to 7 lead over the visiting Mancelona Ironmen, increased their advantage to 30 to 14 at halftime and 38 to 22 going into the final period to wrap up their second straight league title. The continued on page 9

District champions will advance to the Class C regional tournament at Petoskey next week. In the game with Harbor Springs Friday night Charlevoix trailed 15 to 10 at the quarter, 33 to 23 at the half and 42 to 25 going into the final quarter. In the final period they outscored the Rams 14 to 13 but the surge came too late to do any good.

Starting for Charlevoix were Norm Helms, Glenn Bearss, Phil Timmer, Terry Davis and Bob Mol. Kenny Balch, who has been nursing a sprained ankle replaced Bearss early in the game and later John Bingham, who was playing his first Varsity game, Bill Poquette and Mike Genett joined the lineup.

At Harbor Springs Charlevoix scored six points on three field goals, Mol scored two, Balch one and Davis tallied one point from the free throw line while the Rams scored three field goals and Davis and Mol added one apiece to give Charlevoix 10 points.

In the second quarter Bingham scored six points on three field goals, Mol scored two, Balch one and Davis tallied one point from the free throw line while the Rams scored 19 points on five field goals and nine charity shots.

In the third quarter the Rayders scored only two points two free throws, by Genett as Harbor Springs increased its lead on three field goals and the same number of gift shots.

Helms started to hit in the final period, scoring four field goals, Bingham added two points from the free throw line and Davis and Mol scored field goals for 14 points. Harbor Springs tallied five field goals and three free throws.

Despite the wide point spread, the Rayders scored 17 field goals, only one less than the Rams. However, the Rayders had 19 personal fouls called on them, giving the Rams an opportunity to score 20 points on 31 tries while Charlevoix scored on five of 10 attempts. Harbor Springs had only seven personal fouls.

Don Lauer with 19 and Pete Graham with 18 points paced the scoring for the Rams. Norm Helms had 14 and Mol and Bingham eight each for the Rayders.

This marked the last scheduled game for four members of the Rayder squad, Balch, Helms, Davis and Timmer who will graduate in June.

Next Season To Bring Many New Players To Class C Conference

Four Charlevoix players will be among the 37 young athletes from eight Northern Michigan Class C teams who will be making their final appearance on basketball courts during the forthcoming tournaments.

They are Kenny Balch and Norm Helms, top scorers on this year's Rayder cage squad, Terry Davis and Phil Timmer.

Elsewhere in the league Grayling will lose its entire starting lineup plus two others, Gaylord will lose nine players including two regulars as well as several who have started at various times during the season, East Jordan will lose four regulars, Boyne City will be without the services of five players including only one regular while Mancelona will count among its four losses only one regular and Pellston and Harbor Springs will lose two regulars apiece.

At Grayling the Vikings big center Bob Strong, their scoring guard Dave Lowe, Tony Doremier, Bill Martin and Aubrey Welch all regulars will graduate in June as well as Bob Houghton and Don Campbell who have seen limited action.

Among the nine players Gaylord will lose are Mike McKillop, Lonnie Campbell and Jim Jenkins, all regulars, Greg Styles, Gary Brandenburg, Dale Kregier, Harry Wolf, Jan Frens, an exchange student from Holland and Keith Riddle, all of whom have been in the starting lineup at various times during the season. All are seniors except Wolf who will be 19 in April and thus ineligible to compete next season and Riddle, a junior who will join his parents in Grand Rapids at the close of the current school year.

Four members of the starting lineup at East Jordan will be among those graduating in June. They are Larry Woodcock, who is among the top four scorers in the loop, Ray Walker, Garth Thompson and Jack Ingalls.

John Juday will be the only regular lost to the league champions, Boyne City. Other seniors who have seen limited action are Mike Bean, Bill Nulph, Ed Barden and Gary Coon.

Mancelona's center, big Bob Hardy, will be the only regular graduating this June. However, the loss of Norman LaCroix, Don Derrer and Fayze Jabara, who have been regular substitutes for the first five, will be felt when Charlevoix's Little Rayders, coached by Terry Rice, who have finished the 1956-57 season with a record of 15 wins and one loss in 16 games. The one loss was to the Petoskey Reserves.

The reserve team composed entirely of freshmen and sophomore athletes is a feeder group for the Varsity squad.

Charlevoix's little Rayders romped over the Harbor Springs Reserves by a score of 58 to 31 Friday night to conclude the 1956-57 season with a record of 15 victories and one loss, the latter to Petoskey.

Coach Terry Rice sent his entire squad of 22 players against the Rams. Missing from the lineup was center John Bingham who was advanced to the Varsity squad for the game. Earlier Ron Vandenberg and Bill Poquette were graduated to the senior team.

In the game Friday night Charlevoix forged into an 18 to 2 first quarter lead over the Harbor Springs Reserves. In the second quarter the local five continued their scoring spree outscoring their hosts 15 to 8 for a 33 to 10 halftime lead which was increased to 48 to 17 third quarter advantage.

Scott Supernaw who paced the game with 18 points, scored 12 of his total in the first quarter to account for two-thirds of the Rayders points as the quarter ended. Joe Beaudoin tallied two and Bruce Pease one field goal as the quarter ended. Harbor was limited to one field goal. Others in the starting lineup were Ken Case and Stan Smith.

In the second quarter Pease scored six, Tom Larkies four, Smith three and Charles Coleman one field goal for the Rayders. The Rams scored four field goals for a halftime score of 33 to 10.

Beaudoin paced the scoring in the third quarter with two field goals, followed by Jim Ladd with three points, Supernaw, Pease, Coleman and Smith, one field goal apiece for the Rayders. The host team scored only seven points.

Despite the fact that Coach Rice was substituting freely, Charlevoix continued to score in the final period, dumping in 11 points on two field goals by Don Sanborn and one each by Dick Muma and Mike LaBlance. Even Harbor Springs furthered the Rayder cause by scoring a bucket for the victors. Coleman also scored a free throw. The Rams had their best period, scoring 14 points on six field goals and two gift shots.

Others who saw action were Dick Goike, John Norton, Buddo Cross, Brad Ward, Floyd Genia, Jim VerWys, Chris Campbell, Brian Seymour, Rod Ostrum, John Martin, and Tony Genia.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. V. H. LaFreniere celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary. Several friends helped them make the occasion a happy one.

Mrs. Marion Rise, R. N., of Charlevoix county and Mrs. Sargent of West Branch, a representative from the Cancer Society, visited the Island on Thursday. They showed two movies and Mrs. Sargent gave a little talk on cancer. Refreshments were served after the lecture.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bellows were called to the mainland during the past week. One of James' uncles died in Traverse City.

Elston Piechner spent a few days away on business recently.

Friday evening the junior class sponsored a Mardi Gras party in the high school. All the small children seemed to have a big time.

Several of the fellows left Sunday to spend a few days at one of McDonough's cabins. Just to "get away from it all" so they say.

have played major roles in their team successes this season. The Rams will lose Don Lauer, second highest scorer in the league this season and Dick Keller, another stalwart, by graduation.

Pellston will lose the outstanding player on the Hornet squad this season, Pat Cabinaw, who although he is only a junior, will be ineligible because of the age limit and Ray Bonter, a senior. Two members of the 1956-57 Charlevoix Rayder basketball team are among the top 15 scorers in the Northern Michigan Club C league, it has been revealed following the close of the regular season.

They are forward Norm Helms who scored at total of 221 points in 14 loop games for an average of 15 1/2 points per game and forward and guard, Keny Balch whose total for the season is 141 points, or 10 points per loop game.

The pair are seventh and thirteenth, respectively, behind the leading scorer, Ronnie Johnson, 17-year-old Mancelona junior guard, who has dumped in an impressive total of 268 points in 14 loop games for an average of just over 19 points per game. A consistent scorer, he tallied 139 during the first half of the season and 129 for the last seven games.

Trailing Johnson by only 10 points is Don Lauer of Harbor Springs who scored 126 in the first seven games and 132 during the last half of the season for a total of 258.

Johnson, who is a scoring guard, reached his season's record by scoring 109 field goals and 50 free throws in 92 attempts.

Lauer scored 104 field goals and the same number of free throws in 95 attempts.

Carl Charon of Boyne City, who jumped from seventh place in January to third as the season ended, scored 148 points in the last seven games, setting a new league scoring record of 39 points midway in the season while accomplishing the feat. His 352 points gives him a game average of 18 points.

Larry Woodcock of East Jordan advanced from fifth to fourth place as the season ended with a total of 247 points for a game average of 17 1/2 points. He scored 139 points during the second half of the season to place among the top four.

In league play last week, Lonnie Campbell of Gaylord matched the scoring record set earlier by Charon when his team, the Gaylord Blue Devils, set a new team scoring record of 89 points in regular play against Pellston. His 39 points moved him into eleventh place among league scorers.

Last Week Class C

Ramblers finished the season with a record of 12 wins and two losses, the latter to Grayling and Charlevoix. John Juday with 16 points led the scoring for the victors. John Phillips had 12 for the Ironmen whose top scorer for Ron Johnson was held to five points.

East Jordan 87; Grayling 59
The East Jordan Red Devils snipped out of the doldrums Friday to upset the second place Grayling Vikings in a game which saw the lead change and scores tied countless times. Grayling got off to a 16 to 12 first quarter lead only to have the Jordanians knot the score 32-all at halftime and go ahead 46 to 44 going into the final period. With two minutes remaining the score was tied 57-all before Gene Richards, on two trips to the free throw line, gave the Red Devils a four-point lead. The Vikings managed one bucket but East Jordan dumped in three quick ones as time ran out for the victory. Larry Woodcock, with 13 baskets and two of two free throw attempts, tallied 28 points for the victors. Bob Strang had 19 and Dave Lowe 13 for Grayling.

Gaylord 89; Pellston 68
Sowing 34 field goals and 21 of 33 free throw attempts, Gaylord set a new team scoring record against Pellston as they dumped the Hornets by a 21-point margin. Blue Devil Lonnie Campbell scored 39 points in the game on 16 field goals and seven of nine free throw attempts before leaving the game late in the final period with five personal fouls. His scoring feat equals the new individual scoring record set by Carl Charon earlier in the season.

Plan Sale Of Easter Seals To Aid Cripples

An organizational meeting of the Charlevoix county chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Forbes Thursday evening.

Ray Palowski of Menominee who is the field representative for the organization in the northern Michigan counties was present and explained the work of the organization which aids the crippled of all ages, races and creeds. He went on to say that the organization was interesting in operating on a county-wide rather than a state-wide level in an effort to more efficiently cover the state. The only source of funds is voluntary gifts from the annual sale of Easter seals.

Mr. Forbes was named president of the county chapter; Vernon LaFreniere of St. James, vice president; Mrs. Forbes secretary and Maurice J. Foster, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are Dr. Isaac Terr, Charles J. Pontius, Mrs. William Lusk, Glenn Rose, Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp, Robert Neff, Gordon Neff, Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton, Joseph Etienne, Robert Richardson of Boyne City and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beene of Ironton.

Envelopes containing Easter seals will be addressed and mailed at some future date. The Charlevoix county State bank has been named as a depository for the chapter. Anyone who does not receive stamps may obtain them by contacting Mr. Forbes or any of his officers or directors.

Cruises Across Lake Michigan Via Horse-Cutter

Reminiscent of the 'good old days' when the only contact between Beaver Island and the mainland during the winter months was travel over the ice, Charles Martin of St. James last week crossed the ice from the north end of the island to the upper peninsula.

Taking with him a load of fish, Martin made the 24 mile trip via horse and cutter to Naubinway in the upper peninsula last Wednesday. He spent the night there and returned home over the ice the following day.

Prior to the mid-1920s when the first air route during the winter months between Beaver Island and the mainland was established, the only way the island residents had of traversing the 21-mile straits between the island and Cross Village was over the ice. This of course, was possible only when Lake Michigan was frozen over. There were often many times from the time navigation closed until the lake was frozen that the island was isolated for many weeks.

The Charlevoix Girl Scout Council has set a goal for the purchase of property for a camping site for its girls.

Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman and Mrs. Robert Bergmann have been named to head a committee to a camp site. An advisory committee to assist the building and investigate property for such a site committee in locating a suitable piece of property will be composed of Earl A. Young, E. D. Edwards Food Mart To Open New Grocery

The purchase of the Food Mart located at 319 Bridge st. by Richard L. Edwards and Louis A. Edwards of Edwards Food Mart was announced last week. The transaction will be consummated April 1.

The pair who have operated the store for the past several years purchased the business from Charles Bleha.

An announcement by Edwards said that they plan to open the new food store late next month after an extensive re-decorating program.

He also said that the store would feature choice meats as well as the standard brands of other products sold in the north-side store which is located at 402 Petoskey ave.

The new store will be an I.G.A. Independent Grocers Alliance store, the same as the Food Mart, thus making it possible for the owners to pass along their savings to the customer.

The Food Mart market was established by Charles Bleha in 1950. He will continue to operate this grocery until the end of this month.

Kiwanis Presents High School With Honor Award Plaque

The youth service committee of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club has presented the Charlevoix high school with an attractive honor award plaque on which will be engraved each year the name of the award winner in mathematics and science.

Award winners will be selected on the basis of their scholastic standing, ability and aptitude in these courses of study.

The plaque will remain in possession of the high school and be prominently displayed as an inspiration to students to seek the award. The purpose of the award plaque will be to promote more interest, greater accomplishment and a desire to pursue further study in mathematics and science, Mr. Edwards said.

In the near future the Charlevoix Kiwanis club, headed by Ralph S. Hamilton as president, hopes to present another plaque for deserving students excelling in English and History.

Senator Andrews Gives Approval To Proposed Site On Beaver Island

A petition filed by residents of Peaine township with the office of Gov. G. Mennen Williams requesting the location of the Boys Vocational School on the south end of Beaver island has received the support of Senator Frank Andrews, (R), of the 29th senatorial district.

In a telephone interview Wednesday morning Senator Andrews said he would give his full support to the proposal, stating that he felt the island would be an ideal location for the school where the boys could be rehabilitated in natural surroundings. He went on to say that it would do away with the problem of run-arounds which is so prevalent at the present site in Lansing and that the transfer of the school to Beaver Island would greatly aid island economy.

The residents of Peaine township Monday made their bid for the school which is presently located in the heart of Lansing where space is limited and where the runaway problem is a serious one.

John W. Bellamy, Petoskey attorney, forwarded the petition Monday together with a plea for its consideration to the governor's office after all residents, qualified electors of Peaine township numbering 24 in all, had signed it last week.

The residents of Peaine township, one of two townships on the island which is a part of Charlevoix county, are seeking the relocation of the school there in an effort to bolster island economy which is facing virtual extinction, following the decline of commercial fishing.

In their plea addressed to Gov. Williams, the island residents pointed out that there are more than 7,000 acres of unoccupied and publicly-owned lands on the southern section of the 17-mile long island. The southernmost tip of the island is only 1 1/2 hours via ferry from Charlevoix.

Envisioning a self-contained boy's community with a controlled environment, correctional treatment and vocational training, Mr. Bellamy emphasized the superiority of the island site over the Whitmore lake site in Washtenaw and Livingston counties presently being considered by the Department of Social Welfare.

The island area is forested for the greater part and includes not only the famous Lake Geneva but other small lakes and several miles of frontage on Lake Michigan. The therapeutic advantages of the island location in the almost unlimited room for expansion whereas the Whitmore lake site is confined to two areas of 300 acres in all in a heavily resort and residential area. Rural isolation, natural beauty and recreational opportunities are other features of the island site pointed out by Mr. Bellamy.

The maximum capacity of the Whitmore lake site is estimated to be 1,000 boys whereas the potential need of the state is for Continued on page 5

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Top o' the mornin' to you on this St. Patrick's Day... Sunday will be a great day for all those who can claim any connection with the Irish... May all of you enjoy this day set aside for the Irish... and may you see the light of many more.

And speaking of the Irish, one can't help but think of Irish luck as if you have a four-leaf clover, a rabbit's foot, a good luck charm of any kind drag it out and bring it to the game Thursday night... As you know, Charlevoix drew Grayling in the regional tournament drawings this week... And our Rayders will need not only all your luck but all your support. They did themselves proud Friday night, when they trimmed Boyne City... They played the kind of ball they're been taught to play and came up with one of the sweetest victories we've ever seen.

Not too many people knew it at the time, but when the Charlevoix Rayders accepted that hard-earned trophy Friday night it marked the first time Coach Carey's team had ever been on the receiving end of such an honor... And we mean the very first time when he played for Charlevoix high school way back then, the Rayders weren't winning titles as often as they have in recent years... And since he has reached this was his first... So it was a mighty happy occasion for all concerned... the team who had worked so very hard, their coach who had tried so hard for so long and the fans who had supported the team so loyally even when they weren't winning... And there were quite a few.

And now we would like to join those friends in wishing the Rayders and Coach Carey the best of everything in the forthcoming games... you note we said games for we are sure they can come up with another title... As someone said the other night, you can't keep a good team down and Charlevoix's teams are always good... See you at the tournament!

Have you been watching the progress on the new county building? We have and we've been looking for a chance to get into the building on a quick inspection tour... But there's always too many people around... Isn't it going to be a lovely structure... and certainly an improvement to that corner... It won't be too long before our county offices will be moved into it... We've heard about a new county building for so many years that it's hard to believe that it's finally an actuality.

Put we understand that construction work around town will be slowed down during the next few weeks due to the absence of our most outstanding sidewalk superintendent who's left town for a visit... Of course we mean H. A. Feiereisel... Too bad he couldn't time his trips so they wouldn't hold up work around town!... we'll have to speak to him about that.

Don't know what it will be like when you read this but you could actually see the blue water out in Lake Michigan Sunday... The wind evidently shifted and moved those massive ice fields out... With the near-zero weather we've been having there's more ice being made every night than the sun can melt during the day... But soon there'll be spring... we hope... And next summer when it's hot, we'll be grateful for the ice that stayed around and cooled old Lake Michigan for our convenience.

Robert Stafford recently found an old copy of the Charlevoix Courier dated Oct. 5, 1905, and we've been having a lot of fun reading not only the ads but the news items... A couple we liked included an account of a bad accident... A run-away horse nearly wrecked the office of the Charlevoix Lumber Co. Seems the blind horse, hitched to a vegetable wagon, became frightened, ran down the north side hill, leaving the wagon astride a telephone pole and went crashing through a projecting window... And the second was an account of a motor trip to Traverse City... The account relates that Willard Smith, editor of the Sentinel, accompanied M. D. Woodford in his 40 h.p. Winston automobile to Traverse City, leaving here at 11 a.m., stopping at Northwood for dinner and arrived at their destination a little after 5 p.m. Mr. Smith added "To an old timer such a trip is a revelation. It's one who, a third of a century ago traveled the same road through the woods, a trip by a well built road, the journey is one of unalloyed pleasure".

Among the locals, which appeared on the front page, was one about Marie Mayne, Marion Harr and Calla Wilbur had gone to Chicago to enter the University of Chicago for the domestic science course, Annie Olmstead of Norwood had gone to school in Petoskey and Grace and June Stafford of the same community had gone to Normal in Mt. Pleasant. The state tax apportioned to Charlevoix county that year was $10,293.90... Happy day!... Special assessment roles for paying Bridge, Clinton and Main st. and the sewer rolls for Main St., Clinton st. and the north side were at the treasurer's office for collection... The main st. sewer was laid from Bridge st. west to a point well past Clinton st. Tell us, where was Main st.?

The steamer "Searchlight" had delivered a load of seed peas from Cross Village to the Ferry Seed Co. here... The Argo Company's Charlevoix rolling mill was working nights to help out the East Jordan mill that was out of commission owing to a break in the Deer Creek dam... The $5.00 Pere Marquette excursion attracted 169 people but it didn't mention where the excursion went... and the Kansas and Missouri were makes regular trips to Chicago... And the ads, as usual, were priceless... Skinner raffeta at $1.50 a yard; one hardware was featuring steel stoves... bacon was 13 cents a pound, sugar 17 to 19 pounds for $1.00 depending on the grade, Lamp chimneys and lantern globes, five cents each... Those were the days... the gold old days we're always hearing about but we don't know as we'd care for 'em.

Another bit from "way back when" may be seen in the window at Brown Motors... It's an enormous old bicycle with the small front wheel and the huge rear wheel... How anyone ever rode them we'll never know but seems they did... Mrs. Floyd Ikens was telling us that her step-father brought one of them once... for a whole month's wages, she added... and planned to ride to work on it to save car fare... (they were living in Chicago at the time)... but it seems he never mastered the vehicle.

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

By Mrs. Robert Martin
Member of The Methodist Church

When one attempts to capture in mere words the meaning of any human emotion or relationship, he builds a verbal fence that may shut out more than it contains. I shall do just that as I try to say what Christ and His church means to me. Furthermore, as the days go by, the meaning changes. I think that fact is one of the most wonderful aspects of our relationship. I have learned through the years that no matter what diversity of joys, sorrows, challenges, and complexities this earthly life has to offer me, Jesus Christ and His living church have a meaning that is appropriate for each one. I may not always have the wisdom and courage to seek it or to live by it, but I have never failed to find it at least in retrospect, nor have I ever found it to be anything other than abundantly adequate.

For some people, like Saul, meeting Christ and finding fellowship and opportunity for service in His church is a sudden and dramatic experience. For me it has been an unfolding process, because I had the good fortune to be born in a Christian home. Nevertheless, I know that there was a point somewhere in my formative years when my faith passed the threshold from a purely environmental condition into a personal relationship with Him that has deepened with every passing year. I expect that process to continue into eternity.

In the Christian church in general, and in the Methodist church in particular, I find my "family"—my guidance and instruction, my fellowship and inspiration, my challenge and work in the building of His Kingdom. In Christ Himself, I find the salvation of my soul and the answer to all the "Why's" of life. Neither one do I comprehend fully by any means, but like Paul, "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that He is able to keep that which I have committed unto Him against that day".

Migratory Birds Ready To Start Flights Northward

Already to the south, a stirring of birds heralds spring. Like parade units in a staging area, different flocks and species are about to fall in line for their spring march up the North American continent.

Governed by an immutable schedule, each comes at its own time in the same order each year, the National Geographic Society says.

On the pampas of Argentina, on the island of the Caribbean, in the forests of Central America, and in the southernmost sections of the United States, preparations for the migration can be seen in twittering flocks, excitement-filled before the annual trip home.

The first robin of spring, one of the earliest migrants to reach its breeding area, will arrive this year, as it has for so long, when the temperature averages about 35 degrees Fahrenheit.

Not that the robin cares about the temperature itself. A few, with a good food supply, live through the winter in the northern states.

The birds time their arrival with another movement, measured in inches instead of hundreds of miles, but as much a migration as the robin's own. This is the return of the earthworms. All winter they have hidden under the earth, below the frost line. As the ground thaws, they come to the surface. The robins are there to meet them.

Other species move on a schedule integrated with the vegetation. Hummingbirds, feeding on nectar, move along as the flowers bloom farther and farther north. In the annual upsurge, as (Continued on Page 5)

Rayon And Acetate Fabrics Require Different Care

You may think of rayon and acetate as one-and-the-same fabric, but they are not, cautions Clara Brown, Charlevoix county home demonstration agent.

In fact, she says, they deserve very different care. Many think of them as one, she explains, because they both start from cellulose and are manufactured similarly. But here are the differences.

Rayon has good absorbency and takes dyes well. It can be ironed with a medium hot iron which would be set at "rayon". But, rayon is very weak when it is wet; it should not be wrung out, but wrapped in a towel. It ravel easily and should be washed by hand or in the machine for a very short time. Because it absorbs moisture, it takes longer to dry than acetate.

Acetate is very sensitive to heat and should be ironed while still damp at a very low temperature setting. It will hold sharp creases but it can't be heat-set. Acetate has good shrinkage and stretching resistance and dries very rapidly. But, it is not too durable and should be handled with care. Wash it in warm water for a short time. To avoid permanent creases, don't wring it out.

The first acetates were known to fade or to change colors by being exposed to the gases in the air. So, chromspun acetate was developed to eliminate this fault. Chromspun is made by putting the dye in solution before the fiber is formed. It is colorfast to salt water, sunlight, and perspiration and does not fade.

Be sure to check the label on the fabrics and garments you buy and treat acetate and rayon accordingly.

Class Of '42 Plans Re-union In July

Plans for a reunion of the class of 1942 of the Charlevoix high school have been announced.

Tentative date for the reunion has been set for July 27 during the annual Venetian Night festivities.

William Lusk and Richard Forchman of Charlevoix and Mrs. Floyd (Signa Isaksen) Potts of Petoskey are working on the task of locating all members of the class.

This week Mrs. Potts said that the whereabouts of all but two members of the class are known. They are Millie Shaver and Carol Smith. If anyone has the addresses of these two members of the class of 1942 they are asked to call Mr. Lusk or Mrs. Potts.

Sale Of Timber From State Forests In 1956 Reaches All-Time Record

Timber sales from Michigan state forests set an all-time record during the past year reports the Department of Conservation.

The total was 28 percent over the previous record high of $595,245—established in 1955.

The 23 public forests in northern Michigan have produced increasing amounts of pulp, posts and sawlogs in recent years, with

Land Use Requires Careful Planning

Efficient use of land and natural resources demands careful planning, says Louis A. Wolfanger, Michigan State University zoning specialist.

Every county and township in the state may create a commission to prepare and recommend land use plans. To have a good plan, however, the people must participate, points out Ed Reiman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The first step in forming a plan is a careful study of land and natural resources of the county or township and their present uses.

Then, the planning commission considers such questions as these:

How good is each use? What improvements can be made? What are the unused opportunities?

Because land, resources and people vary, uses which are best in one part of a township may be out of place in another part. Thus, some areas are best suited for farming while others should be used for homes, commercial enterprises, industry, recreation, forestry or other uses.

These findings are then summarized in a plan or "blue print" for the county or township. This plan may also show what roads, schools, and other facilities will be needed.

Implementation of a plan requires several actions. One of these, zoning, will be explained by Wolfanger in a later article, says Agent Reiman.

Modern 'Stagecoach' Affords Luxurious Travel In Nation

The sleek, diesel-powered intercity bus is the sole public carrier linking millions of Americans to the rest of the nation. In fact, buses provide the only public transportation to and from more than 40,000 United States communities, says the National Geographic Society.

Some 25,000 highway giants served the travel needs of an estimated 275 million passengers last year. This huge volume makes the bus lines the most heavily patronized of the nation's long-distance carriers. Only railroads with short-haul commuter traffic included top the buses in total passenger traffic.

Stagecoach Tradition
Drivers of the buses like to think of their vehicles as descendants of the early stagecoaches. Themselves they identify with the hardy breed of drivers—historic figures like Charley Parkhurst and Hank Monk—who overcame balky horses, perilous roads and bands of gunmen to bring passengers safely to their destinations. In the face of today's chief menace, accident-ridden highways, the carefully trained drivers have chalked up a phenomenal safety record—approximately one fatality per 100 million passenger miles.

A close-knit lot, modern drivers always wave to each other in passing, even when they work for competing lines. More than mere camaraderie is involved, however, when buses flash their lights upon meeting. One flash means Look Out, Police in Vicinity; two flashes means Everything O.K.

Bus travel has come a long way in a short time. Greyhound, one of the earliest and now the largest of the intercity companies, began operation during World War I with only five jitneys. Early patrons had to content themselves with dingy trimmings, uncertain schedules, and frequent transfers. Now, however, all is changed and a traveler can board a bus in New York and disembark from the same vehicle in San Francisco only 82 hours later.

Highway Revolution
New developments are revolutionizing highway travel. An increasing number of runs feature chic hostesses who, like their sisters of the air-lines, devote themselves to the well-being of their passengers. Engineering research has produced a smoother, quieter ride. Air conditioning is standard equipment. Special panoramic views are afforded by vehicles such as the deck-an-a-half Scenicruiser.

But probably the world's most impressive bus in Continental Trailways' Golden Eagle—a German-built luxury cruiser running between Dallas and Houston. It is the first of a fleet expected soon to upstage the country. Among the Golden Eagle's features: reserved contour seats, free snacks, background music, washroom facilities, and an observation lounge.

Even more impressive are the mechanical advances incorporated into the new bus. Power is supplied by a 280-horsepower turbo-charged diesel engine called the Whisper because of its soundless operation. A special six speed transmission is controlled by an electronic gearshift, a new hydraulic leveling device eliminates body sway, even on sharp turns at high speed, Hank Monk and Charley Parkhurst would be proud.

Beaver Island in northern Lake Michigan presently has a population of less than 400 people. The present ferry route to the harbor on the northern end of the island covers a distance of 32 miles and takes approximately three hours.

Known today as America's Emerald Isle because of its predominating Irish population, Beaver Island was once the site of King James Strang's Mormon kingdom.

Migratory Birds To Start Flights North closely meshed as a watch movement: tree buds, burst, leaves begin to grow, insects hatch to eat leaves, and birds fly up to eat the insects.

Wood warblers, tiny jewels in their bright spring feathers, feed on caterpillars and other foliage-eating insects. Swallows and similar birds, which catch their food on the wing, await a time when insects are flying.

Avian Leapfrog

Earliest migrants across the United States are those with breeding areas farthest south. Their homes are ready first, and they move in. Later, as spring advances, the birds that live farther north come home, passing over the populations already in residence.

The spectacular migrations of the East Coast, when thousands of birds may appear in the morning where there were none the night before, are an effect of the changeable spring weather. A warmer and pleasant day or two may be followed by northeast storm, or a cold wave. In face of such conditions, the migration halts. Return of good weather releases the flood.

In the far western states, with a more equable climate, the migration is steadier and less noticeable.

LES JOHNSON
Michigan Bell Manager

MANY HOUSEWIVES are taking the "run" out of running their homes. Know how? By putting telephones wherever they need them—in the kitchen, in the bedroom, the living room, and down in the basement. Well-placed phones save countless steps and lots of time for the home "monogers." And, of course, additional telephones bring better service to everyone in the family. The cost? Just a few pennies a day, plus the one-time installation charge. Order your additional phones from our Business Office today.

HOW CAN shut-in boys and girls keep up with their school work? In recent years Michigan Bell's School-to-Home telephone installations have proven to be one successful method. Telephone equipment, using special two-way speaker units, lets the child who must stay home, or even in bed, hear everything that goes on in his regular classroom. He can recite and ask questions just as though he were actually in school. This daily contact with classmates gives the shut-in child a sense of belonging; he is a real part of the class. We'd be glad to tell you more about School-to-Home telephones. Just call our Business Office.

SCIENCE CAN GIVE us great entertainment, as the Bell System's television Science programs show. These programs aim to bring you an understanding of scientific work and its importance to modern life. And, of real importance to our country's future, they are helping to interest young people in scientific careers. The second show in this new series, televised nationally, is the fascinating story of blood. It's called "Hemo the Magnificent" and will be on the CBS-TV network at 9 P.M., March 20.

Reviews Career Possibilities Open To Farm Youth

Farm boys thinking about what to do after graduation have several fields from which to choose their occupation.

Many want to stay on the farm, the high pay of factories and other wage earning positions look good to some, and still others thing of professional work. Let's take a look at the professional field, and see how it compares to farming.

The U. S. Census Bureau puts doctors, lawyers, engineers, and men in related positions in the classification of professional workers.

These professional men in 1950 were younger, averaging 28 years of age to about 45 for farmers. This might indicate that the professional men retired earlier.

Professional workers averaged slightly over 40 hours per week, while farmers put in closer to 60. Professional men reported an average income about twice that of the average farmer. This difference is not quite as great as it seems, however. The value of home-consumed food adds to the farmer's cash income, and the farm has a house for which the farmer does not have to pay rent. The professional man averaged four years more education than the farmer. In many cases, this was six to eight years.

Rayders Capture Class C District Title In Upset

Defeat Conference Champions By 57-43

An inspired Charlevoix Rayder basketball team, coached by Don Carey, rolled over the favored Boyne City Ramblers Friday night by a score of 57 to 43 to capture the 1957 district Class C title at Petoskey.

It was the Rayders' first title under the tutelage of Coach Carey and their first since 1955.

From the opening whistle until the final horn the determined Rayders gave one of their best performances of the current season, remaining calm under pressure, taking advantage of the breaks and controlling the backboards, the pace of the game as well as the ball.

Vikings Defeat Ironmen 59-54 In Grayling District Tourney

In the Class C district tournament at Grayling, the Grayling Vikings dumped Mancelona 59 to 54 Saturday night to advance to the regionals at Petoskey.

In this game, Mancelona got off to a 20 to 18 first quarter lead but the Vikings came back in the second period to tie the pulled away on two quick buckets by Helms, one by Mol and a free throw by Balch who was followed to the key by Mol who scored one more to put the Rayders ahead 14 to 6. Charon scored a bucket, Davis added a free throw for Charlevoix and Williams tallied one for the Ramblers to make the score 15 to 9 as the period ended.

Going into the second quarter, Balch scored two buckets and Helms scored one plus two gift shots to put Charlevoix ahead 23 to 12 after Boyne City's Williams scored a field goal and Charon a charity shot. Juday then managed a field goal but Balch countered with two points on free throws for a 25 to 14 lead. In the melee that followed, Balch collected his fourth personal foul of the game and was benched by Coach Carey. A free throw by Williams followed by a bucket out the Rayder's lead to eight points as the half ended 25 to 17.

Boyne City, sobered by the chance of an upset by the Rayders, returned to the game in the second half with a new set of tricks, but no matter what they tried, the Rayders came up with a defense to stop it. Williams opened the action with a trip to the free throw line where he collected two shots but Bearss matched him with a field goal, Juday, who was making his sixth trip to the free throw line, finally came up with two points in that department in which he seldom misses. Davis scored on the first of two free throw attempts before Helms took the ball on the rebound from the second for a tip-in shot to put the Rayders ahead 30 to 21.

Midway in the period Davis went to the bench with four personal fouls and Balch returned to the game. As the action continued, Bob Christiansen scored two free throws, Bearss collected a pair for the Rayders followed by Timmer who added another charity shot to give Charlevoix a 33 to 23 lead. The Ramblers then added three points on a free throw by Charon and a field goal by Juday and Gary Newville but Bearss and Balch countered with field goals and the latter scored from the free throw line before John Bingham hit on a pivot shot to make the score 40 to 28. Rick Casper connected with a field goal for Boyne City as the period ended 40 to 30. Williams left the game with his fifth foul shortly before the quarter was concluded.

In the fourth period, Christiansen scored a field goal with 2 1/2 minutes in the final period gone which turned into a rout as the Ramblers scrambled for the ball, fouling the Rayders who then increased their lead from the free throw line. Before leaving the game with five fouls with four minutes remaining, Balch scored three free throws and Bearss scored one. Charon and Christiansen scored field goals to make the score 45 to 36 but in two trips to the free throw line Davis scored three points and Helms two for a 50 to 36 lead before Christiansen scored his third field goal of the period. Casper had left the game shortly after Balch with his fifth personal foul.

Helms added another field goal, Charon scored a field goal and a free throw and Bill Nulph scored two charity shots to give the Rayders their 43 points. Bingham tallied a field goal, Helms a free throw and Mol a tip-in shot as the game ended.

The Rayders had scored on 17 of 60 field goal attempts and Boyne had hit on 14 of 61.

The game advanced the Rayders to the regional tournament at Petoskey.

Helms with 15 points, Balch with 13 and Bearss with 12 led the Rayders' scoring attack. Charon had 11, Christiansen 10 and Juday eight for Boyne City.

Rayders-Rams Win First Tilt In C Tourneys

The Charlevoix Rayders defeated Pellston 67 to 46 in the first game of the Class C district tournament at Petoskey last Wednesday to earn a berth in the finals on Friday night.

In the second game of Wednesday's double-header, Boyne City dumped Harbor Springs 50 to 14.

Paced by Norm Helms and Ken Balch who had 22 points each, Charlevoix romped into an 18 to four lead over the Hornets; made it 33 to 15 at halftime and 49 to 32 going into the final period.

Starting for the Rayders were Glenn Bearss, Bob Mol, Helms, Terry Davis and Balch. Phil Timmer, John Bingham and Ron Vandenberg joined the lineup in the second quarter. Bill Poquette saw action in the third period and in the fourth Coach Don Carey emptied the bench, sending in Larry Ingalls, Scott Supernaw, Cliff Pierce, Ken Case and Stan Harwood in the last quarter. Duane Johnston had 17 and Pat C. Binaw 15 points for Pellston.

THOUGHTS AFIELD

by Harold C. Kahn

Getting Ready to Live

In one way, at least, animals seem smarter than human beings. The more highly developed mammals and birds prepare their offspring to face the realities of life better than many human parents do.

The red-fox that now hunts deer-mice beneath the snows of Hidden Brook learned the arts of stalking and pouncing upon its prey when but a short-legged pup, playing on a sunlit knoll outside its natal den. To this hill-locked home vixen and dog-fox brought crippled mice for their lively sons and daughters. These mice had been purposefully maimed by the parent foxes so that they could not elude the pursuit of the agile, but still clumsy, puppies. Tossed before the bouncy, bright-eyed youngsters, the mice tried to get away. But those golden-red balls of fluff were upon the mice before they could reach the nearest grass clumps. They were grabbed by tiny jaws and felt the prick of sharp little teeth. The squeaking prey tossed into the air and rolled and tumbled about while the gay young predators whined and yelped shrilly in excitement. All of this play took place under the alert supervision of the vixen and dog-fox and for a purpose. Parents were preparing their children for life. They were teaching them how to meet one of life's stern demands—the demand for food. Even if they were to do it ever so awkwardly at first, infant foxes must learn how to catch mice, for much of their lives would be spent doing just that.

In the animal world it is the business of more intelligent creatures to prepare their young for living. Parents inspire the development of their youngsters' hidden capacities and draw out their latencies. Others are notable swimmers, some of the best in the entire animal kingdom. But young others do not take to water instinctively. Their mothers must educate them to swim. She coaxes. She teases. Sometimes she tricks her babies into their first swim. Taking them for a swim on her back, where they feel secure and unafraid, she suddenly ducks out from under them. Then they must swim.

Bears, which are clumsy and ungainly-looking, can creep through a forest as quietly as a shadow. Such quietness is not accidental. It is taught. When bear cubs are noisy in the forest, their mother quiets them with a warning growl. If they continue to be loud and boisterous, she cuffs them into obedience. Bears that elude hunters by stealing away from them in unbelievable silence have their mothers to thank. While cubs, they were prepared for a hazardous existence by the wild wisdom of she-bears.

Bird mothers teach their young to fly sometimes by tantalizing the hungry fledglings with food dropped just out of their reach, so that they must fly to it or go without. This, too, is preparation for adulthood, when wild birds can no longer hope for food to be dropped into their mouths. They must go after it or starve.

In spite of all the present-day literature available on rearing children, and regardless of advances made in the field of child psychology, we parents commonly lack ordinary animal wisdom in child education. We frequently forget at childhood in the human creature, as in the animal kingdom, is a period of preparation for living. And if our children are not taught how to handle life while young and impressionable, they will likely never learn the arts and skills of living at all.

For one thing, we are arresting the development of the next generation by making life too easy for them. We want them to be strong of character, but we try to remove all obstacles from their paths and all opposition to their desires while forgetting that strength can only be developed as there are loads to lift, burdens to bear, and opposition to push against. Intelligence is often defined by psychologists as problem-solving ability, the power to meet new situations and to master them. Some parents prevent the development of intellectual capacity by going ahead of their children and solving every problem for them. If the problem is money, they dole it out rather than allow the child to earn it. If the problem is excessive timidity, they fend the child outdoors to play when company comes so that he won't have to meet strangers. My friend Charlie, when a boy in Louisville, Kentucky, was dreadfully afraid of a neighborhood bully who used to follow him home from school, threatening to beat Charlie to a bloody pulp. Charlie was almost petrified with fear everytime he saw the brawler approaching. But he managed to escape. Then one day the bully cornered Charlie and threatened to beat the daylight out of him. This time there was no escape. Charlie had to fight and he did. To his utter amazement he gave the bully the thrashing of his life. So it is with facing life's problems. It is the one way a child can learn how conquerable they are and how strong and resourceful he is.

Obedience is a vital part of living. No matter what position we old in life, someone else will have authority over us, and we shall need to obey or take the dire consequences. "A wise parent teaches a child the principle of obedience early, so that he is ready to observe rules and regulations and respect authority later on."

school teacher handed in her resignation, saying: "In our public schools today the teachers are afraid of the principals, the principals are afraid of the superintendents, the superintendents are afraid of the board, the board members are afraid of the parents, the parents are afraid of the children, and the children are afraid of nobody." Fear, in the sense of being "scared" is not what we want of our children. But if they are to grow into responsible adults, law-abiding and capable of holding jobs, they must learn to follow rules and obey authority. The best time is when they are young. Parents who are so afraid of offending their sensitive little souls and "crimping" their emerging little personalities that they cannot bear to frustrate their wills are not preparing offspring for life. They are rearing them for serious maladjustment and possible mental disorder. Later in life, when a stubborn mind meets rigid rules and an unyielding society, something gives way. It is usually the mind.

Self-control is another necessity in a complex world where our lives are so mixed-up with other lives that no one is free to do entirely "as he pleases." A child's personality is not warped when he is taught early to use restraints. He is being fitted and adjusted to a world where he has freedom that is never absolute, but always relative. It is a world where he is at liberty to swing his arms, but that freedom ends where someone else's nose begins. He will have freedom of speech, but that freedom ends where someone else's good reputation begins. He will be unable to walk with hob-nail boots over others. If he attempts it, they will destroy him. He will need to control his appetites and desires or his body and mind will be ruined. So the sooner he is taught not to eat all the pie he wants, not to poke or curse everyone who displeases him, the sooner he is taught to perform a few unpleasant tasks every day, the better he is prepared for successful living. As Richard Armour once said:

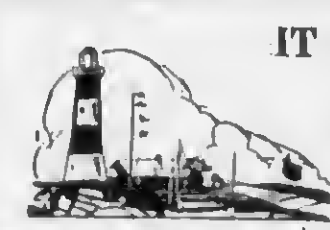

"Control of wages, prices, and of goods upon the shelves . . . We'd have no need of laws if we could just control ourselves!" Pampering parents, intent upon making childhood too easy for our offspring, only succeed in making maturity impossible for them. We do this harm in the name of love. Yet if we were our children's worst enemies, we could contrive no more diabolical vengeance than so to maim them mentally and spiritually that they would be incompetent to handle life.

While frolicking in the park one day, little Johnny made friends with a jolly old gentleman sitting on one of the benches. The older and the boy carried on a lively conversation. Then suddenly and in a teasing way the old fellow said, "Tell me, sonny, what are little boys good for, anyway?"

Johnny was strangely quiet for a moment and then thoughtfully replied, "Well, I guess we're good to make men of."

Of course that is what little boys and girls are good for. Men and women are made from them. It is the appalling responsibility and the glorious opportunity of parents to do the making.

The best that an intelligent parent can do to express love for a child is to prepare him for the successful management of life.

There's Thrills Aplenty

Ice boating has been described as "flying without benefit of wings".

Those who have enjoyed this breath-taking winter sport will verify this statement for as boat skims over the ice at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, the operator has the sensation of flying.

At one time ice boating was one of the most popular winter sports in Charlevoix. Many of the old timers, Bert Beaudoin, Will Bellinger and Roy Rangers among others, will tell you stories of the days when Charlevoix sportsmen had a fleet of the finest racers in the state.

However, for some reason, perhaps because it was a sport for more daring souls than cared to try it, it died out during recent years only an occasional ice boat could be seen flying over ice of Lake Charlevoix.

During the past four winters, the one pictured above, made and sailed by Elmer Gibson, has had the expanse of Lake Charlevoix to its full. Just watching him, however, has created a great deal of interest and there is talk of building a fleet of ice boats and sailing and racing them on Lake Charlevoix route to Boyne City or East Jordan in less time than it takes to tell about it.

Mr. Gibson's boat which he constructed himself is a Class E racing model which weighs approximately 250 pounds. Its speed is up to 90 miles an hour in a 15-mile an hour wind.

Mr. Gibson said Wednesday that Lake Charlevoix is currently free of snow and covered with slick ice making conditions ideal for ice boating.

St. Mary's Beats Frederick 72-52 In D Tournament

In the Class D tournament at Gaylord, Gaylord St. Mary's who dumped Ellsworth on the opening night defeated another strong Class D outfit, Frederick, by a score of 74 to 52 Saturday night to capture the district title and advance to the regional tournament at Traverse City.

The victory was also the Snowbird, 22nd of the season.

In the game Saturday night Gaylord St. Mary's led Frederick all the way, 19 to 14 at the quarter, 41 to 26 at the half and 51 to 41 at the third quarter. Frederick lost two regulars on fouls as Al Hummel was benched with six minutes remaining and Wayne Winton with four minutes to go. After that the parishals had everything their way as they outscored the little team 23 to 11 in the final period.

Cez Dzwik had 20 points for the victors and Bob Pratt and Larry Bayham had 13 points each for Frederick.

In the semi-finals Thursday, Gaylord St. Mary's trounced Alba 92 to 38 and Frederick defeated Boyne Falls 35 to 34 to go into the finals.

On Tuesday Gaylord St. Mary's defeated Ellsworth 90 to 25 and Frederick downed Central Lake 50 to 38 to open the tournament at Gaylord.

Girl Dies After Drinking Potion; Sister Serious

A two-year old Milwaukee girl died recently and her twin sister has been in serious condition after they drank from a can of rust remover they discovered in the basement of their home.

City Municipal Plant Plans To Hold Open House

Plans for an open house at the municipally-owned and operated Diesel plant, water pumping station and sewage disposal plant on Saturday, April 27, were revealed this week following the regular meeting of the city council at which the plans were approved.

The three utilities owned by the city will be opened for public inspection from 1 to 5 p. m. on that date. City employees will be on hand to conduct the visitors on guided tours of the utilities.

At the Diesel plant, workmen are busy over-hauling the engines, re-decorating the plant and installing the Fairbanks-Morse 1136 kw opposed piston engine in preparation for the open house. At the water pumping station on Lake Michigan, the new water pump will be displayed.

Local appliance dealers have been invited to display household equipment at the diesel plant for the occasion.

Special door prizes will be offered and several other attractions planned for the visitors.

Mayor James Hiller, in announcing the special open house has extended an invitation to all local residents to visit the homes of their utilities on April 27.

City Council Drops Proposal For Centennial

Plans for the proposed centennial celebration for Charlevoix have been abandoned by the Charlevoix city council.

The action to drop the plans was taken at the regular meeting of the city council Monday after several special meetings and a gathering of the Board of Commerce failed to attract persons and local groups interested in supporting such a celebration.

Without active participation and the cooperation of the entire community, such a project cannot be successful, Mayor James Hiller said Monday following the council's action to abandon the plans.

Water Tower To Get New Paint Job - Repairs

Charlevoix's elevated water tower will be painted and repaired this spring as the results of a decision made Monday at the regular meeting of the city council.

At that time the council voted to advertise for bids for the repainting and essential repair of the water tower which was last painted in 1952. Bids will be accepted until 4 p. m. April 4.

The council also authorized a $100.00 expenditure to underwrite the cost of the door prizes and advertising for the open house at the utility plants scheduled for April 27. Visitors are invited to inspect the Diesel plant on Ferry ave., the water pumping station at Lake Michigan and the sewage disposal plant at the municipal dock at that time.

In a special resolution adopted by the council, it was voted to make a contribution of $50.00 to Charlevoix's winter queen, Deanna Leg, to help defray the expenses incurred in carrying out her duties as a representative of the city. In making this gesture, the city council recognized the honor she has brought to the city as its queen.

Election inspectors named for the forthcoming April 1 general election include Marjorie Webster, Mrs. Grace Genett, Mrs. Anna Scott, Mrs. Bernice Pearl, Mrs. June Heise, Mrs. Edna Mae Miller, Mrs. Audrey Herrington and Mrs. Dorothy Willis, all qualified electors.

Plans for the proposed centennial celebration were abandoned due to lack of participating interest.

Bills amounting to $11,016.29 were approved and ordered paid.

Wallace Taber To Narrate Story Of African Pictures

Ever have the desire to go on safari?

For one evening only, next Wednesday, March 27, all Charlevoixans will have that opportunity, vicariously of course when that globe-trotting newspaperman with the educated camera, Wallace Taber, presents a pair of his latest African epics at the Charlevoix high school auditorium.

Bringing with him a segment of little-known Africa, the far-traveled Coloradan will publicly screen and personally narrate a program of hunting and fishing, classics which critics have called "unbeatable whole-family entertainment".

Joseph R. Williams, president of the sponsoring organization, the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club, said one of Taber's films, Samaki, was documented in the headwaters of the mighty Nile where hippo and crocodile all but outnumber the fish and where a rifle was of more use than a net.

With an indisputable reckless abandon, Taber puts his audience so close to a herd of elephant that unconscious gasps from the audience are commonplace. And only an untimely wisecrack saves the audience from goose-flesh when an enraged hippo routs the daring photographer at five-foot distance.

The Charlevoix Rod and Gun club takes great pleasure in offering this full evening's entertainment of a most unusual nature to the public. Mr. Williams said in announcing the attraction, Advance tickets are on sale at Williams News stand and from members of the club.

Plans Developing To Remodel Local Fishery Station

The Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service Fisheries Station located on Palmer st. will be the site of an extensive remodeling and improvement program which is scheduled to get underway in the near future, George W. Roff, superintendent of the station, said this week.

Mr. Roff went on to say that he expects the service to advertise for bids on the work shortly. Work on the project is expected to begin later this spring and completed by early summer.

The project will include the removal of existing troughs and tanks which have been in use since 1917, the construction of new concrete raceways and a new concrete floor and the transfer of pumps, Mr. Roff said.

The 102 troughs and 12 tanks, part of which are pictured above, will be replaced by four eight-foot raceways from 80 to 85 feet in length and a series of smaller three-foot runways all of which can be partitioned to meet existing needs. When the fish are first hatched they will be kept in shallow aluminum raceways set into the deeper concrete raceways. As the fish develop to fingerling size, they will be placed in the deeper, permanent concrete raceways.

In explaining the need for the improvements, Mr. Roff said that the new raceways would make it possible to raise more fish.

Increases Capacity
The project will make it possible to raise more fish. The new raceways would make it possible to raise more fish.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Today... or tomorrow... depending on the calendar you're looking at, SPRING will arrive... that along awaited season when snow and ice will leave northern Michigan and when the birds will return, the trees and bushes will don new leaves and flowers will bloom... But spring can bring anything when it comes to weather... and we've already had it... Last Thursday the temperatures hit the 60s, the snow disappeared and about 2 p. m. everyone got the idea that spring was really here... The first robins had put in their appearance in our block and were singing the good news from the tree tops... but come 11 p. m. and the old lightning flashed, the thunder rumbled and the rains came... at midnight the winds hit from a dozen directions at once... or so it seemed... And came morning we had snow and the temperature was down in the 20s.

But just be patient... one of these days it may get warm and stay that way... and then you'll forget all about the long cold days of winter and take a new lease on life... just mark our words!

March in northern Michigan means one other thing... basketball tournaments... Last Thursday Charlevoix bowed out... to Grayling who went on to take the title... their very first regional trophy... And now they go on to the state... It will be with mixed emotions that Charlevoix-ans will watch Grayling... We figure that as long as we've been beaten we'd like it to be by a new state champ... But come what may... it's going to be interesting.

And how about that St. Mary's team... that's going to be another interesting series... between the Snowbirds and the defending champs, Chassell... Just when we're so tired of basketball we don't want to see another game, comes the quarter-finals and we're ready to go.

And while we're still on the subject of basketball, we'd like to say one last word to our Raydors... Thanks for a wonderful season of thrills... perhaps there weren't as many wins as you would have liked but life's that way... And what better time to learn that now... You gave us the one thing we asked for the district title and we're satisfied.

We know that you wanted more and we admire you for giving your best in trying to achieve it... In our book you get "A" for effort because you tried... Because of that we say you've had a successful season... And thanks again for some thrilling games... You're a sweetheart of a team and we want you to know it.

Remember the little squib we had last week from the 1955 copy of the Charlevoix Sentinel... We mentioned Main st. and wondered where it was... And you'll never guess... Ed Allen called us with the information... It's what we know as Park Ave... Now we have another question... When was the name changed from Main to Park?

In the same issue we mentioned excursions on the Pere Marquette... Mrs. Grace Genett told us about that... Seems that every fall the railroad ran an excursion to Chicago and return for $5.00... It was for 10 days... It was around the first of October every year and many people planned their vacations to take advantage of the excursion... There was one hitch in it tho'... You had to go as far south as Holland... If you didn't your ticket wasn't acceptable... Gee, that was quite a deal... Reminds us of the Thursday excursions the steamer, Manitou, used to make to Mackinac Island. Remember?

I don't know what the heading of this story should be... we'll let you figure that out for yourself... As you know local sportsmen are doing their best to start rumpke pheasants in this area and have planted quite a few... The farmers in the area are doing their bit by leaving food in the fields for them... One farmer we know let corn standing in his field... with the cars still on it... so the birds could eat this winter if the snow got real deep... And what happened? He saw a fellow in the same area taking the cars of corn off the stalks in the field and tote it home for his chickens Hmnnnnnn.

From Koy West, Fla., this week one of those mammoth postcards from Mrs. Lillian Moore who is vacationing in Florida... Key West, it seems, was one of the many spots in the state she's hit since arriving there early in December.

When Mrs. Norm Empey returned from a recent visit in Fargo, N. D. with her parents, the Glen Ikens, she brought some newspapers with her that we happened to see... As we read the sports pages we couldn't help but think what Glenn Ikens would have meant to the Raydors this year... He played on a Class B squad that had a good season and did alright in the tournaments... But there's no point in crying about what might have been... But you must admit we could have used a 6 ft 4 in. center!

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

A Member of the Christian Science Society, Charlevoix
By Walker A. Miles

Christ Jesus has given us many assurances, among which are, John 6:47 "Verily, verily I say unto you, he that believeth in me hath everlasting life." And also John 17:3 "And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." And from Mark, "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, freely ye have received, freely give." King James version. Jesus the Christ, built his Spiritual church on the foundations of Love, Truth and Life, as he was given commandment of God. He recognized no human authority as able to separate him from God, and by doing the works of God he was hated by the Priests, Scribes and Pharisees (the highly educated material men of the day) who could not understand the simple parables and the Truth which he taught.

In 1900 my material life was given up by the doctors, who set a limit for my remaining stay on this earth. My Mother turned to Christian Science (The Science of Christianity) as a last resort. A loving Christian Science Practitioner pointed out that MAN, as the child of God, can never be separated from God, because he is the reflection of God, Good. The healing took place within a few weeks and has been permanent. The Truth about God and the real man, heals the sick. This understanding also banishes sin and all error.

February 7th, 1955, our church home burned. The members called a meeting and agreed 100% to build a new structure. Knowing absolutely that all things were and are created by God and that He supplies all things and ideas. The church home has been built. Our God is Love. In Science and Health we read, page 497, line 3, "As adherents of Truth, we take the INSPIRED WORD of the Bible as our sufficient Guide to Eternal Life." Jesus the Christ is the Way. How can I be grateful enough for Christ and my Church?

Noted Baritone To Give Concert At Petoskey Tuesday

Igor Gorin, the baritone who is better known throughout North America than almost any other singer of the present day in the fields of concert, opera, television and radio will appear at the Petoskey high school auditorium Tuesday under the auspices of the Northern Michigan Community Concert association.

Mr. Gorin was originally scheduled to appear in the Petoskey concert April 3 but due to his booking with the NBC Opera Company on their television broadcast for April 21, it was necessary to change the date.

He will appear in concert at Petoskey at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday. The concert will be the last of four presented by the association this season.

Gorin's repertoire ranges from Handel, Hadyn and Mozart through the great masterworks of the classical and romantic eras to such contemporaries as Malotte, Rachmaninoff, Villa-Lobos, Dougherty and Parry. Included, of course, are his modern American ballads.

He is also a song writer and a member of ASCAP. His published compositions run the gamut from spirituals to cowboy ballads and modern American folk music.

• Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCall accompanied their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Harvey, to Detroit for the weekend. While there they attended the Travel Show.

Rayders Lose First Round In Regionals

The Charlevoix Rayders bowed out of the Class C regional tournament Thursday night after being downed by the Grayling Vikings 64 to 45.

As they have throughout the season, the Vikings won the game on the free throw line. Charlevoix had only one less field goal than Grayling who had 21 but the Vikings hit on 22 of 33 free throws when Charlevoix had 17 personal fouls called on them. Grayling had only nine personal fouls. The Rayders scored five shots on 13 tries.

Charlevoix romped into a 10 to six first quarter lead and still led 21 to 11 at half time but with Glenn Beers, Bob Mol, and Kenny Balch showed up with their personal fouls apiece, the Rayders' play pattern was broken and the Vikings started to close the gap. In the third quarter they first the game with two minutes remaining and then went ahead 40 to 35 at the game went into the final period.

God Only Knows!

Our world is chock full of mystery. Areas of certainty are little dots of islands in a great sea of the unknown, and the more we attempt to find the ultimate understanding of what this universe means, the more we discover how little we know. An outstanding biologist recently announced to a group of his fellow scientists that modern biologists do not understand one single basic biological reaction. And a physicist not long ago laughingly said that since there are two theories of light, the laboratories are using one theory on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays and the other on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The scientists are among the most uncertain of all men of our time. (The fools are sure of everything.)

Our progress through life is somewhat like a walk along a woodland trail. We can never know exactly what is around us or ahead of us. A snowshoe rabbit may bounce from behind a spruce clump. A whitetail deer may bound from his bed in a nearby cedar thicket, half frightening us out of our wits. A ruffed grouse may explode with thundering wings from beneath a wild apple tree. Or a strange and unidentified sparrow-size bird may make its first appearance on our acres and then vanish, never to be seen again in our area. The world around us is filled with much of which we are as yet unaware. Somewhere down the path of the future the as-yet-hidden may appear. But in the meantime we are surrounded with mystery.

An expression that commonly is spoken lightly has profound significance when more seriously used. When a problem transcends understanding a person is apt to say, "God only knows the answer to that." I know of few utterances that have more significance to the life of faith than that one, although it is often employed as half-oath and half-jest. God only knows. Life has its mysteries, and the humble person finds the words "I do not know" coming easily to his mind and lips. But "I do not know" is not a religious affirmation unless coupled with its counterpart, "But it is known," or better yet, "God Knows." Especially is this so concerning our own inner nature.

God only knows what is within us. We do not know ourselves thoroughly. Even the wisest person's inner nature is partially veiled from his own sight. The German philosopher, Arthur Schopenhauer, was walking one day along a promenade at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, accompanied by his little poodle dog. An English tourist eyed him curiously, wondering who the absent-minded, eccentric old gentleman might be. At last, unable to hold off any longer, the traveler approached the old philosopher and demanded, "Tell me, who in heaven's name are you?" Schopenhauer's half-humorous, half-pathetic answer was, "Alas I wish I knew." The Englishman thought the elderly gentleman must be insane. But Schopenhauer was merely being honest.

None of us knows just who and what he is. We are all like icebergs floating on the North Atlantic, one tenth above the surface and visible, but nine tenths submerged in the depths, the mass and shape being hidden from our knowledge. Try to understand yourself as you will and as you should so that you at least survey the one tenth of your nature that is explorable. Still there will remain vast areas of your being that God only knows.

This is particularly true of our possibilities. God only knows what they are. We know something about our achievements when possibilities have come to fulfillment, but those hidden forces within us that he undeveloped. God only knows what they are. Often those potentials for good or evil come to the surface in much the same way that some islands are created in the sea. Deep beneath the tossing waters unseen forces are at work, restless, shifting about. Then without warning a great rumbling runs through the earth beneath the sea. The very core of the world shakes and trembles. The earth opens and lava in molten or solid form erupts, piling up from the sea floor until such islands as those found in Hawaii, the West Indies, and the Azores are formed.

In a similar manner the power of God moves through the hidden forces and deeply buried possibilities of people everywhere. Then, like an island uplifted above the sea, an unimaginable goodness or an unsuspected greatness breaks into view. We see but the final result, the splendid character or the towering Christ-like deed. But the possibilities that eventuated in these results God only knows.

Any practical observer who saw the beginnings of Christianity and in whose hands Christ placed the future of the Church would have naturally exclaimed, "God only knows what the Church will come to now, under this leadership!" One leader was Simon Peter, whose record was one of vacillation and unavailability. Others were James and John, who were known as "Sons of Thunder," probably because of their headlong impetuosity and unpredictable impulses. And all the rest were but common appearing men, most unlikely to start a spiritual revolution in the world that would be unequalled in all history. But appearances were deceiving. Beneath the surface of those New Testament characters there stirred an unseen Power that in time lifted islands of greatness elevated high above their generation.

In a German village the town's worst drunkard courted and won the heart of a tubercular girl. You would not expect much of such a union? I suppose that many a town gossip giggled and hooted, "God only knows what will come of that marriage!" What did come of it? Ludwig Von Beethoven was the issue of that marriage of the town bum to the sickly girl. And the world of music has been unalterably better because Beethoven's greatness erupted from that sea of hopelessness.

Some of us are suffering from ravaging feelings of futility. We have tried to live good lives and make some difference in our world. But we can see no real results. We wonder if our efforts and good deeds were not wasted. Would our children not have been just as good if born into another family? Would our community not be just about the same if we had never lived there? What's the use of trying when it all seems so futile? God only knows!

One vital answer to our feelings of futility is that our influence is accomplishing the most good when it is not visible, when it is hidden from our sight. The self-conscious "do-gooder" who is constantly parading his superior wisdom and his superlative morals and calling attention to his matchless dedication and his peerless deeds seldom achieves the good results he expects and for which he labors. He repels people rather than helps them. But the world's rich deposits of good are laid down by those who were simply going about seizing immediate and small opportunities to do good, not realizing the greatness of their performance. In fact, most of the world's great people felt they were failures.

Our best influences are poured upon our time much as water is given to a dry and wilting plant. While the water is visible it is doing the plant little good. But after the water disappears from sight and oozes down around the hidden root hairs, the plant is refreshed and revived. So with the good you have done and will do. You cannot see it at work. God only knows where your efforts have gone and what they are doing. But someday, somewhere, somehow, someone will be better because you have lived.

Oat Varieties Sited To Area Listed By Agent

Ed Rebnan, Charlevoix county Agricultural agent, explains to growers which oat varieties are best suited for area growing conditions.

In making his recommendations to Charlevoix county growers he considers the best yielding variety, with the stiffest straw, with greatest disease resistance, best test weight of grain, maturity, and grain color.

As he points out, the recommended varieties have best possible combination of these plant characteristics.

For Charlevoix county these oat varieties will give the best growing results: Garry, Jackson, Craig and Eaton.

Garry is a relatively new variety with stiff straw to resist lodging. It is a late variety which means growers will need to plant it early, as soon as it is possible to get on the land. It has white grain, has excellent resistance to common leaf and stem rusts.

Being a late variety, it may be susceptible to damage from high summer temperatures, therefore early planting is a must.

Jackson is a yellow grain oat with a mid-season maturity and has fair resistance to rusts. This variety is highly recommended for central Michigan counties where it has given excellent yields of heavy test weight grain.

Clinton and Clinton are two very similar varieties. They produce a yellow grain on a stiff stem, with a mid-season maturity. These varieties are best suited to soils that are high in fertility.

Both are most highly recommended for southern Michigan but will perform well in other areas.

Clinton is resistant to a common form of crown rust, while Clinton is susceptible to this rust.

Craig is another white grain oat which gives excellent grain yields, but is more susceptible to lodging than other recommended varieties. For this reason it seems to be best suited to soils where lodging is not a serious problem. Its test-weight is only fair.

Eaton, a mid-season white grain oat, is adapted to wide range of soils and climatic conditions. Its

Veteran's Widow's Pension Explained By Service Officer

There has been a misunderstanding among widows of war veterans regarding an increase in the size of their pension checks, according to Kenneth B. Forbes, American Legion service officer.

Mr. Forbes explains that the increase is only for those widows whose husbands were receiving a pension for a service-connected disability at the time of his death.

Funeral Services Planned Today For William G. Case

Funeral services for William G. Case, 72, who was found dead at his home near East Jordan Sunday morning have been tentatively scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday, at the Pontius Chapel. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Case was found dead in the yard of his rural home on the East Jordan-Ellsworth road Sunday morning by a friend, George Wintone. He had a gash on his head and was covered with blood from the wound. The Charlevoix county sheriff's department was called to investigate.

On Sunday night Wallace Smith, 37, of Kewadin, was picked up by state police from the Gaylord post and held for questioning after three people in East Jordan reported that he had told them he had killed an old man. His clothing had blood stains on them and he told Sheriff Glenn E. Rose that he had gotten them trying to help Mr. Case into his home.

He was given a lie detector test at Traverse City Monday and released Tuesday when the test failed to show anything positive. He was then arrested by Antrim county authorities and taken to Bellaire where he is being held on a drunk and disorderly charge.

possible to increase the poundage of the fish reared for planting. At the present time the fish are planted in the Great Lakes, mainly, Lake Michigan and Superior, before fall of the same year because they can be kept in the shallow troughs until they reach only a certain size. With the new raceways which are deeper, he said that they could be kept until they are approximately 15 months old, thus giving them a better chance of survival when they are planted. The number reared at the local station will remain about one million lake trout.

Fish for this year's operation are being cared for at state hatchery until the building program at the local federal station is completed.

When the present troughs and tanks are removed, the concrete floor will be torn out and the new work started from the ground up. The pumps which supply fresh water at the rate of 700 gallons per minute will be moved nearer the filter wells, thus improving the efficiency of the operation by about 20 percent, Mr. Roff added.

The appropriation for the project was made last year, Mr. Roff said and added that it was a part of a 10-year improvement program initiated when he came here in 1947.

Assisting with the operation of the station is Raymond J. Nowland, who is foreman. Other employees are engaged when the station is in full operation.

When Mr. Roff speaks of the fisheries station and the aims of the Fish and Wildlife Service, he knows whereof he speaks for on November he will complete 30 years in the service. A native of Manchester, Iowa, he joined the Fisheries Wildlife Service in northern California in November, 1927. Since then he has been stationed at Federal fisheries in Iowa, Georgia, and Michigan. He has been stationed here for the past 10 years with the exception of one year when he attended the inservice training school at Courtland, N. Y., operated by the state of New York and Cornell University.

The local station on the shore of Lake Michigan at the south pier is one of three federal stations in Michigan.

All persons who report to the unit with hearing loss, or who are found to have evidence of hearing loss as a result of the two-minute tests, will be referred to the Charlevoix county nurse for follow-up service. Those persons who know they have a hearing loss need not take the first tests, but can contact the Charlevoix county nurse's office in the city hall for an appointment for the more comprehensive tests which will be given at a later date.

These tests are recommended for everyone, even those who think their hearing is excellent. Hearing loss may be unnoticed in its early stages and if preventive measures are to be taken before it reaches a handicapping degree, early detection is necessary.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

With crossed fingers we mention the odds and ends which hit the newsstand over the weekend. . . . There may be ice in Lake Michigan as far as you can see and a cold wind out of the north but as this is being written, no snow. . . . Let's hope it stays that way. . . . We'd hate to see all those robbers caught in the snow and to be honest, we'd hate to see us caught in it too. . . . So, who knows maybe spring is here.

Talk of the Beaver Island boat starting on its run and the Iron-ton ferry resuming its schedule makes one think spring can't be too far away.

Other sure signs that there's a change in the seasons are the tournaments are about over and that a few of our brave thinkers are getting in shape at the track.

We understand that the book-keeper at Hess Furniture got quite a jolt the other day. . . . Two youngsters, about kindergarten age, marched up to her desk and when she looked over the edge and asked what they wanted they quickly replied. . . . "We're looking for a job". . . . They were told to come back later. . . . about 15 years later.

A number of communities along Lake Michigan have become known as the homes of artists. . . . the kind with the brush and easel. . . . But Charlevoix's rapidly becoming known as the home of writers. . . . Bill Ratigan was among the first of the recent crop to become known for his "Soo Canal" and "The Adventures of Captain McCargo" and then, of course, we all know that Mrs. R. almost weekly sends off short stories and articles to countless editors. . . . Then came Rev. Harold E. Kohn who has sandwiched his "Feeling Low?" and now "Through the Valley" between his duties as pastor of the Congregational church. . . . And now Mrs. Art Weststaff is joining the merry circle. . . . with a juvenile book scheduled for publication in June. . . . It's "Black Panther of the Great Lakes" and is a most entertaining story for youngsters, we're told. . . . So, see what we mean when we say that it's becoming the home of authors?

Forest Brown, out Hayes Township way, came up with a quite an idea the other day that we'd like to pass along to you. . . . According to him, Vermontville in southern Michigan is supposed to be the maple syrup capital of the state. . . . But, he adds, Charlevoix county might well become that for there are more maple trees in this county than just about any other in the state. . . . He suggests that some local organization, Kiwanis, Boy Scouts or a similar group, just tap the maples on Dixon ave. and they'll have themselves quite a fund-raising project. . . . and if all the trees in the county would be tapped we'd have ourselves a sizable industry. . . . There it is. . . . so how's about going to work on it?

Was Park ave. really Main st. at one time. . . . or was Main st. State st? . . . Dr. Walter Hoffman would like to know. . . . so if you have the answer give him a buzz.

It's all over with for another year. . . . basketball, that is. . . . The tournaments have been played and four champions named. . . . But to tide us over until another season opens we have memories of the past. . . . And those who saw the Crystal Falls-Grayling game at Traverse last week will have something to talk about for a long while for the Vikings won it in a sudden death overtime. . . . And if ball players haven't yet learned the importance of foul shots, they'd better look over the box scores of tournament games if they need further proof of their importance. . . . Everyone was so happy when Grayling won. . . . it's the fastest a Grayling team has ever gone in a tournament. . . . and it was little Dave Lowe who came through, as he always had, to put in the winning basket in the second overtime. . . . And in the game with Lakeview, Grayling lost in an overtime. . . . Have you ever noticed that it's the teams that defeat Northern Michigan Class C teams who go on to take the title year after year. . . . But one of these days, who knows, maybe we'll make it to the select quartet. . . . We're told that there's plenty of talent coming up. . . . now that class tournaments are now on and players are being given an opportunity to show their stuff.

One of the most amazing things about Charlevoix is its summer residents. . . . If we were to investigate the backgrounds of most of our regular summertime guests, we'd find, no doubt, that they were people who are quite famous in their respective circles. . . . As it is, they are just grand people whom we know and like for themselves. . . . and our feeling, are sincere for they are not 'shaded' by any fame these same people may have elsewhere. . . . For instance, how many of you know that the John D. Voelker who spends a part of his summers at the Sequantua club is a member of Michigan's Supreme Court and an author in his own right. . . . Perhaps you've read "Small Town D. A." "Troubleshooter" and "Daddy and the Boys", the best known books by this unusual person. (written under his pen name Robert Traver, we might add) And in addition to his duties as a justice, he's having another novel published this summer. . . . We hope, as a part-time resident of northern Michigan (his home was originally in the upper peninsula), he'll have our interests at heart, should the occasion ever arise. . . . Oh yes, he's the same John D. Voelker whose name will appear on the ballot you'll receive when you visit the polls next Monday.

And that election next Monday is an important one. . . . So make sure you visit the polls and cast your vote for all the important offices on the ballot. . . . Remember, next Monday may be April Fool's day but it's also election day and you'll be the fool without the April if you don't hot-foot it

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

by Hubert E. Paddock
Member of the First Congregational Church

My experience of Christ and the Church is like a chain reaction—a new understanding here, a bit more of light there, a revealing experience, so that there has been brought to me a continuously growing awareness of spiritual truths and realities.

They mean to me an ever-growing understanding of God as revealed in the Bible, and especially by Jesus Christ, until I am aware of a growing consciousness of God the Father and His love for all of mankind, including myself. They have been an unfailing guide into companionship with God. With this there comes an increasing trust and faith in God, His goodness and concern, His power, almightiness and all-inclusive love. From this comes a greater desire to be faithful to Him, and to live my life in complete obedience to His purpose for me. So I must ever be seeking His guidance in prayer in this new awareness of God's love and concern.

Christ and the Church mean to me a great adventure in fellowship—not only with present-day Christians, but with the great and courage-inspiring saints of the past, all the way from Abraham and the prophets of the Old Testament down to our present day: schweitzers and Kaguas, that the good-willed friendliness and helpfulness of Christians wherever met is a happy experience, especially when a spiritual life to dispel loneliness or downheartedness is much needed. Christ and the Church spell a broadening and deepening of the experience of loving one's neighbor.

Along with others is the ever-present opportunity in and through the Church for service to the needy throughout the world. There is, too, the opportunity for cooperative work in bringing Christian nature to all who seek along with me, especially to our youth to whom the Good News must be brought. Then there are the needs, always apparent, for social action, and service to one's community and country through concern for good government and for all our public institutions which reach so deeply into the lives of all. So Christ and the Church become a promising cure for the sin of selfishness and self-centeredness.

Then there comes a great challenge. There is the challenge to the Way of Life as disclosed by the life and teachings of Jesus. And there comes a continuous growth in faith until my faith tends to become a complete faith in the faith of Jesus. This includes a faith in prayer as a conscious fellowship with God, and a conscious willingness to abide by God's will according to his intentions for my life. So there comes a budding and a flowering of a heart-filling love for God, the Father, and Jesus Christ, our Lord and Friend.

Lastly, Christ and the Church mean to me a new perspective, such that a new and different life in a new world results. More and more there develops a spirit of thankfulness for the never-ending gifts of God, and for the gift of life itself. This life has been given through Christ and the Church a new focus and new outlook. There is now an idea and an ideal that give direction to one's way. There is a conviction of night and a growing power for the meeting of life through the help of an unflinching guide. There comes a purity of purpose and a gradual purity of heart so that one, possibly still dimly catches an ever more clear sight of God, our strength and redeemer, and of Jesus Christ, the one and only Savior of this world.

Certainly there is no end to this chain reaction in one's life started by Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master.

FIRST EDITION ANNOUNCEMENT

"THROUGH THE VALLEY"

By Harold E. Kohn

Nature's Clues To Victorious Living
Pastor of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix

The forty fascinating chapters first published in The Charlevoix Courier as "Thoughts Afield", each with a beautiful brush-and-ink illustration by the author.

Now an attractively bound book. — Publication Date: March 23, 1957
NATURE'S CLUES TO HANDLING LIFE'S PERPLEXITIES—HOW TO FACE PROBLEMS—TELL RIGHT FROM WRONG—OVERCOME ANXIETY—FIND CERTAINTY, PEACE AND CONTENTMENT.

A book you will want to turn to in moments of stress—
A book you'll want to give to others.

IF YOU LIKED 'FEELING LOW?', PUBLISHED IN 1955, YOU'LL WANT THIS COMPANION VOLUME. LIKE 'FEELING LOW?', IT'S REFLECTIVE BUT ZESTFUL... PROFOUND BUT PRACTICAL... THOUGHT-PROVOKING BUT GENTLY REASSURING. IT POINTS THE WAY OUT OF THE VALLEY OF SHADOW INTO GOD'S CLEAN, WARM, LIFE-GIVING SUNSHINE.

Mr. Kohn's writings have been accorded signal honors. 'FEELING LOW?' was selected by the CIHU Club of Inspirational Books as its book-of-the-month for December, 1955. And an article from 'THOUGHTS AFIELD'—the same series from which the chapters of 'THROUGH THE VALLEY' are taken—was reprinted in READER'S DIGEST for December 1956 under the title "The Best Things Cannot Be Hurried."

The sections of 'THROUGH THE VALLEY' follow the phrasing of the familiar and cherished Twenty-third Psalm. The forty intriguing chapter titles include:

A Shepherd's Responsibilities... Hurts That Help... Great Lakes and Little Puddles... On Being a Good Egg... Screens for Open Minds... How Could God Care for Me?... Keep Moving... Why Must We Die?... The Quiet Things... Turning Trouble into Triumph... The Older You Grow... You Are Being Followed... Made of Left-Overs... Handling Anxiety.

GIVE 'THROUGH THE VALLEY'—AN ENDURING BOUQUET OF CHEERFUL THOUGHTS—TO THE ILL THE DISHEARTENED
THE PERPLEXED THE BEREAVED

Call Hearing On Request By Railroad

A public hearing on the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company's request for authority to discontinue the operation of passenger trains between Grand Rapids and Petoskey will be held at the Manistee county courthouse in Manistee April 17.

The hearing, called by the Michigan Public Service Commission will begin at 9:30 a. m. on that date and will be continued April 18.

All interested persons and communities are asked to attend and present evidence why the service should not be discontinued. Mayor James Miller said that a delegation representing Charlevoix would attend the hearing.

In its petition to the Michigan Public Service Commission filed Dec. 14, the railroad company contended that the trains have been operated for a number of years at a loss. The petition further related that the company felt train service to the area served by the trains was no longer necessary and that mail and express to the area could be adequately handled by other means. The discontinuance of the Resort Special which makes one round trip weekly during the summer months was not requested at this time.

Others in the cast are Lois Bergmann and Sue McBride, who play the parts of Betty's friends Janie and Ramona; Mary Ann Berg, Kathy's friend; Patty; Bob Mol, the repairman; Larry Ingalls, Betty's current boy-friend; Ralph; David Miles, Mr. Brinkworth, Ralph's father; Raymond Schultz, officer Johnson; Ted Mason, Bud's friend; Kay Lewis, Perkins, a police woman; Nancy Juilleci, Frances E. Martin and Madelyn Rabach, Garden club members.

Sandra Cunningham is assisting Mrs. Courtade as student director and Esther Boss is the prompter.

Two special proposals will be presented to the voters of Charlevoix and St. James townships in the general election Monday.

In addition to voting for township and state candidates, the voters of Charlevoix township will be asked to give their permission to create a special assessment district to defray the cost of contracting for fire protection with the city of Charlevoix.

The annual by-county teachers institute for teachers in Charlevoix and Emmet county schools will be held at the new elementary school in East Jordan Friday, April 5. Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, has announced.

Plans for the annual one-day institute are being made by Mr. Robinson and Bruce T. Blanchard, Emmet county superintendent of schools.

The institute will feature a program and for the first time will incorporate a cook's workshop for cafeteria personnel. Norman Teller, chief of the school lunch division of the Department of Public Instruction, will be in charge of this section of the meeting. Miss Esther Brown, nutrition consultant of the Michigan Department of Health, will assist with the workshop.

Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan college in Marquette, will be the principal speaker at the institute. The Rev. Donn Doten, pastor of the Central Methodist church in Traverse City, will deliver a patriotic and inspirational talk to the assembled teachers.

The workshop division will feature 10 sectional meetings with one of the major schools in the chairman and recorder for one of the 10 groups. Resource personnel from Central Michigan college, Michigan State University and the Michigan Education Association will be present to assist in the discussion periods.

Beware of Being Secure!

With all the hue and cry that we need more security, I wonder how much thought is given to the fact that too much security is fatal to the human spirit.

On northern highways we see the carcasses of countless porcupines and skunks. Their dead bodies, destroyed by automobiles, are far out of proportion to the numbers of their living kin. (Dead rabbits are strung along the roadways, too, but rabbits are among our most abundant forms of wildlife, and only a very small proportion of their numbers are killed by cars.) The chief reason for the high incidence of automobile fatalities among porcupines and skunks is that these creatures have a sense of security. The porcupine can ward off the attack of nearly all its enemies by simply bristling up its pin-cushion coat of needles. From the top of its bluntnosed head to the very end of its heavy tail the porcupine is armed with white or ivory black-tipped quills, and every one of these is needle-sharp and wickedly barbed. Animals of field and forest have learned that to attack the porcupine means getting a face-full of pain from the barbed darts a porcupine releases with a mighty swat of its lightning-quick tail. So its would-be enemies leave the animated pin-cushion strictly alone. This being so, the porcupine feels he can go anywhere anytime and that other creatures will have to give him plenty of room.

While driving down our breathless trail at Hidden Brook at night we have had to stop the car and wait for a fat and lazy skunk to come out of the bushes and waddle slowly from our path. He was in no hurry. Why should he stop his pace? He was secure behind his armor of quills. What ever that big, crowling, bright-eyed creature was that approached him, like all his other enemies it would give way finally and avoid him. The porcupine was right. The car halted.

But this sense of security is often fatal on the highways. Speeding drivers see the porcupine too late. Automobiles run him down.

The striped skunk's barrage of choking chemicals has made him too secure. He is confident of the superiority of his weapon, sure of his remarkable aim. His animal neighbors are afraid of the skunk's blinding, stinging, strangling spray. So a skunk will nonchalantly watch the approach of larger and stronger creatures, stoop out his displeasure with his tiny fore feet, and if necessary fire his potent ammunition at the whites of their eyes, sure all along that in every fracas he will be the winner. But when this strategy is employed on the highways against onrushing automobiles the tactic is futile and fatal. The skunk is the loser. A skunk's sense of security is often the death of him.

Security in the form of a guaranteed food supply makes for lower intelligence. This is why domesticated animals are apt to be less intelligent than their wild relatives. A dog is seldom as shrewd and clever as a wolf in the wild. He does not need to be since his master guarantees him food and shelter. A wolf must be constantly alert and must incessantly employ his wits to stay alive.

A domesticated pig gives the appearance of lazy stupidity. His wild counterpart is the essence of cunning. Wild boars have been known to elude the most cleverly laid traps and the canniest hunters who were constantly on their trails for days and weeks.

Ocean fishes have only a primitive and rudimentary sort of mind because the sea provides such an abundance of food and so many places of escape from enemies that only a minimum kind of ingenuity is required for survival.

A plant can afford to live a simple and unintelligent life because its food is handy, at its very roots and in the atmosphere around it. Since the chief function of the brain, from the lowest creatures to the highest is for food-seeking and the plant does not need to search out its food, a plant needs no brain.

Dr. W. D. Gatch, Dean of the Indiana University Medical school, once said that a little insecurity and long life go hand in hand. We need struggle. "At fifty a man is a bundle of habits," Dr. Gatch asserted. "Take him away from his work and put him to idleness and he's headed for an early grave."

We read of our maximum security prisons for vicious criminals. Criminologists mean by "maximum security" prisons so inescapable that society is protected from those who might attempt to escape. But all prisons in our country offer "maximum security" to the prisoners themselves. There food is provided for them. So is their shelter. Their clothes are given to them. They are kept safe from their enemies in the outside world. A life-terminer in a penitentiary has a maximum of security.

So does an inmate of a mental hospital. Josh Lee, formerly a senator from Oklahoma, used to tell a story of an incident that occurred in his home town during the Great Depression of the 1930s. Wheat was then selling at only thirty cents a bushel, cotton at four and one-half cents a pound and corn at a mere ten cents a bushel. If a buyer could be found, farmers sold hogs at four cents a pound.

In Josh Lee's home town the state sanitarium for the insane was located. It was an efficiently run institution, the grass being mowed frequently, the high woven-wire fence was always in good repair. The shrubs and trees were pruned and trimmed. Baseball diamonds and croquet courts were provided for inmates' recreation. Food was plentiful and flavorful.

One day a farmer was driving his old Model T Ford home from town when, just outside the fence around the mental hospital grounds, his old car coughed, wheezed asthmatically, coughed again, shook convulsively and came to a shuddering halt. The farmer climbed out of the car, lifted the hood and began working on the motor. Just then one of the hospital inmates strolled up to the high fence, pecked through the woven-wire openings in complete silence for a time and then ventured a solemn question. "Do you live here at this insane asylum?" he asked.

"No," replied the farmer. "I live down this road a couple of miles."

"What do you do?" asked the inmate.

"I'm just a farmer."

"Was you ever crazy?"

"Nope! Never was crazy."

The inmate was silent for a moment and then declared with deep conviction, "It sure beats farming!"

Insanity does beat farming, or keeping shop, or practicing a profession or exercising a trade if all one is looking for is absolute security. Life imprisonment does, too. But if a person wants to grow a character he needs exposure to the world, to life's trials and to some uncertainties. He must tussle with temptations and testings that build spiritual muscle and sinew and that develop the latent powers the Creator has stored within us.

One of the most hopeful aspects of human history is the plain fact that during the CRITICAL periods of man's sojourn on earth man has made the longest strides forward. Prosperity has meant stagnation. Crucial and trying times have meant progress.

In the individual life, too, too much security is fatal to character, and testings are opportunities for the soul's growth. When life makes greater demands upon our characters, dedicated souls grow in proportion to the demands.

A person of faith trusts that God has so made the world and has so fashioned our souls that what must be done, can be done. That faith is the only feeling of security that we need.

Application Date Extend Soil Bank To County Farmers

April 15 is the last day farmers may sign Soil Bank Conservation Reserve contracts to begin in 1957, Carlton H. Smith, chairman of the Charlevoix county AEC committee, said this week. Originally the deadline was March 15.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the later date for closing will give farmers a better opportunity to fit their cropping plans to their new production pattern. Since land placed in the Conservation Reserve may not be used for production of crops for a period of years, the fewer acres available for cropping may require some adjustment in the crop usually produced on the farm or in the fields used for their production.

Farmers who may need advice in planning their participation in the Conservation Reserve program are urged to call at the county AEC office at an early date.

Cutting traffic death to a low figure is not just a police matter, it needs your help and support.

Most Power of the Low-Priced 3!

Everybody agrees... the main reason for buying a truck is to haul a payload. That being the case, doesn't it make sense to get the truck that's powered and built to carry the most in its weight class? Of course it does! That's why so many truck owners are switching to Dodge.

Dodge gives you the most powerful V-8's of the low-priced three, ranging from 204-hp. pick-ups to 232-hp. tandems. And Dodge trucks are built especially tough to handle bigger loads. For instance, Dodge pick-ups can haul up to one-third more than other competitive makes.

Dodge makes hauling these bigger loads easier, too. Shorter turning radius lets you needle in and out of tough traffic spots in a jiffy. Power steering is available on most models, and the extra convenience of a push-button transmission* can be yours only with Dodge.

Think it over. After all, it's just plain good business to get the most for your money... and your dealer can prove the most truck for your money is Dodge.

*Available in all low-tonnage and Forward-Control models.

Actual Payload Capacity
1825 lbs. 1400 lbs. 1500 lbs.

Facts prove the Dodge D100 pick-up boots both competitive low-priced models in payload. Model compared is a Dodge 6, 100 pick-up, 7½-foot body. In larger pick-ups the Dodge lead is even greater.

not represented on the first ten. Boyne City's candidates are Carl Charon and John Juday; Gaylord's are Darwin Mason and Lonnie Campbell; Grayling's, Dave Lowe and Bob Strong; Mancelona's, Ronnie Johnson, top scorer in the loop; Harbor Springs, Don Lauer, who followed closely behind Johnson in the scoring department and East Jordan's Larry Woodcock.

At the same meeting, Maurice Dixon of Boyne City was elected president of the conference association for the coming year to succeed Matt Jacobson of Mancelona. New Column By Harold E. Kohn Starts This Week

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn's column, "Thoughts Afield" which has appeared regularly in the Charlevoix Courier will be replaced by a new type of column by the same author beginning this week.

It will be entitled "Jottings from a Northerner's Notebook" and will feature excerpts from the author's daily journal. Sub-titled "Daily Adventures in Understanding", the new column will be more versatile than former writings and will deal with a greater variety of subjects. Among these will be nature study, natural history, daily experiences, religious subjects and, on occasion, a bit of whimsy.

It is the wish of the Charlevoix Courier that its readers will find "Jottings from a Northerner's Notebook" as readable, inspiring and enjoyable as the author's former contributions to these pages.

Band Members To Start Candy Sale Drive Saturday

Charlevoix high school band members, in full uniform will ring doorbells Saturday morning as they continue the sale of the world's finest chocolate in a fund-raising campaign to raise funds to finance the cost of hotel accommodations in Lansing when the band goes to the capital city to participate in the Class C State and Orchestra Festival, April 13.

The project, sponsored by the Band Parents Association headed by H. B. Schofield, was launched at a concert by the band at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening.

The city and surrounding area has been zoned by the candy sales chairman, Mrs. Gerald Left, and Mrs. Lina Arvilla. Working in teams, the band members will visit ever home in the area in an effort to sell 2,640 bars of excellent chocolate. The candy sale will replace the minstrel show for this year.

More than 400 bars of the delicious chocolate was sold at the kick-off concert Tuesday evening. During the concert the band, directed by C. A. Odmark, presented the music it will play in the state festival later this month. A boogie number, Walters' "Etude in Boogie" with David Miles at the piano and the Sousa march, "Stars and Stripes Forever" featuring the flute section as well as the brass division of the band were highlights of the concert.

Max Smith of Petoskey, was present to explain the rules of the light-reading division of the program, always a feature of the state festival in which the band is given music they have never seen. The director has just five minutes to go through the music with his band before performing it.

Everyone is asked to support the band in the current drive by purchasing the delicious chocolate during the current sale. The band parents organization has 10 days in which to sell the chocolate.

Ken Smith of Grosse Pointe is spending several days at Camp Charlevoix, completing plans for the 1957 season.

Hospital Given $6,300 Check By Ford Foundation

The Charlevoix hospital has received its second and final check of $6,300 from the Ford Foundation which made a grant of $12,600 to the local institution in December 1955, Fred W. Willis, president of the hospital board of directors announced.

This grant plus donations from Charlevoix's summer residents have made it possible to construct a solarium on the north wing of the hospital.

The addition will serve as a convalescent room for patients who are able to leave their rooms and will be so arranged that in an emergency it can be converted to use as an eight bed ward. It will have rest rooms for both men and women.

It was recently decided by the board to build a full basement under the large room to be used as hospital record storage space.

The contribution by three local summer groups totaled $9,000.

The addition will be started as soon as weather permits. It will be built by Ernest W. Priebe, contractor, of Petoskey whose bids for the work was accepted last fall.

The Charlevoix hospital was one of many hospitals in the state to receive grants from the Ford Foundation for the purpose of expansion or improvement of addition to or training of personnel or conducting research. The grant was made in December 1955 and the first check of $6,300 was received last September.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

How about that weather we've been enjoying? It makes one forget the long cold days of winter and gives one hope for spring which we will always contend is the nicest season of the year. In every direction are other signs of spring. The crew of the Emerald Isle is painting and cleaning in preparation for a long season which should begin shortly. The first oil tanker for the terminal here is expected daily. The Coast Guard cutters have been breaking ice even in Lake Charlevoix so the coal barge can make its way to Arenac. The Turkey Wing at the bridge is getting a coat of paint. Probably one of many places which will be re-decorated before the season starts. There the smell of burning leaves in the air as ambitious property owners rake their yards.

Why, there's signs of spring at every turn. And Hal Hill, our congenial city super, has given us permission to quote him that "Spring is just around the corner."

One day last week the populace was entertained by another sure sign of spring. The appearance of the ice breaker, Mackinaw which was participating in maneuvers along with two copiers and the PB from the Traverse City Airbase.

And another criterion of the new season is the appearance of Irish Coleman's track men at Kioke field. As they make the rounds of the cinder track.

Did you happen to see little Linda Supernaw as she appeared on WPBN-TV at Traverse City? She's returning Wednesday night for her second appearance on the children's quiz show, "Bright as a Dollar." And a cute contestant you've never seen.

Did you get to the class basketball tournament last week? You sure missed a good show if of Commerce for Charlevoix. Bless her heart!

And from down Florida-way, a note from Gardner, Pat and Earl, who are at Clearwater. Seems they're just a little homesick for Charlevoix and are looking forward to returning this summer.

Charlevoix's like that. It has a talent for making people remember it.

From Imbruck a card which arrived at about the same time as the senders, Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Young, who returned home last week from their wonderful European trip, looking happy and rested.

Another of our world travelers, Mrs. Robert Paul, who came in Friday from her around-the-world jaunt. . . and looking her own charming self, we might add.

And from the Bob Miles who have been in Washington for the big photographic Exposition a greeting. . . We turned a little green (with envy, that is) when we heard Bob was going to this big show. Wouldn't it be wonderful to see?

guild notes...

A thank you from the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital to Mrs. Ray Wood who has been a regular library cart pusher all winter. . . With the advent of spring, she has found it necessary to turn the job over to someone else. . . That someone is Mrs. Charles Bellinger who will return as a pusher after a little vacation. . . Thanks, too, to Mrs. R. G. Bennett who generously substituted recently as a pusher in an hour of need. . . The library cart, stocked with reading material and sundries for the patients, is one of the services offered by the Guild.

A number of memorial contributions have been made to the Guild recently. . . They were given in memory of the late George Fineman by Cindr. and Mrs. E. K. Shanahan; the late Eugene Westheimer by the James G. F. Colemans of Atherton, Calif., and Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Grate; the late Mrs. Henry Newman by Mr. and Mrs. Henri Meis of Danville, Ill.

Voice of Our Readers...

On various occasions I have written the City Fathers complimenting them on the work of the men in their various departments.

The reason for my writing you is, that I feel the public should be more grateful to these men and that some way of letting them know, by one or all the people, should be opened.

When we see the street crew cleaning up the mess, after the winter ordeal, do we thank them or do we think of them as a tax burden? Remember, these men, thru their daily work, may have saved you from a bad fall on the ice. As for me, I used to have from five to ten falls a year, but thru their work I have had only two bad falls in the past five years. I am on the streets all the time and I do appreciate what they do.

When you see these men taking a few minutes off to rest, during their work day, do not condemn them. If you think it so easy, why not get out and clean off your own walk and street? Five minutes of it will convince you that you had better let them do the work and you pay the taxes.

There may be things, at times, which you and I feel could be done somewhat differently, but remember, these men are working to help the whole town and not just one individual. Our streets are generally kept in better condition than any where else I know of.

The Light crew, the Water crew, the Fire Dept. are all doing the best they can, under the restrictions with which they have to work. The police are doing the best they can, under the circumstances. When I have reported anything wrong, on my route, the heads of these departments have investigated at once.

I thank all the men.

Sincerely Yours,
Walker A. Miles

This is another service of the Guild which in turn sends an attractive card in memory of or in honor of a person to the family or the honoree, as the case may be.

Guild members are reminded of a meeting at the high school band room at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

And don't forget the vacuum-packed candy sold by the Guild to support the nursing scholarship given annually by the Guild.

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

by Mrs. Jim Luginbuhl
Member of Bible Baptist Church

I believe that it is very well expressed what Christ means to me in a chorus "Christ for Me!"

for it reads, "He is my Saviour, My Lord, and King."

First of all Christ truly is my Saviour because one day, I as a guilty sinner accepted Him as my Saviour and was Born Again, for the Bible says "For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost."

He is my Lord because by me dedicating my whole life (unservedly) unto Him and everything I have or ever will have belong to Him.

He is my King because one day He is coming again to take all the redeemed to be with Him in Glory. So friend if he is coming again we need to be ready to meet him by accepting Him as our Saviour.

The Church is a place where we go to worship God and to study Gods word so that we might be better equipped to tell others that Christ died for them.

He is my Lord because by me dedicating my whole life (unservedly) unto Him and everything I have or ever will have belong to Him.

He is my King because one day He is coming again to take all the redeemed to be with Him in Glory. So friend if he is coming again we need to be ready to meet him by accepting Him as our Saviour.

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

Rail players, business men and and burlesque queens get a better income tax break than school teachers under our present laws. When he fills out that long tax form, a ball player deducts for cost of uniforms and equipment. A business man can chalk up his hotel suites and steak dinners to necessary expense and an entertainer deducts for a pair of spangled tights. But the dedicated people who have chosen teaching as a career and who strive to improve themselves by advanced study do not have the same privileges.

Under my new bill, the income tax law would be amended to permit teachers to take deductions for tuition, books, other equipment, travel and living expenses while away from home for special schooling. At a time when our teacher shortage is crucial and the profession sadly underpaid, we should be offering every inducement to teachers. Certainly a little tax relief is not much to ask. Representative Robert McIntosh of Port Huron has introduced a companion measure in the House and we both expect to push hard on this one.

The vanishing railroad is not the title of a whodunit. It describes a serious transportation situation which is developing across the nation and is now reaching into Michigan's Upper Peninsula. I am told that a number of railroads may abandon service because slim passenger loads have marked their ledgers with red ink. Escanaba, Ishpeming, St. Ignace, Marquette, Mackinaw City, Petoskey, and Manistee may become victims of the trend.

I am cooperating with state officials and at the same time working at the federal level. This is a national problem over and above the extreme hardship it places on the communities which lose rail service. If trains are discontinued, we can expect their rolling stock to be destroyed for tax purposes. Later, if a national emergency arises, we are bound to regret this, for we'll need every piece of rolling stock we can lay our hands on. Representative John Bennett of Ontonagon has introduced a resolution asking for a committee investigation of the entire question. On the Senate side, I've called for full study by our Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. A subcommittee will convene on April 16 and 17 to look into the problem. This is a tough one, for railroads cannot run lines at a loss indefinitely. On the other hand, I don't intend to stand by and watch the U. P. residents isolated.

A lovely lass from Detroit, Miss Maryann Andrieca, is Michigan's Cherry Blossom Princess. On April 5, along with fifty other glamorous princesses from all of the states and territories, she will attend Washington's traditional Cherry Blossom Festival Ball. There Mrs. Eisenhower will spin the wheel of fortune until it stops at the name of the new Queen, whom all good Michiganders, of course, hope will be Maryann. Last week the Michigan State Society honored her at a reception. Next week's parade and other functions will be climaxed by the crowning of the Cherry Blossom Queen.

If any one ever doubted that the people run this country, events of the past month concerning the federal budget are graphic proof that John Citizen is still calling the shots. His loud protests over the budget have brought results. Purple strings are being pulled up. Almost the entire membership of the Senate—71 of us, to be precise—have joined in sponsoring legislation to tighten up federal fiscal operations. In a jet-propelled reaction to strongly expressed public sentiment for reducing the budget, the Senate Committee on Government Operations reported this bill within four days from the time we introduced it.

The proposals in this bill are the fruits of seven years of study by the Committee. Many of them are quite technical. A 14-member Joint Committee on the Budget would be established, composed of 7 Senators and 7 Representatives.

C. Ray Kolker ET3 Develops Device For Naval Radios

C. Ray Kolker, ET3, stationed at U. S. Naval Radio Station at Annapolis, Md., has developed a visual method of adjusting crystal calibrators.

In a communication from the Commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Communication Station in Washington to the Chief, Bureau of Ships, the new method was explained and approved by the Station. The letter went on to say that "It is recommended that this procedure be published in E. I. B. with credit given to Kolker, C. R. ET3, USN, attached to U. S. Naval Radio Station, Annapolis, Md."

According to the letter the Navy has experienced difficulty in attempting to adjust frequency meter crystal calibrators employing the auditory method outlined in the equipment instruction books due primarily to radio frequency pickup from station transmitters.

The new visual method developed by Kolker has been employed for two months at all three transmitters buildings at the Annapolis station and has proved to be not only more rapid and more accurate than the auditory method, but has virtually eliminated the difficulties produced by local radio frequency interferences.

The communication then gave the procedure for use of the new method.

Kolker is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school and a veteran of two years in the U. S. Navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kolker.

Institute Offers Aids In Attracting Tourist Guests

"Competing successfully for tomorrow's guests" is the theme of the fifth annual Tourist and Resort Institute to be held at Michigan State University on April 8, 9, and 10, home demonstration agent, Clare Brown, announced today.

New and improved management techniques will be discussed for resort, motel and food service owners and managers. This Institute is being planned to help operators keep pace with the rapid growth of this important travel industry. Lectures, discussions and demonstrations will be given by outstanding leaders—so that operators may be better prepared to obtain a larger share of tomorrow's tourist and resort business.

Anyone interested in attending the Institute should see the home demonstration agent or write to Tourist and Resort Service, Kellogg Center, M. S. U., East Lansing, Michigan.

ives, all Appropriations Committee members. This group would combine the functions of watchdog, sleuth and oftentimes Scrooge, following closely the well-thought-out and detailed recommendations in the bill. In reporting to the Senate floor, the Committee stated that the bill "constitutes a positive approach to the elimination of extravagance, waste, and needless or excessive appropriations."

First Settlement near the mouth of the St. Joseph River was Newburyport, founded in 1831. But after five years of prosperous existence, Newburyport was completely buried by shifting sands. Vainly the residents erected fences and shoveled the sand away from their doors, only to find that to give up the unequal struggle and move farther up the hills onto the site of St. Joseph, which was incorporated as a village in 1836.

New Red Clover Proven Adapted To North Country

Dollard, a new red clover, recommended for the northern one-third of Michigan's lower peninsula, offers much promise for Charlevoix county farmers.

In tests at Michigan State University's Lake City Experiment station, Dollard yielded 3 tons of hay each year in a four-year test. Ordinary red clover yielded 2.6 tons in the same tests, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent.

Dollard's increase in yield of 16 per cent or two-fifths ton was due to its resistance to northern anthracnose, a disease which causes leaves to turn brown and drop off before harvest.

Only a limited amount of Dollard is available for spring planting according to agent Rebman.

Grass Fire

Excitement ran high during the noon hour Saturday when the local fire department was called out near the Kirby home west of Ellsworth to check on a grass fire. While there, another call came to battle another grass fire near the Melvin Rood home south of town. Neither proved serious. In the meantime the Central Lake department was called to the Melvin Rood fire. Harry DeLong was overcome by smoke at the latter fire but recovered quickly when treated by a physician.

Athletic Banquet

Dr. Fred Vesceconi, English professor from Michigan State University, and guest speaker at the annual athletic banquet at Banks school Friday evening, spoke on the value of an athletic program.

He stressed that such a program provides opportunities for making leaders of students with different mental capacities; it gives a chance for them to be a part of an activity to belong—something each of us enjoys; it teaches them to get along with others; work and play with others; a requisite in later life if one wishes to succeed. It keeps the student busy and when busy they are not apt to get into trouble. They learn in obey orders in spite of some expense or possible disadvantage to themselves. In all they learn self discipline.

Mr. Richard Lather presided at the banquet as toastmaster. Mr. Kier gave the invocation and Arthur Drenth led in group singing. Mr. John DeYoung, president of the Ellsworth Community Chamber of Commerce which sponsors this yearly event, spoke briefly welcoming the guests, about 100 in number.

DAILY ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDINGS

Clippings from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

March 26th — Thanks to the Creator for the second-rate wood of the hemlock tree! Thanks for its brittleness, its coarse grain! Thanks for its weakness, its impenetrable bark, its splintering ways, its rock-hard knots! Thanks for its love for throwing dangerous sparks when used as firewood! But for these weaknesses the feathery grace of the hemlock would have largely disappeared from Michigan's North Woods, massacred by the woodsman's axe. But its faults, have made it unwanted, and, as it is, many hemlocks remain.

One faulty, yet tall, symmetrical hemlock stands majestically near the friendly beeches not far inside the gate at Hidden Brook. Its deep green, almost black, branches make soft, crooning tre-music in the breezes that play about its needles. The hemlock dominates the scene with a quiet restraint, like a shy queen who rules reluctantly, shunning the public eye, but adored the more for her royal modesty.

When I look upon the slight defects in my friends a feeling of gratitude prevails my mind similar to the thanks offered for the shortcomings of our hemlock tree.

Thank goodness my friends are not flawless. Thank heaven they are not "too good for this earth" or they would not be here where all life is somewhat less than perfect.

March 27th — An old Roman proverb provides one of the deepest insights into the meaning of human history—"Optima corrupta pessima," meaning, "The best things when corrupted become the worst." That is true of all the good things of life, and particularly of religion.

Religion can be perverted to support almost any cause, and it furnishes the means for expressing any deeply felt emotion, no alone man's noble aspirations and loyalties, but also the baser human passions and prejudices and hatreds. In the name of God men have warred upon each other, even butchering women and children, both sides claiming the Almighty was on their side. In Christ's name the religious have tortured one another, justifying the persecution as a means of winning the heretics back to "the true faith." Protestants and Catholics and Jews have all, in the name of the Highest and Holiest, slaughtered one another. But more common than the radical perversions of religion into cruel uses are the misapplications of religious teachings to per-sonal ends. Or we can take a high sounding proverbial moralistic saying that is grounded in religious tradition and twist it to serve our own ends. Like blotters, some folks soak up a great deal of religion, but get it all backwards.

"God helps those who help themselves," says one aggressive and shrewd business man. So he helps himself to excess profits that do not belong to him and that are begotten under false pretenses, and he cleverly fleeces an innocent partner out of a high percentage of the money due him.

"A man is known by the company he keeps," remarks another, recalling an old proverb that has stemmed from religious teaching. And he uses the saying as an excuse for high-hatted snobbishness, refusing to be pleasant to any who do not live by his own high standards, and condemning anyone who is friendly with the town's riff-raff and sinners. He forgets that Christ kept company with Judas and was soundly criticized for attending social gatherings where "publicans and sinners" were in the majority.

Just before her wedding a daughter was given some last minute instructions on how to make her marriage succeed. The mother finished her display of maternal wisdom by saying, "And while getting married today, darling, you always must remember that marriage consists of give and take. If our husband doesn't give you all the money you want, take it."

Sometimes I wonder whether religion suffers more from those indifferent to it or from those who zealously misapply it.

March 31st — While driving along a road that skirts Lake Michigan today, I came upon a row of tall, graceful white birch trees that were hideously scarred and peeled off great strips of their snow-white skin. Though these trees were standing on private property owned by summer resorters, some people had simply appropriated the bark, mutilating the milky white trunks, de-facing beauty forever. Most of the folks who steal bark from birch trees never think of robbing a bank, nor snatching a purse, nor burglarizing a store. They are the poor people who can seldom appreciate a thing without possessing it. Moreover, they are people who cannot put themselves in another's place, nor see their act objectively. They think of their stealing as innocent souvenir hunting, but of someone else's souvenir hunting as stealing.

One birch bark hunter learned his lesson from a man who knew how to teach vividly by demonstration. The tourist birch defacer was busy cutting off large strips of birch bark when the owner of the property came walking down the road and caught him in the act.

Without any words or remonstrance whatever, the property owner took out his knife, cut a big hole in the rear tire of the tourist's car, pulled out a generous portion of inner tube and sliced it off. Of course the car owner wildly yelled his objections.

"Why all the fuss?" asked the owner of the trees. "You sliced holes in my birch without my permission. So I assume you wouldn't care if I took a little souvenir from one of your tires. Now, I suggest that you put on that spare tire just as fast as you can, and beat it from this part of the country before I decide to collect more souvenirs from the rest of your tires!"

One of the surest signs of spiritual culture is when a person can appreciate what does not belong to him, and he can leave the object of his admiration where others can feast their eyes upon it too.

4-H Club Foresters Offered Trip To National Meeting

Competition among forestry-minded youngsters in Michigan 4-H clubs promises to be keen during 1957 as they vie for one of 12 expense-paid trips to the 36th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next fall being offered by wood-using industries to national and regional 4-H forestry project winners.

Janice Boysen of Buckley in Grand Traverse county was the 1956 state 4-H forestry winner.

Forty-two Michigan counties reported 4-H forestry projects in 1955 and 37 counties gave the county medal award furnished by Michigan Forest Industries through American Forest Products Industries Inc., national sponsors of the forestry program, the Keep-America Green campaign and the Tree Farm program.

To participate in the program a 4-H member must take an active part in a forestry project. The State Extension Service, the county extension office and the local 4-H club leaders direct the program and will provide detailed information.

Respect and obey all traffic signs. DRIVE SAFELY.

Of the 2250 accidental deaths caused by firearms in the nation last year, 1050 occurred in homes. Fatal hunting accidents in the field totaled about 1200, while some 12,000,60 persons hunted.

Maple Sugar Bushes Operate At Top Capacity In County

It's maple syrup time in northern Michigan!

As one drives through the maple groves with which this area is blessed, he is attracted by the gleaming metal buckets or white plastic bags which capture the sweet sap as it drips from spiles.

This season, with ideal weather conditions, will undoubtedly result in a record production of maple syrup in the county. All operators report a heavy flow of sap with a high sugar content which results in excellent quality and flavor. Evaporators are being operated at capacity and some bushed sap storage tanks are overflowing.

At one time this scene was repeated on a small scale on every farm in the area for each farm family once made its own maple syrup to last them through the year. In recent years, however, the number of producers has dwindled until today there are only eight commercial producers in the county, according to Ed Reiman, county agricultural agent.

Of these eight, six are located in the Charlevoix area and three of the five which account for more than half the syrup made in the county are located in Hayes township.

How much syrup will be made before the season is over is not known at this time but all producers agree the total gallons will surpass any records set in previous years. Last Friday, for instance, more sap was gathered on the Clarence Smith farm where 4,200 buckets are out than was gathered all last season. The past six days the runs have been exceptionally good and have made up for the loss of an early run this year.

The moisture which fell last summer more or less determines the amount of sap which will flow from each tree but a number of other factors determine the sugar content of the sap, Mr. Reiman said.

The length of the syrup-producing season will depend mostly on weather conditions, he added. Largest producer in the county is the P. H. Danley operation on the Boyne City road which is being operated by Robert Barkley and where 6,000 containers are catching the sap. This plant features two large evaporators heated by fuel oil. It is an automatic operation where the syrup drains off when it reaches the proper consistency.

On the Clarence Smith farm in the same area 4,200 buckets are

One of the oldest commercially operated sugar bushes in the Charlevoix area, located on the Charles Weisler farm near Norwood. William Alward (pictured left) began making maple syrup from this bush in 1913, missing only one year until he retired and sold the farm to Mr. Weisler (right) in 1946. Much of the syrup was sold to regular customers who called at the farm to get their year's supply.

The third sugar bush is on Birchwood ranch and operated by the owner E. K. Shanahan. Two thousand containers are in use at the latter sugar bush.

The remaining two sugar bushes in this area are located in Norwood township. Largest of these is on the William Parsons farm where 800 buckets are out. The second bush in Norwood township is located on the Charles Weisler farm and has the distinction of being the oldest sugar bush in the area. It was started by William Alward in 1913 and has been in use every year since then with the exception of one. Approximately 400 buckets are being used in this operation.

Other producers in the county are Henry Korthase of Boyne City, the Wilson farm at Ironton, and Loyal Barber and William Shepard of East Jordan.

Stay-at-Home Duck

A female mallard, one of Michigan's year-round waterfowl residents, gives a Conservation Department photographer a quizzical look while posing for this picture. About 198,000 ducks, geese and swans made their winter quarters in the state this year—the second highest winter concentration in the last nine years.

Early flocks of migrating waterfowl, returning from the south, signal the coming of spring, but many thousands of ducks, geese and swans spend the entire winter in Michigan.

Conservation Department game workers, conducting the state's part of a continental waterfowl survey this year, estimated that some 198,000 ducks, geese and swans established winter quarters throughout the state.

The continental census is designed to estimate populations and concentrations of waterfowl—important factors in determining the breeding potential for the coming year. Winter populations within a single state may vary with weather conditions and food supply, so a study of breeding potential must encompass the entire North American continent.

This year's waterfowl count in Michigan represented the second-highest winter population in the last nine years, topped only by the unusually high concentration of 1955 when some 300,000 waterfowl remained in the state during the winter.

These "stay-at-home" birds usually congregate in four major areas: the Toledo to Port Huron area of the Great Lakes, the Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw county area, the St. Joseph and Kalamazoo River valley in southwestern Michigan, and the Muskegon River valley from Houghton Lake to Lake Muskegon.

About 70 percent of this year's winter population concentrated in these areas.

The success of the current breeding season will have to be studied before basic regulations can be set for the waterfowl hunting season next fall. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service establishes the framework of regulations for each flyway, including season length and bag limits, and the individual states then select their seasons within this framework.

Lou Creekmure Wins Audience At Athletic Dinner

Charlevoix high school varsity athletes in football, basketball and track were honored Monday night at the annual All-Sports banquet.

Highlight of the event was the appearance of Lou Creekmure, Detroit Lions tackle, who captured the hearts of the entire audience with his informal talk in football in general and professional football in particular. After a film of the highlights of the 1956 Detroit Lions football season were shown, Mr. Creekmure then conducted a question and answer period during which he gave many enlightening as well as entertaining answers.

Dean Davenport as toastmaster spoke briefly, addressing most of his remarks to the team. He then introduced S. E. Irish, Coleman, Ravder track coach who in turn presented his few track men who were not out for other sports. Coach Don Carey then introduced his football and basketball squads, speaking briefly about each as he presented him. Terry Rice, assistant football and basketball coach and Leonard "Pete" Burns, assistant football coach were also introduced as were the cheerleaders.

The Kivans club members joined with other parents and friends of the athletes and faculty members in honoring the athletes.

The event was held at the V. F. W. post home under the sponsorship of the Knights of Pythias and the V. F. W. Members of the two organizations prepared the delicious meal. They were assisted in serving by members of the Pythian Sisters and the V. F. W. Auxiliary. Tables were decorated in the high school colors.

It B. Schofield was program chairman and arranged for Mr. Creekmure's appearance here.

Michigan's 58 state parks and recreation areas were visited by 15,710,229 persons during 1956. This total was topped only by the all-time record of 17,845,000 park visitors in 1953.

Easter Seal Sale Launched To Aid Cripples Fund

More than 1,500 letters containing Easter seals will be placed in the mail this week, as the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc., opens its first county fund raising campaign.

Kenneth B. Forbes is county chairman. The letters were sent over his signature.

Until this year the Easter seal sale was handled from the state headquarters of the Society.

In announcing the fund campaign, Mr. Forbes urged everyone to purchase the seals contained in the pink envelope which will arrive in the mail this week. New Real Estate Office Opened By Mrs. I. L. Scheid

Mrs. Irma L. Scheid, real estate broker, is now operating her brokerage office on a full time basis, she said this week.

Her office is at her Ironton home.

Until recently she was employed full time at the school superintendent's office. She will continue to keep the books on a part-time basis but will devote most of her time to conducting her real estate business.

Members Of Band Are Successful Candy Salesmen

The sale of the personalized "world's finest chocolate" sponsored by the Charlevoix Band Parents Association and carried out by members of the Charlevoix high school senior and reserve bands is rapidly drawing to a close. C. A. Odmark, band director, reported Wednesday.

At that time 2,400 of 2,640 boxes of chocolate had been sold and the remaining supply of about 200 was rapidly dwindling.

Over 400 bars were sold at the "kick-off" concert which marked the opening of the fund-raising project. The sale since then has been most satisfactory despite the fact that bad weather Saturday made it necessary to call off the house-to-house canvass. However, a partial canvass was made Monday afternoon resulting in the sale of 300 bars.

Anyone who has been missed in the canvass or who would like to purchase more of the chocolate is asked to call Mrs. Gerald Left at LI 7-6724. Delivery will be made as long as the confection lasts.

The band parents committee which organized the fund-raising campaign, Mrs. Left, Mrs. Lila Arvola, Mrs. Harry Bingham and Mrs. Robert Miles, join Mr. Odmark in expressing their appreciation for the wonderful response of the community.

To Hold Hearing On Conservation Of Fox Island Light

A public hearing on the proposed conversion of the South Fox Island light to unmanned operation will be held at the office of the Commander, Ninth Coast Guard district located in the Main postoffice building in Cleveland April 30, it was announced this week.

The hearing will be held in Room 4305 of the postoffice building at 2 p. m. on the above date. The U. S. Coast Guard which operates the light is considering the conversion for purpose of economy. By conversion to unmanned operation, much of the cost of maintaining the personnel in residence at this station would be eliminated, the notice regarding the hearing states.

Under the conversion being considered the present characteristic of the light would be changed to a 5000 candlepower flashing white light which would flash every 15 seconds. The lighthouse is located on the south end of the South Fox Island.

The public hearing will be limited to consideration of the proposed changes of this aid to navigation only. All statements will be heard but all important facts or arguments should be submitted in writing in triplicate to be incorporated in the permanent record of the proceedings.

Personnel in residence at this station include three or four U. S. Coastguardmen and their respective families.

'Emerald Isle' Begins Schedule To Beaver Island

The Beaver Island ferry, the motorship, Emerald Isle, made its initial run to the island Monday to open its regular schedule of the 1975 season.

The service started nearly a week later than last year.

The U. S. Coast Guard cutter, Woodbine, in northern Lake Michigan on an ice-breaking assignment, opened the harbor at St. James Saturday making it possible for the ferry to begin operations for the season.

The ferry, skippered by Lawrence McDonough, will make three trips weekly, Monday, Wednesday and Friday until May 1 when it will be operated daily Monday through Saturday.

While in this area Saturday, the Woodbine made a trip to the docks at Advance in Lake Charlevoix, smashing ice so boats may travel the length of the inland lake.

Would Prohibit Giving Trading Stamps In City

A request for an ordinance outlawing the use of trade stamps in the city was made to the city council Thursday night by a delegation of local businessmen headed by Robert Neff and accompanied by attorney William T. Downs of East Jordan.

The group numbering 26 businessmen, asked the council to take action by adopting an ordinance making the issuing of such stamps illegal. It was their contention that by adopting such an action it would open the way for eventual outlawing of the trade stamps on a state-wide basis.

The request was referred to Norman D. Ance, city attorney, for an opinion and report at a later date.

The city council has adopted a budget of $168,729 to cover the cost of operating the city during the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The budget will require the levying of 17 mills on the city's equalized valuation of $5,012,206 which will bring in $85,207.40. The millage is the same as last year. Anticipated revenues of $83,521.60 from other sources will balance the budget.

Postal Service Curtailment Is Possible Here

If curtailment of postal service becomes effective this week as anticipated, there will be no window or carrier service at the Charlevoix postoffice on Saturday, Postmaster Peter H. Timmer said Wednesday.

He has been notified to curtail these services and to open the postoffice one hour later each day, i. e., at 9 a. m. instead of 8 a. m., if it becomes necessary to cut existing service.

This will become necessary if the U. S. Postoffice Department does not receive the appropriation it has requested for operating costs. Patrons are asked to watch their newspapers or telecast or listen to radio newscasts regarding the final decision on the matter by Postmaster General Sommerfield.

However, the lobby will remain open so boxholders may receive their mail which will be sorted but not delivered in the city or on rural routes.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

We were misinformed... Spring really hasn't arrived... but for a while it was a pretty reasonable facsimile, don't you think? But maybe now the weather man will settle down and get things back on schedule... like April showers followed by May flowers, kids without snowsuits and their mothers in spring hats covered with flowers.

But at least we didn't get as much snow as they did in the west... a little something to be grateful for... But how about that ice in Lake Charlevoix... Even with all the wind last week it didn't break up and the Woodbine went all the way to Advance Saturday in an effort to break it up... The Crow was in only the week before but the weather turned cold and the lake froze over again... If this keeps up, the swimmers will be sharing the water with ice cubes... come July...

Everyone had the idea that with Easter coming April 21 they could wear their new Easter garb... but we're beginning to wonder... But surely it will soon be May and then we'll forget all this.

Isn't the news that the Michigan Amateur is coming to Charlevoix pretty wonderful? It will mean a lot to the community for it will get the season off to a good and early start...

Everyone here will have a greater interest in the Detroit Lions since meeting Lou Creekmur at the sports banquet the other night. To the sponsors of the annual event, the K. P. and the V. F. W., a well done for it was one of the nicest parties we've attended and many others feel the same way... Up until the time Coach Carney introduced his team we had our doubts about next season... but after last week we figure we can hold our place among the best... One thing we know for sure... We have the best looking athletes any place in the world... including Bill McClanaghan and his shiner... It was a joy to see them as they were introduced and to feel that they were and are ours... To the seniors our best on other fields and courts... and to the returnees a good year for good old C. H. S... And to Herb Schofield... thanks for bringing Creekmur to northern Michigan.

The Charlevoix high school band will be carrying the colors this week... when they make their tenth trip to southern Michigan in eleven years... They're a good outfit... as those of you who heard them last week know... and we hope they'll come home with another First division rating... To you and your leader, C. A. Odmark, go the best wishes of the entire community... Congratulations to the band parents for their wonderful fund-raising idea... the sale of lucious chocolate... They've discovered that most of Charlevoix has a sweet tooth 'cause they have done very well on the sale... Of course no one counted calories and we'll be weeks taking off that poundage but for such a good cause it will be worth the effort...

Have you noticed... the old court house is coming down... we're told that the inside is completely gutted... and before long the exterior will start to come down... Some of the workmen tell us that once upon a time there must have been quite a fire in the attic and roof... Many of the timbers and studdings are charred... We can't remember when that happened... so it must have been a long time ago.

It was good to see Ken Smith around last week... He was up consulting with Barney Englehart on work on Camp Charlevoix and taking care of seeds of other details prior to the opening of camp in June... He tells us that he's looking forward to a fine summer and that all reservations have been taken since January... the earliest yet...

Did you ever stop to think what our summer camps mean to the community... It's really a major part of this resort business and we should be grateful to people like Ken and our other wonderful camp operators who have done much to make this area a fine summer camping section...

All set for the big day? ... And while we're about it... wanna make any bets... What are we talking about? ... Why Baseball, what else? After all the season's going to get underway shortly... April 16, isn't it? ... And then all we'll hear is 'who's pitching?' and 'who won.' ... Despite the fact that we don't care too much for the sport, it sounded kinda good to hear the broadcasts of exhibition games... By fall we may change our mind but right now it's another sign of that elusive season called spring...

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

By E. Jack McDermott
Member of the Ironton Congregational Church

Jesus is like a Father to me, just as a parent is to a child. He is someone I can go to for help with my problems. Also, he is someone to go to for solace in times of trouble. You can always get help from him and he never turns you down.

He has made life livable and has shown me peace that I never realized was possible.

The Church is where I can go to learn about Jesus and to show my thanks for the help and comfort he has given me.

Speaker Relates History Of Child Guidance Clinic

Robert Gillispie, director of the Child Guidance Clinic in Petoskey, was the guest speaker at the open house and PTA meeting held Wednesday evening at the Charlevoix high school.

In his entertaining talk he traced the history of the Child Guidance clinics in the state and told how they are staffed and financed. He also discussed conduct disorders, habit disorders, personality problems, slow learning, and development of what constitutes good mental health.

George LaBlanc, program chairman, introduced Mr. Gillispie.

At the PTA business meeting which opened the program, Rev. Wilson Rinker, president, announced that Una Suomela had made a suggestion box for use at meetings. Anyone with an idea, suggestion or criticism is invited to use the box. He also announced that all PTA members are free to attend executive board meetings which are held on the third Monday of every month at the high school English room. The meetings are called at 7:30 p. m.

The group voted that a fund-raising project be worked out by the finance committee.

One of the largest crowds to attend the open house sponsored by the Charlevoix public schools and the regular meeting of the PTA turned out last week. The group assembled in the auditorium following a tour of the rooms in the school. The meeting opened with a prayer by the Rev. O. B. Ansted.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by a committee composed of Mrs. Charles Wiesler, Mrs. A. D. Cunningham, Mrs. John E. Boss, Mrs. Kenneth Sweet, Mrs. Charles Duerr and Mrs. Lloyd Arnold.

Revised Payment Plan Offered To Veteran's Widows

Thousands of Michigan widows of veterans who died of service-connected causes before Jan. 1, of this year have failed to apply for the new increased dependent's compensation payments.

Widows of these veterans may elect to receive new payments to continue under the old death compensation, whichever is higher. Widows of veterans who died after Jan. 1 of service-connected causes automatically come under the new law.

However, if widows fail to apply for the new benefit, and thousands in Michigan have failed, they will continue to receive death compensation at the same rate as in the past, even though they might be eligible for increased payments under the new law. In most cases, the new act provides for higher payment to those widows than were granted under previous laws.

The Detroit VA regional office handles the cases of veterans who died after June 4, 1956. The Philadelphia, Pa., district VA office still maintains cases of veterans who died before that date, and in which VA already is paying benefits.

A widow is eligible for an increased monthly payment under the new law, such payments will be made retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year if she applies before July 1.

Fire damaged 3420 acres of state and private forests and grasslands in Michigan during 1956, the lowest loss record in state history.

Too Many Little Fish

One of the biggest problems facing Michigan lakes and streams is, strange to say, too many fish. This picture shows several small perch and bluegills taken by hook and line in a short time. Perch and bluegills produce prodigious numbers of offspring each year.

The fish situation in some Michigan waters resembles the old-time boarding house—as the number of tenants increases, the food portions get smaller.

Rapidly increasing panfish populations often create overcrowded conditions in lakes and streams, with sharp competition resulting for a stable food supply. Unlike animals, fish do not starve, so an increase in number just means less food per fish.

The result of this condition is overabundance of little fish, stunted by lack of food. Many lakes contain thousands of tiny perch or bluegills only three or four inches in length.

These stunted fish create a serious problem in fish management. Fishermen consider them too small to keep and as long as they remain in the lake, the food shortage continues.

One remedy being tested by the Conservation Department is chemical treatment of lakes. Fish division workers "poison out" over-populated lakes, remove tons of undersize panfish and then restock the lake.

In the restocking part of the program, panfish will be planted along with some suitable predator, such as northern pike, to keep the panfish population in balance with the food supply. The surviving bluegills and perch each food and grow larger—to the detriment of the available light of fishermen. Of course, the pike also provide plenty of sport for the angler.

Chemical treatment was carried out on four lakes last summer and eight others are due for treatment this year. In the four lakes tested, preliminary findings show that bluegills from three to seven years of age were running two or more inches short of growth.

• Mrs. Russel Dundas, her son, Clark Nehls and her mother, Mrs. Sue Clark arrived her Friday from Hollandale, Fla., where they spent the winter. They will begin preparing the Grey Gables Inn for an early opening.

Kroger Announces Plan To Award 101 Scholarships

A total of 101 college scholarships will be offered to high school graduates under the Kroger Scholarship Program for 1957, it was announced today by Jack Bene, vice president of the retail food firm's Grand Rapids division, which operates stores in this area.

Two additional schools, Louisiana State University and the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, will be included this year, Mr. Bene said. Value of the one-year awards will also be increased this year to $250.00 each, he added. They will be available next fall at land-grant colleges in 19 midwestern and southern states in which Kroger operates, as well as California and Florida, where the company's produce procurement offices are located. The scholarships are offered to students planning to major in agriculture and home economics.

Application forms can be obtained directly from the land-grant college in the student's state. Selection of winners will be made by the school's scholarship committee, and applications should be made directly to the dean of the college of agriculture.

Awards are made on the basis of scholastic achievements in high school as well as leadership qualities demonstrated in school, church or youth organizations. Need for financial aid may also be considered.

Stop and Look in Charlevoix

Michigan Mirror

Another look at Michigan's justice of the peace machinery occurred when Francis E. Barron, a Howell attorney, recently charged that JP's often conduct a "racket system" to collect fines and costs.

The justice of the peace operation has been controversial previously. Usually the issue involved is whether these officials are qualified to administer their jobs properly?

The new charges take a different tack. In a letter to State Bar Association President John W. Cummings, Barron took issue with the fact that some justices seem to make "too good" a living pursuing the duties of their office. Particularly singled out are two Oakland County JP's, Willis D. Lefurgy of Waterford Township and Allen C. Ingle of Farmington Township. Both these men earned more than $25.00 from their share of fees last year.

Lefurgy's case developed from charges made by the Automobile Club of Michigan that Waterford Township police are conducting a "speed trap" along the busy Dixie Highway between Pontiac and Flint.

Last year's tickets produced more than $100,000 income for Waterford Township. Lefurgy's share reached $33,202.10, AAA says.

"In my opinion, such courts are not courts at all, but merely a racket system for collecting fines and costs for the benefit of the justice and the township," Barron wrote in his letter.

This left the next move up to the State Bar. Officials of that group indicated that the charges would be carefully considered in its committee.

Julie Harris, Edgar Guest, Governor Williams—these are all familiar names to Michigan residents. Today, stories of actresses, poets, politicians and others who achieved success in their chosen fields are available for the asking. Recognizing that today's "names in the news" will be part of Michigan's history tomorrow, the State Library in Lansing embarked on a program to preserve personal biographies for future generations.

Some 1,000 biographies are already on file. Each is prepared by the "personality" himself. Each covers both factual material, and human interest sidelights that are often lost when a generation dies.

The library sends a form directly to "picky personalities." This includes information and photographs of historical importance.

The collection is more than a Michigan "Who's Who". The goal is to preserve records direct from persons who have contributed to Michigan's development.

A look through the biographies on file discloses many names not generally known—and many not recorded elsewhere.

The unique project began two years ago on a small scale. At first the library collected information only on elected state officials. Then the staff turned its attention to Michigan authors.

Now, under the direction of Mrs. Esther Laughlin the scope of the collection is enlarged. Names are secured through mention in newspapers from directories and from suggestions of people throughout the state.

That's where you can help. Suggestion of additional names are welcomed by Mrs. Laughlin. Persons in business, in sciences, the arts, education and in every field are needed.

Send your suggestions to Mrs. Esther Laughlin at the Michigan State Library, 125 E. Shiawassee st., Lansing.

A royal tour awaits some Michigan Miss picked by county dairy princess winners from some 40 counties will gather at Michigan State University for selection of the state princess who will represent Michigan and dairy farmers and processors for the coming year.

"Interest in the event is very enthusiastic," says Charles Stone, State director for the American Dairy Association, the program's major sponsor. Competition among entrants for the County Dairy Princess contests is keen. In Huron County for example, there are 41 girls entered.

The princess is selected in conjunction with the "June is Dairy Month" program, sponsored by

Draft Board Calls Three In County For Examinations

Three Charlevoix county draft registrants will be ordered to report May 8 for pre-induction physical examinations, Mrs. Eleanor Left, draft board clerk, said this week.

The county has not been asked to send any registrants for induction in May.

On Wednesday Donald O'Brien of Charlevoix, Eugene Palmer of St. James, Bernard J. Boyer of East Jordan, James A. Cregar, Jr., of Boyne Falls, Dennis L. Pratt and Davis Hosmer of Boyne City left for Detroit for pre-induction physicals.

Later this month, Leonard Rayman, a former resident now living in Flint, will report for induction. April 29 is the date for his induction.

Skunk cabbage, often the first plant of spring, takes its name from the odor released when it is bruised. Rushing the season, the herb grows up through frozen ground, sometimes pushing aside snow.

five statewide milk producer and processing groups.

The lucky lass picked in the May finals will find a busy year ahead of her. She will immediately tour the eastern United States as an ambassador for Michigan Week. The trip will take her to Washington, D. C. and New York City.

Later, her summer will be filled with trips to county celebrations and fairs. Her biggest event comes in October when Michigan's Dairy Princess will travel to Chicago to compete with entrants from all over the U. S. for the title of National Dairy Queen.

Last year's festivities drew 37 candidates, with the present reigning Princess, Louise Lagoy, chosen from Calhoun County. Muriel Goodrich of Walkerville was the runner-up.

All entrants at the Lansing finals will receive gifts, corsages and trips around the state's capital.

That Is Deductible!

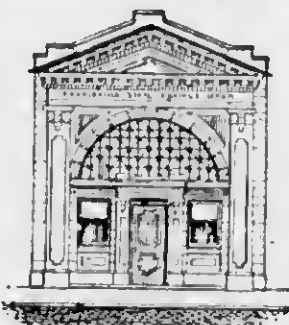

and this proves it!

When agents from the Internal Revenue Service check your income and expense, they like to see good evidence to support a deduction such as paid invoice and a cancelled check. For your own protection we invite you to open a checking account before another day goes by.

Pontiac Springs Another "First!"

-Lowest Priced Car with Tri-Power Carburetion!

Pontiac started 'em all talking by tagging this eye-popping Chieftain below 30 models of the low-price three. Now Pontiac has tossed another firecracker into the low-price field . . . with Tri-Power Carburetion available at extra cost on any model. Pontiac alone at so low a cost offers this sensational track-proved carburetion system that has officially outperformed super-charged and fuel injection cars. Here's how it works: For normal driving, only one of three double-barrel carburetors is in operation. When you want a safety-surge of power, press your foot and pronto!—the other two carburetors pour out a bonus of go as long as you need it. Ease up . . . and you're back to the gas-saving economy of one-carburetor operation! In short—your new Pontiac Chieftain can be tame or terrific—at the touch of a foot! Try it, and you'll see why they're biting their nails in the low-price field. Check the car . . . check the price . . . and all bets are that you'll graduate to Pontiac with plenty left over in your budget to celebrate the occasion!

Senator Potter reports

... the latest news from Washington of special interest to Michigan ...

Face lifting for fourteen Michigan airports will begin July 1 when the Civil Aeronautics Administration distributes $2,693,500 in our State for airport aid. Planned improvements include everything from purchasing new land, building runways, laying out clear zones and parking areas, installing special lighting to constructing administration buildings. CAA selected the fourteen airports from a long waiting list of worthy projects. The financial aid is not a new budget item but is allocated from money already in CAA's till. Lion's share will go to large, heavily-traveled metropolitan centers such as Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Muskegon, Pontiac, and Battle Creek. Other improvements are scheduled for Alpena, Gaylord, Marquette, South Haven, Three Rivers and Traverse City.

Your Government has a day-to-day interest in safe and efficient air transport, plus a long-term stake based on the vital role airways play in the national defense. Think of a vast web of aerial highways roadmapping the sky, with airports as key nerve centers of the web. This is the federal airways system, a miracle of electronic genius and thin blue air. Today the military uses this network to about one-third of its capacity. A national emergency, like a giant broom, could sweep the skies clean of civilian craft and the military would take over. For these reasons, up-to-the-minute airport improvements are required to insure the national welfare in peacetime and guard the nation's safety in wartime.

Small business men are not getting their fair share of government contracts. I've kept an eye on the situation and noticed that in 1956 small enterprises received 19.6 percent of military contracts, a drop of almost two percent from the preceding year. Last week I introduced a bill which should encourage more federal contracts for the little fellow. It would make the Small Business Administration a permanent agency and spell out the intent of Congress that small business obtain a fair share of Government business. Besides, it would expand SBA's lending power. I can remember two occasions when their funds were entirely depleted and vital loans to small business were delayed for months. The bill also authorizes more efficient service to disaster victims and would permit SBA to make studies and recommendations on matters relating to the competitive strength of small business.

Water is precious and I am fighting any diversion of it from Lake Michigan. For years the city of Chicago has sought to divert our Lake water as a means of easing its sewage problem. I am convinced such a diversion, by lowering the Lake level, would work a serious hardship on Michigan. Last week I wrote the House Committee on Public Works, which is considering a move. I consider diversion a threat to the economic blessings we expect to flow from the St. Lawrence Seaway. Besides, everything indicates it would jeopardize our fine relations with Canada. President Eisenhower has twice vetoed almost identical diversion bills—and for every sound reason. The situation has not changed, nor has my determination to fight the proposal.

Women—certainly not an oppressed minority in this country—nevertheless need a legislative protection and that is why thirty-two Senators, including myself, have introduced the so-called "Equal Rights for Women" amendment to the Constitution. It is astonishing in this day and age, when women have achieved distinction in almost every area of activity, that such legislation should be necessary. But the fact remains that women do not receive equal pay for equal work and are discriminated against in other ways. Both political parties have recognized this in their platforms and advocate an amendment protecting women.

I took the city of Flint only eighteen years—less than two decades—to reach the big time. When Michigan became a state back in 1837, Flint was a village with a population of 300, the seat of Genesee County. It had a post office, a banking association, an edge-tool factory, a sawmill, two drygoods stores, two grocery stores, two physicians, a lawyer, and the U. S. land office for the Saginaw district. Lumbering, which followed the fur trade, brought sawmills with it and was responsible for the two-wheeled cart factories that developed. In 1855, exactly eighteen years later, Flint was incorporated as a city and since then has leaped and bounded to its present position—as an auto center. A story of human energy, industrial know-how, and great dreams come true.

March Of Dimes Fund In County Totals $4,273.29

The final results of the 1957 March of Dimes fund campaign in January were announced this week by Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county fund chairman. A total of $4,273.29 was raised in the county. Of this amount, Boyne City raised $1,487.21; Charlevoix, St. James and Bay Shore, $1,362.18; East Jordan, $1,096.72; Boyne Falls, $237.64; Walloon Lake, $53.81 and Ironton, $35.73.

In 1956 the county raised $3,641.27 for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Two polio patients will enter the hospital at Traverse City during the next few months for surgical treatment. This is financed by funds the county receives from the annual fund drive and by grants from the national foundation when these funds are depleted.

If current legislation regarding Salk vaccine is adopted approximately one-third of the county's fund will be used to purchase vaccine.

READERS — RESIDENTS — VOTERS — TAXPAYERS

The entire Michigan Nursery Industry has gone on record as opposing the building of another nursery in Southern Michigan by the Michigan Conservation Department, Forestry Division, for the following reasons:

Commercial nurseries in the same temperature zones can and will produce all the stock needed—without spending one cent of tax money! Michigan Conservation nurseries already sell over 75% of the stock produced by them to the public—some 30 million.

Private nurserymen feel it is a waste of money for the state to increase production one-third or to 40 million. The cost of a state built nursery is to high; $181,000 of Soil Bank money thru the Clarke-McNary Act will be granted and government payrolls will be expanded.

Businessmen claim they can build the same production facilities for approximately 25% of the amount wanted by the state and some nurserymen can expand for $10,000.

All the nurserymen want to do is to stay in business without government competition, while paying taxes. If you don't feel you should help your neighbor plant trees with your tax money, write to your Representative, c/o The House, Lansing, Michigan and our Senator, c/o The Senate, Lansing, Michigan. A postcard will do—but do it now!

DAILY ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

April 1—After teaching at Harvard University for many years and achieving world renown, George Santayana, one of the most brilliant, profound and lucid philosophers of our time came into a considerable inheritance. The legacy enabled him to retire from his eminent teaching position and to devote his full time to writing. Santayana's classroom was crowded for his final appearance by students and visitors who were eager to hear what he would say in his final lecture and how he would bid goodbye to his famed teaching career.

The celebrated thinker charmed his audience with the vigor and depth of his mind, and then seemed about to conclude his address when he glanced out the window and caught sight of yellow forsythia blossoms unfolding above the winter's last fading snows. He halted his address abruptly, picked up his gloves, his walking stick and his hat and started for the door. Then he turned to the jam-packed classroom and spoke as if in a spell, saying quietly, "Gentlemen, I shall not be able to finish this sentence. I just have discovered that I have an appointment with April."

On a day such as this, when the atmosphere is charged with expectancies of good things to come, I wish it were possible for all who love the out-of-doors to drop everything and keep "an appointment with April."

April 2—One thing all small towns need, and few have, is an annual libel suit to keep the gossipers, who have little regard for God or man, in fear of their own tongues.

April 4—As I travelled from southern Michigan to Charlevoix today, the air was heavy with snow and sleet. Pavements were slippery. Boisterous, insolent gusts of wind blew blobs of wet snow upon my windshield, momentarily blotting out all sight of the road and oncoming vehicles.

In this unseasonable downpour of winter weather robins occasionally appeared, flying miserably for short distances across the road, looking for some place of comfort. Upon landing by the roadside they fluffed out their feathers, seeking to catch dead air amidst the fibers, thus insulating themselves against the cruel, uncaring elements. I wonder how many bird migrants, arriving in the North before this storm will perish before warmer and kinder spring weather returns.

Birds have all kinds of enemies besides those which are well-known predators. It is commonly realized that foxes and skunks, snakes, crows and bluejays all take their toll on bird's eggs, killing the young before they are hatched. Young ground birds are frequently the victims of turtles and hawks. Half-wild, wandering house cats slaughter song birds and their young by the thousands. (During a single day, 226 cats under close observation were seen killing 624 birds of various species. It is estimated that in New York state alone three and one-half million birds are destroyed annually by roaming house cats.)

Ants devastate the nests of ground-nesting birds. Surveys in the American Southwest have shown that as many as 15 per cent of the nests of the bobwhite quail are vandalized by these vicious insects. The ants attack the hatching bobwhite youngsters even before they are completely out of the shell.

But one of the worst enemies of birds is inclement weather such as struck the bird population today. Severe winter weather has been known to destroy approximately 95 per cent of the quail in a given area. A single coastal storm in the state of Washington was estimated to have killed fifty thousand water birds.

How many robin songs will not be heard this spring because of this storm?

While driving through Saginaw, Michigan, today, on my way Northward, I noticed a middle-aged man walking along the main street, talking to himself earnestly and gesturing emphatically. I wondered about him. Was he attempting to convince himself of something concerning which he entertained serious doubts? Was he plotting an argument to give his employer concerning a raise in pay, or an improvement in working conditions? Or could he be planning how he would "tell off" his wife when he got home from work, informing her that from now on she would get only half of the weekly check instead of all of it?

Whatever his reason for talking to himself, he had some advantages over ordinary conversation. If arguing with himself, no matter which way the argument went he was sure to win. Moreover, he could finish every sentence. There would be no interruptions from someone trying to get in his two-cents-worth. Again, he could say what he pleased without fear of it being misinterpreted or tattled all over town. And finally, he probably felt the pleasure of having an intelligent and adoring listener.

April 7—Looking back over the past few days of spring, I am suddenly aware that in the last week I heard the first frog-music of this season, arising from Michigan ponds. These voices of spring poured from the vibrating throats of spring peepers, tiny members of the frog clan who, with their relatives, have spent the winter dug deep into moss or leaves or in the mud and silt of pond bottoms. There their breathing slowed and their circulation came almost to a standstill as the first sub-freezing temperatures of late fall reached them. But they survived, most of them. Frogs are adaptable creatures if

Ellsworth Spotlight

Mrs. Grant Hastings

Nancy Vandenberg Weds Dale Kuiper

A wedding of interest to local people occurred March 23 in Grand Rapids in the Immanuel Reformed church when Dale Kuiper of Grand Rapids, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kuiper of Ellsworth, took as his bride Miss Nancy Vandenberg, daughter of Rev. William Vandenberg and Mrs. Vandenberg of 1030 Sherman st., Grand Rapids.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ceremony was also performed by her father.

Palms and baskets of gladioli were used as decoration in the candlelight setting.

The bride chose a wedding gown of white satin and lace. Bridesmaid was Sheila Riemsma, a close friend from Sheldon, Iowa, who chose a mint green floor length formal. The bride's sister, Carol, attended as maid of honor, wearing a lavender floor length formal. All carried heart shaped bouquets of calla lilies.

Attending the groom-as-best man was his brother, Robert, of Grand Rapids. A. C. Vernon Kuiper, home on leave from his base in California, and Kenneth Doubbs seated the guests.

Mrs. Vandenberg wore a pink street length dress with matching accessories for her daughters wedding. Mrs. Kuiper wore a dusty rose street length dress with white carnations complemented their costumes.

Miss Virginia Kuiper, cousin of the groom, played for the ceremony.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Baxter St. School gym for about 150 guests. Miss Marilyn VanDyke presided at the punch bowl. The three tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom was cut by the young couple and served as part of the refreshments.

After a wedding trip to now York and Pennsylvania, they will live in Grand Rapids.

their environment does not change too abruptly. A sudden sub-zero night might kill numberless members of their race, but frogs can stand amazingly low temperatures—as low as 15 degrees below zero—and still survive, providing the temperature is lowered little by little. Frogs seem to be unaware of change and endure it without sign of discomfort, if only the change is made by slight degrees. This insensitivity to slow change can be disastrous. It is said that a frog can be placed in a shallow dish of water, and the water can be very slowly brought to a boil, killing the frog, and the creature will make no attempt to escape, although in the early stages it could have leaped free of impending disaster.

This inattention to slow change spreads beyond the realm of frogdom. Nations that would fight to the death against a tyranny suddenly thrust upon them will succumb with barely a stir to a gradual growth of dictatorial power.

Conservatives who would march upon their national capitol in open revolt against seizure of power by socialist politicians will allow federal power to grow slowly, spreading into every area of living, and "creeping socialism" to become accepted.

University students if suddenly plunged into a bookless backwoods society and made to remain there for many months would be starved for good reading matter. But surveys have shown that a few years after graduation many university-educated people read less than a book a month.

A person of religious faith seldom drops the practice of his religion. He slowly, almost imperceptibly lowers it, and gradually withdraws from it. Backsliding is not a precipitous drop. It is a slow, sickening glide.

Fortunately, however, slow change is not only perilous, but often propitious and congenial to the good life. Many a person who is discouraged with his spiritual progress would take heart and rejoice if he could compare himself with the person he was one or ten years ago. God often works in us so quietly and gradually that we become infinitely better without knowing it.

By many separate little prayers a person becomes prayerful.

By numerous individual and seemingly insignificant acts of kindness one becomes a serviceable and helpful member of his community.

By slowly mastering life's little tasks we learn to handle his biggest problems. As an old Chinese proverb puts it, "The man who removed the mountain was he who began carrying away the small stones."

Gradualism is bare or blessing, depending upon the goals toward which we are moving.

Reveal Marriage Of Alissa Mattson To Earl F. Bowers

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Stucker have received announcement of the recent wedding of their son, Earl F. Bowers M-3 whose base is Long Beach, Calif.

He was married to Miss Alissa Mattson of San Francisco, March 16 in the home of the bride. After a honeymoon trip to Nevada the groom will leave on a six-months cruise and the bride will remain in San Francisco where she is employed. After Earl's discharge next February, they will go to Midland where Earl will return to his work at Dow Chemical Co.

Cadillac

The Choice That is Never Challenged!

Drive a Cadillac over any period of time you wish—and the odds are that no one will ever question your choice of a motor car.

For almost everyone understands the instincts that lead a man to Cadillac. Rare is the motorist, in fact, who does not have his own heart set on the "car of cars".

Certainly, this is as it should be. For Cadillac's virtues are simply too numerous to be overlooked—and too apparent to be misunderstood.

Who, for instance, could behold a new Cadillac and not proclaim it the most beautiful and majestic of automobiles?

Who could ride in a new Cadillac and not recognize its extraordinary luxury and comfort?

Who could drive a new Cadillac and not pronounce it the crowning achievement of automotive engineering?

And who—knowing of Cadillac's many economies of ownership could fail to recognize it as the finest investment in all motordom?

Indeed, the reasons for choosing Cadillac are as valid as they are numerous—and we urge you to visit your dealer at your first opportunity and discover all of them for yourself.

Why not spend an hour at the wheel—and select your favorite Cadillac model as your own?

You can rest assured—the whole world will approve your choice!

"Doing Something With Jesus"

Harold E. Kohn, preaching at 11:00 a. m.

If you now regularly attend another church in our town, this notice is but a neighborly greeting and wish that you and your church may prosper. If you do not already have a church home, it is an invitation to attend Charlevoix's Congregational Church next Sunday.

Growing Elk Herd

These three scenes, taken by Conservation Department photographer Robert Harrington northeast of Vanderbilt, show a few individuals in Michigan's prospering elk herd. The herd started from a few animals released in Pigeon River state forest more than 30 years ago and today numbers about 600.

The elk, most stately member of the deer family, has made an impressive and interesting "comeback" in Michigan. Heavy hunting and loss of natural habitat destroyed native elk in the state long ago, but re-introduction of a few animals less than 40 years ago created a herd that now number more than 600 elk.

In 1918, seven elk were brought in from Jackson Hole region of Wyoming and released in Pigeon River state forest near Vanderbilt. This small herd multiplied and spread into surrounding areas, although the main concentrations are still in Otsego county.

The animals are protected from hunting, but a few are shot by inexperienced hunters who mistake the elk for deer. The veteran deer hunter, however, recognizes the difference easily because of the elk's size. An adult elk may weigh as much as 700 pounds—twice the weight of the biggest buck deer.

Railroad locomotives can present a problem for elk because the animals occasionally challenge an oncoming train and end up second-best in the battle. Just a year ago, five Michigan elk were killed by trains during a one-week period.

The elk herd continues to expand because the animals enjoy a diversified diet and have no enemies other than man. The "wapiti" feeds on grass, moss and other small vegetation as well as leaves, twigs and bark of hardwood trees.

Like moose, elk thrive only in more remote areas, far from the heavy inroads of civilization. It is doubtful if Michigan's elk herd will ever reach hunting proportions, but the animals provide plenty of enjoyment for photographers, tourists and naturalists.

Churches Announce Easter Service Plans

As the solemn days of the Lenten season draw to a close with the observance of Good Friday, the Christian world prepares for the glorious anniversary of Easter.

From altars and pulpits throughout the world, the ageless message delivered by the angel at the tomb of Christ, "He is Risen. He is not here; behold the place where they lay Him" will again be the theme of the sermons of priests and ministers as they relate the story of the Resurrection and choirs raise their voices in Alleluia in praise of Christ the Lord.

In Charlevoix, many churches have planned special services for the last days of Lent and all churches will feature special Easter services on Sunday.

First Methodist Church

Holy Week services at the First Methodist church will begin with a Holy Communion service in remembrance of the Lord's Last Supper at 8 p. m. Maundy Thursday.

On Friday, the Methodist church will cooperate in the union service at the Assembly of God church from 1 to 3 p. m.

Easter will begin with a Sunrise Service at 6:30 a. m. with the Youth Fellowship in charge. A breakfast for youths will follow at the First Congregational church.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schloop has chosen for the theme of his sermon for the 11 a. m. worship service "New Strength and Vitality for You". Mrs. Bradley N. Stanton at the organ and Mrs. James Brant at the piano will play the prelude, Haydn's "The Heavens are Telling" and the postlude "Alleluia" by Lorenz.

The choir, directed by Mrs. Lee McFarland, will sing the anthem "I know that my Redeemer liveth" from the "Messiah".

Bethany Lutheran Church

A special Good Friday service will be held at the Bethany Lutheran church beginning at 1 p. m. In this service the Crucifixion and death of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, will be considered.

The resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead will be commemorated in the Easter service at 8:45 a. m. Sunday by the Rev. R. A. Essig, pastor of the church.

Holy Communion will be celebrated in this special Easter service.

The Holy Thursday Communion service will be at 8 p. m. in the church sanctuary. The observance of Holy Week are among the most meaningful of all Christian holy days. Originally they were the days when the disciples were with Jesus. In announcing the Holy Week services, the Rev. Kenneth Mitchell said that it seems appropriate on Holy Thursday, the night on which Jesus ate and drank the Last Supper with his disciples, that we join together and capture for ourselves the meaning of this fellowship with Christ. We will, therefore, celebrate "An Upper Room".

Communion service, a service in which we will actually gather around the Communion Table in order to draw closer to one another and to Christ by endeavoring to relive more vividly that fellowship with Him.

The pastor's class will be received into the membership of the church. Those who are joining the fellowship of the church are Douglas Burgess and Bruce Kroll.

The Easter morning worship service will be at 10 a. m. and Sunday school at 11:15 a. m. The Rev. Mr. Mitchell will preach on the sermon entitled "The Meaning of Victory". Mrs. Wayne Saunders, the pianist will play three piano selections to add to the beauty and meaning of this service. They are "Prayer" by Armstrong, "The Village Chapel", Hopkins and "Postludium", Armstrong.

Assembly of God Church

The traditional theme of the Resurrection will be found in all the services at the Assembly of God church on Easter.

The Sunday school at 10 a. m. will have for its lesson "The Risen Christ" based on the two scripture portions, Matthew 28:1-9 and the Acts 5:29-32.

At the 11 a. m. worship service there will be special music to highlight the theme the Rev. T. B. Thodeson, pastor, has chosen to speak on: The Triumph of the Resurrection.

The evening service at 8 p. m. will point out the personal aspect of the Resurrection to the individual.

Churches Plan Good Friday Union Service

Good Friday will be observed at a Union Service at the Assembly of God church from 1 to 3 p. m. tomorrow (Friday), held under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Ministerial association.

The meditations will be on the "Seven Sayings of Christ" while He hung on Calvary's Cross. Each meditation will be preceded by a special hymn and prayer.

The service will begin with the singing of the hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross". Bradley N. Stanton will give the call to worship and read responsively a reading entitled "The Crucifixion". A solo by Mrs. Charles J. Pontius will follow.

The first meditation, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do" will be given by the Rev. Kenneth Mitchell of the Ironton Congregational church. The pastor of the host church, the Rev. T. B. Thodeson, will present the second meditation, "Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise" followed by the Rev. Wilson Rinker of the Barnard Reformed church whose meditation will be on the third saying of Jesus, "Woman, behold thy son?" and "Behold thy mother".

This will complete the first hour of worship. At this time, Clarence Way will sing "The Crown of Thorns".

The fourth meditation, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" will be given by the Rev. Lloyd M. Schloop of the First Methodist church. The meditation of the Rev. George L. Majors of the Community Church of God will be the fifth saying of the suffering Savior, "I thirst".

The sixth meditation, "It is finished" will be given by the Rev. Harold E. Hanson of the First Congregational church with the Rev. O. B. Ansted of the First Baptist church presenting the meditation on the final words of Christ on the cross, "Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit". A choral group from the Baptist church will sing a postlude to the meditation entitled "Alone".

The Rev. Majors, president of the sponsoring organization, will give the benediction.

Accompanist will be Mrs. Thodeson and Mrs. Herbert Hamlin at the piano and Paul Louiselle and Mrs. John L. Boss at the organ.

Worshippers of all faiths are invited to attend all or parts of this union service. All business places will be closed from 1 to 3 p. m.

Wood Brothers Announces Sale Of Hardware Business

D. H. Wood (left) and Clarence F. Wood who this week announced the sale of their business, Wood Bros. Hardware, which they have operated on Bridge st. for 42 years. They are pictured with the "Old Mill" which has become the trademark of the business through the years.

One of Charlevoix's oldest businesses, Wood Bros. Hardware, located at 403 Bridge st., has been sold to two Lansing men, Max Hosmer and Ray Reynolds. D. H. Wood and Clarence F. Wood who have operated the business for 42 years, have announced.

The new owners arrived this week from Lansing to assume operation of the business.

The sale of the business marks the end of the business era that started back in 1915 when the two brothers opened an electrical shop. Prior to that time, the senior member of the firm, D. H. Wood had been employed by the city as an electrician. At that time the city was in the electrical business and wired all homes when residents of the community decided to turn to electricity. When the city decided to go out of this business, Mr. Wood purchased it and opened his own shop. Later, his brother, Clarence who had been studying engineering in Chicago returned to Charlevoix to join him in a business which has borne their name for nearly half a century.

At that time they dealt solely in electrical wiring and repair and their shop was located at 411 Bridge st. in the building now occupied by the Toy and Hobby Harbor. In 1918 they moved to their present site and in 1922 added hardware items to their stock.

Both agree that the line of hardware has changed drastically through the years. Both recall when cast iron coal and wood ranges rarely seen today were standard stock and it took a corps of workmen to move the stoves because they were so heavy. Paints are another thing that changed. Time was, they relate when one had a choice of perhaps eight colors while today there are a myriad of colors to choose from.

After the coal and wood range came the more modern kerosene stove which is also a thing of the past as are flat irons and the first toasters. Today everything is automatic and the things we stocked when we first entered business are considered museum pieces, they added.

Heading the action taken by the council was the approval of a revenue bond issue of $52,000.00 to finance the cost of water main improvement in the city. This will include a trunk line water main to the south side.

Mr. Odmark and the chaperones were well pleased with the conduct of the band downstairs. "Everyone acted like ladies and gentlemen and Charlevoix should be very proud of its youth," was the comment of the management of the Porter hotel where the group was housed Friday night.

The trip was sponsored jointly by the Board of Education and the Charlevoix Band Parents association. Everyone in the band is grateful for the support the community has given the band and put in a fervent, "We had a wonderful time."

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Did you meet the deadline? ... Noticed a lot of sleepy-eyed people Tuesday they must have been burning the midnight oil.

Like the birds that migrate north was the season, all our people are returning home. Every day there are new arrivals flaunting the most beautiful tans and looking so sun-kissed.

Did you ever hear of such a thing? A coal boat being trapped in the ice of Lake Charlevoix as late as April 14. That's exactly what happened when the E. G. Matcott, loaded with coal for Advance, started up the lake on Sunday and ran into heavy ice off Lake's point.

Last week we mentioned the fire in the old courthouse which is all too quickly become a pile of rubble. Our good friend Fred Carlie, called us to say it was back around 1906 or '07.

While Mr. Carlie was telling us of the courthouse fire, he also mentioned a couple other bad fires caused by lightning.

Here's something we'd like an answer to. Why is Bridge st., Michigan ave., after it crosses the river, called Bridge st.?

Could it be that the men of our fair city just aren't as well-groomed as they were back in 1940? We couldn't help but wonder when Mrs. Leo Allard called to our attention the fact that in that year there were seven barber-shops in Charlevoix while today there are only two.

Had your casting net out to see if it's in working order? It won't be long til the trout season will open.

If you've any usable musical instruments around, we mean the kind you can tote around (not a player piano or an organ), we know where you can send them.

More about Main st. A letter from Will E. Hampton Sr., former editor of the Courier who now lives in Dearborn. He writes that he doesn't think Park ave., was ever Main st.

Mrs. Rosa Nettleton, however, sent us some information on the history of Charlevoix which refutes that.

Reprints from the Florida Visitor and Hotel Guest Book, a slick recent bulletin which appears in all resorts in the south, brings the news that no one will be surprised about the fact that our own Lila McFarland who operates the Parkside here in the summer, has made a name for herself in the south.

Barb has become a haven for both professional and amateur artists. The art work is displayed in the Easel Lounge.

What Christ and the Church Mean To Me

by Herb Hamlin
Member of the Church of God

Christ and the Church mean everything to me. After I accepted Christ as my personal Savior, life became worth while and meaningful.

From the time I was very young I was made to go to Sunday School, Sunday morning worship service, young peoples meeting, Sunday evening church, and prayer meeting. Snow, cold, sleet, rain or shine, Mother, Sister and I seldom ever missed a meeting at church. We had no car so we walked about 12 blocks, taking about 30 minutes. While I was young I thought this was a lot of church and some what wasted time. However Proverbs 22:6 tells us "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old, he will not depart from it."

I am thankful I had a Christian mother and for the opportunity of attending a church where Christ and salvation are preached.

I accepted Christ as my personal Savior while I was young, but had difficulty in completely giving up worldly pleasures and those so called little sins. In the past few years life has been wonderful, Christian fellowship has become priceless, and knowing for certain that my sins have been forgiven and that Christ has for me an eternal home and reward give me a joy unspeakable and unexplainable, found only by personal experience.

Since I have put Christ and the church first in my life and material things second, my life has been full, peaceful, harmonious, and worth while. Taking part in the many activities of the church, and working with children as their teacher, superintendent, and leader I feel I am doing what God has commissioned me to do.

Like the words of that song, "I may be little that I can do, Nor may I have much to say; But in that little I mean to be true, And do what I can today."

Christ and the church mean everything to me, and my prayer is that I may help someone to find Christ while there is yet time. LORD! Not my will but thine be done.

Priceless Fashion

Fashion is like friendship—it wears no price tag and can not be bought. Clothes are one thing—taste, another. The "fashion difference" between one woman's $500.00 and another woman's $500.00, on the taste basis, can be simply a zero.

Clothes should accentuate personality. Build up the good points, play down the less good. Clothes are just clothes if they don't stress personality. Better they should hang on a store rack than on you.

So relax—if you can't find purse and shoes to match. It's more fashionable if they aren't perfectly matched.

Put to blend—that's something different again.

Personal service is what we strive for at Fays. May we help you plan and prepare for this season of thankfulness?

DAILY ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary
By Harold E. Kohn

Some Essentials

April 15th—

It is always easy to believe that one's specialty is life's highest good.

The French critic once said, "Most friends of the truth love it as Frederick the Great loved music. It used to be said of him that, strictly speaking, he was not fond of music but of the flute, and not indeed fond of the flute, but of HIS flute." In numberless ways our minds work like that of Frederick the Great. We do not so much believe in political parties as in "MY" political party, not so much in religion as in "MY" religion, not so much in churches as in "MY" church, nor so much in truth-seeking as in defending "MY" little segment of the truth as the whole truth.

Whatever we look upon steadily can grow to an all-encompassing importance in our minds. For example, this evening I have been reflecting upon the importance of rocks until, if I would allow it, rocks would assume cosmic importance and seem to be the essence from which all life stems. This contemplation began as I looked out my study window toward the bay and saw that the lowering water level of Lake Charlevoix has uncovered still more rocks along the shore. Rocks have always been there, as long as human memory can recall, but just now the shore seems unusually lumpy with water-eroded stones.

A few yards further down the beach rocks have been ground to fine sand by the weathering of the ages, and prismatic boulders and playful waves have piled the sands in long rippling rows. Still farther in the distance lies our town—built upon a thin coverlet of soil laid over rock. And beyond Charlevoix rest the rolling hills made of rock with a sprinkling of soil upon them and mighty Lake Michigan, stored in an immense stone cup.

A geologist can make a good case for rocks being the backbone of our earth and all life here. He asks, "What is our earth but one gigantic ball of rock, molten at the center and hard on the outside?" The soil from which our food-plants grow are decayed or weathered rock, mixed with a bit of decayed animal matter. Plants get their food from this source, food that is held in by moisture in the soil. Animals, including human beings, eat the plants, assimilating the earth's minerals which were once absorbed by the plants. Those animals, like cougars, that eat nearly nothing but meat receive their necessary quota of minerals from the earth, for they devour animals, like deer, sheep, and rabbits, which are plant eaters. When we see that all human life and animal life depend, directly or indirectly, on plant life, and plant life depends upon the soil, and soil depends upon the rocks from which it is worn or dissolved, we can understand why the geologist looks upon rocks as one of life's basic essentials. And we realize that man's first tools were made of stone, and that our present-day civilization is symbolized by skyscrapers and paved roads made of concrete (made of stone) and that stone is used in hundreds of everyday conveniences from grinders and knife-sharpeners to tooth powder; we are inclined to agree with the geologist.

The enthusiastic chemist, too, is one who is apt to love HIS truth, to see the world as essentially one vast chemical laboratory. He will inform you that chemistry, the study of the composition of matter, gets to the heart of things. Matter, he will say, is anything which has mass or weight and which occupies space. That includes nearly everything from the distant sun to the air you breathe and the nature of your own body. With the aid of astronomical instruments chemists have analyzed the composition of the sun and with weights and measurements have reduced the chemical composition of the human body to the following ingredients:

- Enough water (hydrogen and oxygen) to fill a ten gallon can
- Enough fat to manufacture seven bars of soap
- Carbon enough to make nine thousand lead pencils
- Iron for two nails
- Enough phosphorus for two thousand, two hundred matches
- Enough lime to whitewash a good size chicken coop
- Mere sprinklings of several other chemicals such as magnesium, potassium, sodium and sulphur

And what of the rocks which lie on the lake's edge and form the hills and the earth's core? The chemist says they are his business too, since they have mass and weight and occupy space.

To the chemist all life is apt to be seen as essentially chemical composition and chemical reaction. To the geologist life stems from the rock. Yet, to the person unversed in geology and chemistry neither of these aspects of our world seem to be so fundamental.

Being neither a geologist nor a chemist, I am not apt to see the world's basic essentials as rocks or chemical components. But like everyone else I am sure to regard something as fundamental, and to me the essence of life is spiritual. Before there was a material universe here there was a Spirit to plan and to fashion it. Spirit is first and last, undergirding and pervading all things, the ultimate Reality upon which all else depends. My first principles, therefore, are spiritual in nature.

Reflecting for a few moments upon what I consider to be life's basic essentials, I find the following are among the most fundamental (although I do not list them in order of their importance):

- To live in such a way as to have nothing I wish to hide from God or man
- To be tough with myself and tender with others
- To face unpleasant facts unflinchingly
- To live mankind all-inclusively
- To have the eyes and mind of Christ—seeing the glory in commonplace things and "ordinary" people
- To be tolerant of others' religious and philosophical positions, knowing we may share the same experiences without having the same explanations of them
- To live above minimums, doing more for the world than is demanded of me
- To seek always the happiness and welfare of the greatest number
- To reflect well on what I am going to say rather than regret what I have said
- To work for high purposes rather than mainly for money
- To sacrifice wholeheartedly for those things in which I believe
- To work hard in the knowledge that achievement comes from perspiration as well as inspiration
- To attend to the little things, knowing the big things depend upon the little ones
- To live gratefully without grumbling complaint
- To use the material things of my life for great purposes, being ever aware that the things temporal are ennobled by their participation in things eternal
- To accept criticism graciously, knowing that if it is false it can do me no lasting harm, and if true it will forward me against future failure
- To live at an unhurried pace, remembering that haste and spiritual culture are sworn enemies
- To make the most of the time God grants me here and to make the most of the place where I spend that time
- To keep my purposes simple and my mind uncluttered and well organized
- To think of, believe in, and live by mighty themes
- To have the courage to conform to nothing save the pattern I believe the Almighty has in mind for me
- To put manhood first, preferring to be a good man before being a good minister, or good writer, or artist or even a good husband and father, remembering that even God had to make man before He could make him into the head of a family or a craftsman or a professional or a Christian
- To be humble, recognizing that what I do not know transcends what I know, that I am not a source of good but a channel through which it can flow and that I am always dispensable, and that the world can very well get along without me (and someday will)
- To seek constantly for more mind-stretching, soul-enlarging information about the universe and its Creator
- To see the world and its people in terms of what they are capable of becoming and to be fully committed to help fulfill those possibilities
- To live out of an abundance of spiritual resources, to be an ardent sort of a person with wells of strength beyond my own needs so that others can refresh themselves from my supply
- To pay rent for the space allowed me while on earth by making the world a bit better because I have been here
- To spend my life doing something that will outlast it
- To be so linked with the Eternal, who is bigger than myself and more important than my own fortunes so that what happens to me will seem of minor moment, and what happens to His Cause of major importance
- When I have done my best to leave the outcome in God's capable hands.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance was adopted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, at its regular meeting held on April 15, 1957:

ORDINANCE NO. 271

AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE ACQUISITION AND CONSTRUCTION OF ADDITIONS, EXTENSIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS TO THE WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF REVENUE BONDS TO PAY THE COST THEREOF PURSUANT TO THE PROVISIONS OF ACT 94, PUBLIC ACTS OF MICHIGAN, 1933, AS AMENDED; TO PROVIDE FOR THE FIXING, COLLECTION, SEGREGATION AND DISPOSITION OF THE REVENUES OF SAID WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM AND PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS OUT OF THE REVENUES THEREOF; AND CREATING A STATUTORY LIEN ON SAID REVENUES.

THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX ORDAINS:

Section 1. It is hereby determined to be necessary for the public health and welfare of the City of Charlevoix to acquire and construct additions, extensions and improvements to the Water Supply System of the City, consisting of 5,750 feet of additional ten inch trunk water mains and small amount of smaller water mains together with appurtenances and attachments thereto.

Section 2. The plans, specifications and estimates of cost of such additions, extensions and improvements, prepared by McNamee, Porter and Seelye, engineers of Ann Arbor, Michigan, are hereby approved, and the total cost thereof, including engineering, legal, financing and incidental expenses, is estimated to be Fifty Two Thousand ($52,000.00) Dollars, and the period of usefulness of said additions, extensions and improvements is estimated to be not less than forty (40) years.

Section 3. To pay the cost of acquiring and constructing said additions, extensions and improvements, including payment of engineering, legal, financing and incidental expenses, it is hereby determined that the City of Charlevoix shall borrow the sum of Fifty Two Thousand ($52,000.00) Dollars and that revenue bonds of the City be issued therefor, under the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, which said bonds are sometimes referred to in this Ordinance as "the bonds".

Wherever the words "the System" or "a System" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be construed to mean the complete Water Supply System of the City of Charlevoix, including, but not by way of limitation, (a) all existing water mains and all works, instrumentalities and properties used or useful in the obtaining of a water supply or the distribution of water; (b) the additions, extensions and improvements to be constructed under the provisions of this Ordinance; and (c) all additions, extensions and improvements thereto acquired or constructed in the future.

Wherever the word "project" is used in this Ordinance, it shall be understood to mean the additions, extensions and improvements to the System constructed under the provisions of this Ordinance.

Wherever the words "revenues" and "net revenues" are used in this Ordinance, they shall be understood to have the meaning as defined in Section 3, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 4. Said bonds shall be designated WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS, and shall be not general obligations of the City of Charlevoix, but revenue bonds, payable out of the net revenues of the System, and shall consist of 52 bonds of the denominations of $1,000.00 each, dated as of June 1, 1957, numbered and maturing as follows:

Bond No.	Principal Amount	Maturity Date
Inclusive
1-5	$5,000.00	March 1, 1959
6-10	5,000.00	March 1, 1960
11-15	5,000.00	March 1, 1961
16-20	5,000.00	March 1, 1962
21-25	5,000.00	March 1, 1963
26-30	5,000.00	March 1, 1964
31-35	5,000.00	March 1, 1965
36-40	5,000.00	March 1, 1966
41-45	5,000.00	March 1, 1967
46-52	7,000.00	March 1, 1968

Said bonds shall bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, payable on March 1, 1958, and semi-annually thereafter on September 1st and March 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

Bonds of this issue numbered 1 to 20, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1959 to 1962, both inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds numbered 21 to 52, both inclusive, maturing in the years 1963 to 1968, both inclusive, will be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after March 1, 1962.

Bonds called for redemption shall be called at par and accrued interest, plus a premium as follows:

$30.00 on each bond called for redemption prior to March 1, 1964; $20.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after March 1, 1964, but prior March 1, 1966; $10.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after March 1, 1966. Thirty days' notice of the call of any bonds for redemption shall be given by publication in a paper circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds, and, in case of registered bonds, thirty days' notice shall be given by mail to the registered address. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem said bonds.

Said bonds may be registered as principal only on the books kept by the City Treasurer in the manner and with the effect set forth on the face thereof, as hereinafter provided.

Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the City Clerk and shall have the corporate seal of the City impressed thereon, and shall have interest coupons attached bearing the facsimile signatures of said Mayor and City Clerk.

Section 5. Said bonds and the attached coupons shall not be a general obligation or indebtedness of the City of Charlevoix, but shall be payable solely from the net revenues derived from the operation of the System and to secure such payment there is hereby created a statutory first lien upon the whole of the net revenues of said System, to continue until the payment in full of the principal and interest on said bonds.

Section 6. The holder or holders of said bonds or coupons representing the aggregate not less than twenty per cent (20%) of the entire issue then outstanding may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceedings, protect and enforce the statutory first lien upon the revenues of said System and may, by suit, action, mandamus, or other proceedings, enforce and compel performance of all duties of the officers of the City of Charlevoix, including the fixing of sufficient rates, the collection of revenues, the proper segregation of the revenues of the System, and the proper application thereof. Provided, However, that the statutory lien upon said revenues shall not be construed to compel the sale of the System or any part thereof.

If there be any default in the payment of the principal or interest upon any of said bonds, any court having jurisdiction in any proper action may appoint a receiver to administer and operate said System on behalf of the City, and under the direction of said court, and by and with the approval of said court to perform all of the duties of the officers of said City, more particularly set forth herein and in Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

The holder or holders of any such bonds or any coupons therefrom shall have all other rights and remedies given by said Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, for the collection and enforcement of said bonds and the security therefor.

Section 7. The construction, alteration, repair and management of the System shall be under the supervision and control of the City Council of the City of Charlevoix. The City Council may appoint and designate a board, commission, or officer to operate and manage the System, and may employ such person or persons in such capacity or capacities as it deems advisable to carry on the efficient management and operation of the System. The City Council may make such rules, orders and regulations as it deems advisable and necessary to assure the efficient management and operation of the System.

Section 8. The rates to be charged for water service furnished by the System until May 1, 1957, shall be those presently in effect in the City. Commencing May 1, 1957, the schedule of rates shall be as follows:

Consumption Rates
First 2,000 gallons per month or any part thereof—$1.00 minimum

Next 48,000 gallons per month—$4.00 per 1,000 gallons
Next 50,000 gallons per month—$3.00 per 1,000 gallons
Next 100,000 gallons per month—$2.00 per 1,000 gallons
All over 200,000 gallons per month—$1.00 per 1,000 gallons
The above consumption rate shall be doubled for residential water customers located outside the City limits.

Connection Charges
Charges for connections to the System for three-quarters (3/4) inch or smaller connections shall be $75.00. Larger size connections shall be charged a connection charge equal to the actual cost of labor and material.

Deposit
A cash deposit of $10.00 as security for payment of water rates in such cases as the City Council shall deem such security to be advisable, or in such cases where a deposit is required by the provisions of Section 21, of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Billing
All bills shall be rendered to users on a monthly basis and said bills shall show the amount due and, if not paid within fifteen (15) days after the date rendered, five per cent (5%) of the bill shall be added thereto as a penalty for failure to make prompt payment.

Enforcement
Charges for water services shall constitute a lien on the property served. On or before October 1st of each year, the officer in charge of collection of such charges shall deliver to the tax assessing officer a certified statement of all water charges then six (6) months past due and unpaid. The tax assessing officer shall then place such charges on the next general tax roll and the same shall be collected as part of the general City taxes.

The City shall have the right to shut off and discontinue the supply of water to any premises for the non-payment thereof when due of water rates and charges and said water shall not be turned on until all sums then due and owing shall be paid in full and a turn-on charge of $2.00 is paid.

Section 9. No free service shall be furnished by said System to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality.

Section 10. The initial rates hereby fixed are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for maintenance of the said System as are necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order, to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all the bonds as and when the same become due and payable, and the creation of the reserve fund required by this Ordinance, and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for said System as this Ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time as may be necessary to provide these amounts and it is hereby covenanted and agreed at all times to fix and maintain such rates for services furnished by the System as shall be sufficient to provide for the foregoing.

Section 11. The System shall be operated on the basis of an operating year beginning March 1st and ending on the last day of the following February.

Section 12. Beginning on May 1, 1957, the revenues of the System shall be set aside, as collected, and deposited in a separate depository account in the Charlevoix County State Bank, Charlevoix, Michigan, a bank duly qualified to do business in Michigan, in an account to be designated WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM RECEIVING FUND (hereinafter, for brevity, referred to as the "Receiving Fund"), and said revenues so deposited are pledged for the purpose of the following funds and shall be transferred from the Receiving Fund periodically in the manner and at the times herein-after specified.

(A) OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND
Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund there shall be first set aside, monthly, into a separate depository account designated OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND, a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the next month's current expenses of administration and operation of the System and such current expenses for maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order.

The City Council, prior to the commencement of each operating year shall adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for each year, and such total expenses shall not exceed the total amount specified in said budget, except by a vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the members of the City Council. There shall also be included in said budget all expenditures to be made from the Replacement Fund and the Improvement Fund.

(B) BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a separate depository account designated BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND, the moneys on deposit therein from time to time to be used solely for the purpose of paying the principal of and interest upon the bonds hereby authorized. The moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account hereinafter established) shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company where the principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized are currently payable.

Out of the revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund after provision has been made for the expenses of operation and maintenance of the System there shall be set aside, monthly, in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest upon all outstanding bonds payable from the revenues of the System, as and when the same become due and payable. Commencing June 1, 1957, and until March 1, 1958, the amount so set aside for interest each month shall be not less than one-ninth (1/9) of the total amount of interest maturing on March 1, 1958, and commencing March 1, 1958, the amount so set aside for interest each month during the first six (6) months of each operating year shall be not less than six-sixths (1/6) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following September 1st, and each month during the last six (6) months of each operating year shall be not less than one-sixth (1/6) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following March 1st. Commencing March 1, 1958, the amount so set aside for principal each month during each operating year shall be not less than one-twelfth (1/12) of the principal maturing on the following March 1st. If there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously required to be set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirements.

There is hereby established in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund a separate account to be known as the Bond Reserve Account, into which account there shall be deposited, after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund and current requirements of the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, in equal monthly installments, commencing June 1, 1957, the sum of Three Thousand ($3,000.00) Dollars during each of the operating years commencing March 1, 1957, to March 1, 1959, both inclusive, so that by the close of said operating year beginning March 1, 1959, said Bond Reserve Account will total the sum of Nine Thousand ($9,000.00) Dollars. Moneys in said Bond Reserve Account shall be used solely for the payment of principal and interest on said bonds, if necessary. If, at any time, it shall be necessary to use moneys in the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys in the Bond Reserve Account for such payment, then the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues first received thereafter which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for operation and maintenance or for current principal and interest requirements. Provided, However, that such Bond Reserve Account shall not be regarded as moneys otherwise appropriated or pledged for the purpose of determining the sufficiency of funds available for redemption of callable bonds.

No further payments need be made into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund after enough of the bonds have been retired so that the amount then held in said Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) is equal to the entire amount of principal and interest which will be payable at the time of maturity of all the bonds then remaining outstanding.

(C) REPLACEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a separate depository account designated REPLACEMENT FUND, which shall be used solely for the purpose of making major repairs and replacements to the System, if needed. There shall be deposited into said fund, after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund and the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) during each of the operating years commencing March 1, 1958, to March 1, 1962, both inclusive, so that the sum in said Replacement Fund shall total Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) by the close of the operating year beginning March 1, 1962. Deposits into said fund as above required shall be in equal monthly installments during each operating year. If, at any time, it shall be necessary to use moneys in said fund for the purpose for which it was established, the moneys so used shall be replaced from the net revenues in the Receiving Fund which are not required by this Ordinance to be used for the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account).

(D) IMPROVEMENT FUND
There shall next be established and maintained a separate depository account designated IMPROVEMENT FUND, the moneys on hand therein from time to time to be used for the purpose of acquiring additions, extensions and improvements to the System. There shall be deposited in said Fund each month after providing for all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), and the Replacement Fund, such moneys as the City Council shall deem to be necessary for making additions, extensions and improvements to the System.

(E) SURPLUS MONIES
Any revenues remaining in the Receiving Fund in any operating year after meeting all requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), the Replacement Fund and the Improvement Fund, shall be deemed to be surplus and may, at the discretion of the City Council, be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund for the purpose of calling bonds herein authorized, or transferred into the Improvement Fund. Provided, However, if the City shall be in default in setting aside moneys in the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account) or the Replacement Fund, such default shall be cured prior to use of such surplus for any other purpose.

Section 13. From funds of the System on hand as of May 1, 1957, there shall first be transferred to the Operation and Maintenance Fund established by this Ordinance a sum sufficient, to meet Operation and Maintenance expenses for the month of May, 1957. The balance of the fund on hand May 1, 1957, and not appropriated for other purposes shall be transferred to the Receiving Fund established by this Ordinance and shall be subject to the provisions of this Ordinance relative to the use thereof.

Section 14. In the event the moneys in the Receiving Fund are insufficient to provide for the current requirements of the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, any moneys and/or securities in other funds of the System shall be transferred, first, to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, and, second, to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund to the extent of any deficiency therefor.

Section 15. Moneys in the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund over and above those being accumulated for the payment of principal and interest next maturing, moneys derived from the proceeds of sale of the bonds, and moneys in any other fund except the Receiving Fund and the Operation and Maintenance Fund, may be invested in obligations of the United States of America. In the event such investments are made, the securities representing the same shall be kept on deposit with the bank or trust company having on deposit the fund or funds from which such purchase was made. Income received from such investments shall be credited to the fund from which said investments were made.

Section 16. Said bonds shall be sold and the proceeds applied in accordance with the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended.

Section 17. The proceeds of sale of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall be deposited in the Charlevoix County State Bank, Charlevoix, Michigan, a bank insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in a separate depository account, and therefrom shall first be transferred to the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund the amount of premium and accrued interest paid, if any, and the balance of such proceeds shall be applied solely in payment of the cost of the project hereinafter described and any engineering, legal and other expenses incident thereto and to the financing thereof. Payments for construction, either on account or otherwise, shall not be made unless the registered engineer in charge of such work shall file with the City Council a signed statement to the effect that the work has been completed in accordance with the plans and specifications thereof; that it was done pursuant to and in accordance with the contract therefore, and that such work is entirely satisfactory.

Any unexpended balance of the proceeds of sale remaining after completion of the project herein authorized may, in the discretion of the City Council, and to the extent of Fifteen (15%) per cent of the amount of bonds herein authorized, be used for further improvements, enlargements and extensions to the System, provided that at the time of such expenditures, such use be approved by the Municipal Finance Commission. Any remaining balance after such expenditure shall be paid into the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund and shall be used for the redemption of callable bonds, or prior to the first call date only, purchasing bonds on the open market at not more than the fair market value thereof, and at a price in any event not exceeding the first call price.

Section 18. The City of Charlevoix covenants and agrees with the successive holders of the bonds and coupons that so long as any of the bonds remain outstanding and unpaid as to either principal or interest—
(a) The City of Charlevoix will maintain the System in good repair and working order and will operate the same efficiently, and will faithfully and punctually perform all duties with reference to the System required by the Constitution and laws of the State of Michigan, including the making and collecting of sufficient rates for water services rendered by the System, and the segregation and application of the revenues of the System in the manner provided in this Ordinance.
(b) The City will maintain and keep proper books of record and account, separate from all other records and accounts, in which shall be made full and correct entries of all transactions relating to the System. No later than three (3) months after the close of each operating year, the City Council will cause to be prepared, on forms furnished by the Municipal Finance Commission, if such forms be available, a statement in reasonable detail, sworn to by its chief accounting officer, showing the cash income and disbursements of the System during such operating year and such other information as may be necessary to enable any taxpayer of the City, user of the service furnished, or any holder or owner of the bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf, to be fully informed as to all matters pertaining to the financial operation of the System during such year. A certified copy of such statement shall be filed with the Municipal Finance Commission and such statement and books of record and account shall, at all reasonable times, be open to inspection by any taxpayer of the City, user of the service, or holder or owners of any bonds, or anyone acting in their behalf. The City Council will also cause an annual audit of such books of record and account for the preceding operating year to be made by a recognized independent certified public accountant within ninety (90) days from the close of such operating year. Said annual audit shall be in such reasonable detail as will present the full financial condition of the System to the holders of the bonds and shall include the auditor's comments on the manner in which the management of the System has complied with the provisions of this Ordinance relating to the setting aside of moneys in the several funds established by Section 12 of this Ordinance, the acquisition of insurance, and such other matters as an auditor might normally audit. A certified copy of such audit shall be sent each year to the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing the bonds herein authorized and the manager of the syndicate or account purchasing any bonds which may be hereafter authorized.

Section 19. The right is reserved, in accordance with the provision of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, to issue additional bonds payable from the revenues of the System, which shall be of equal standing with the bonds herein authorized but only for the following purposes and on the following conditions:

(a) To complete the project herein described in accordance with the plans and specifications thereof. Bonds shall not be authorized unless the engineer in charge of construction shall execute a certificate to the effect that additional funds are needed to complete the project in accordance with the plans and specifications thereof. If such certificate shall be so executed and filed, it shall be the duty of the City Council to provide for and issue additional revenue bonds in the amount stated in said Certificate to be necessary to complete the project in accordance with the plans and specifications.

(b) For extensions and improvements to the System. Provided, that no such additional bonds shall be issued unless the average annual net revenues for the two completed operating years next preceding the issuance of the additional bonds, or the net revenues for the immediately preceding operating year, whichever is lower, when supplemented by the net revenues estimated to accrue from the making of the extensions and improvements proposed and or from an increase in the water rates provided for in the Ordinance authorizing such additional bonds, are equal to per cent (150%) of the largest amount of combined principal and interest to fall due in any future operating year on any bonds then outstanding, payable from the revenues of the System and on the additional bonds so to be issued. As a condition precedent to the issuance of said bonds, a written estimate of the net revenues estimated to accrue from the proposed extensions and improvements and from the rate increases, concurred in and executed by such engineer as shall be designated by the City Council, and by the engineer of the Municipal Finance Commission (or in the event no such State officer or agent exists, an engineer selected by the Municipal Finance Commission or successor State agency having jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds), shall be filed with the City Clerk and the Municipal Finance Commission. Permission of the Municipal Finance Commission (or such other Commission as shall have jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof.

No additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued pursuant to the authorization contained in this Section if the City shall then be in default in making payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund, the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund (including the Bond Reserve Account), and the Replacement Fund.

Section 20. Said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

Episcopal Youth Correspond With Group In Haiti

Children of the church school of Christ Episcopal church here are presently enjoying an active correspondence with children of the same age in the Grace Merritt Stewart school in Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

The youngsters have exchanged information about themselves as well as pictures.

In a letter to Mrs. Edward Lemcke who teaches the class Sister Anne Marie S. S. M., has written that "these are tense days in Haiti with the political upset and we do need your prayers for a good outcome of the presidential election April 28. It has been hard on our children and we have noticed quite a reaction on their part here in school."

She went on to say that "the children are fundamentally happy despite their extreme poverty and lack of many of the essential material needs of life. In 1955 the estimated average income per family was $67.00. . . unbelievable but sadly true. There just isn't enough work for these people. Education is such a major problem now as only between 10 and 15 percent of the people are educated. They are most anxious to get an education and parents will make any sacrifice to see that their children get a chance to have one.

"Our country schools are very poor and inadequate but we hope to build them up as we can, making the standards higher. Trained teachers are one of our biggest problems, many of our people just do not have clothing or shoes to come to school or church."

"We have been trying hard to give the children a well-rounded program of education not common in most Haitian schools. Art, music, dancing, and dramatics seem to be their natural God-given talents and we are trying to develop these talents. We have a small orchestra with the few instruments which have been given us. If you should have any used instruments that you no longer need or want, we would be so glad to have them."

The local youngsters here, whose letters were written in French and translated by Mrs. Lemcke, are gathering instruments and other smaller items to send to the children in Haiti. If you have an musical instrument in good condition and would like to give them to this cause, call Mrs. Lemcke.

Erwin Belfy Honored At Dinner

Erwin E. Belfy Sr. (left) who has retired from the Michigan Conservation Department after serving 29 years, received a wish for "smooth sailing" from Emil Pischner, chief engineer aboard Patrol Boat No. 1 on which the pair have been ship-mates since 1938. Mr. Pischner is also a veteran employee of the law enforcement division with 27 years service to his credit.

Erwin E. Belfy Sr., a veteran member of the Law Enforcement Division of the Michigan Department of Conservation, has retired after serving 29 years with the department.

A dinner honoring Mr. Belfy on the occasion of his retirement and also on his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary was held at the Dilworth Hotel in Boyne City Thursday evening. Thirty members of the Gaylord chapter of the Michigan State Employees Association gathered for the event.

A highlight of the brief program which followed was the presentation of a scroll "to gratefully acknowledge service to the State of Michigan, performed in accordance with the highest standards of employee conduct in governmental affairs." Wayne Tennant, president of the Gaylord chapter, presented the scroll as well as a life membership in the organization.

Others who joined in paying tribute to the veteran employee were Harold Treat, regional supervisor at Roscommon, Charles A. Eagle, district supervisor at Gaylord, Ronald Bird, assistant regional supervisor at Roscommon, Capt. Charles J. Allers, supervisor of Patrol Boat No. 1 on which Mr. Belfy has served since 1938, Edward Starback of the Conservation Department at Boyne City, Vernon LaFreniere, assistant district supervisor at St. James. Mr. Belfy was also presented with several gifts from the group.

Mr. Belfy joined the law enforcement division of the Conservation at Escanaba in 1928. He served on the commercial fish patrol in the Green Bay area and when the depression came along he doubled as a game warden.

In 1939 he joined the crew of the Patrol Boat No. 1 which patrols the waters of the Great Lakes which border on Michigan. The duties of the crew of the patrol boat has been to keep an eye on commercial fishermen to see that they are operating within the law. In recent years he has witnessed the decline of commercial fishing to a mere shadow of its former position as one of the chief industries in the Great Lakes area. In regard to this, he feels that eventually the fish will return to the lakes. He said the fish are gone from most of the Great Lakes. This is the chief food for the lamprey eels. In addition this country and Canada have joined in a campaign to kill off the eels. In time they will become extinct and commercial fishing will again thrive in the lakes. It will take time, he added, but it will happen.

A native of Wisconsin where he was born April 11, 1892, he came to Marquette at the age of two years. He first came to northern Michigan aboard a sailing vessel operated by his father. On one of these trips he met his wife, the former Lenore Allers, who lived on Beaver Island. They were married and lived there before moving to the upper peninsula where he joined the Conservation Department. The family moved to Charlevoix in 1938 when he joined the crew of the patrol boat as assistant to Capt. Allers.

Now that Mr. Belfy has retired, he and Mrs. Belfy are making plans for a trip through the west this summer.

EVERYTHING YOU DO!

FROM THE MOMENT you awaken until you go to bed, almost everything you do is closely dependent upon the operation of trucks. In fact, even while you're asleep, trucks are working for you. (Beds arrive by truck, too, of course.)

Without trucks, your favorite food market would have empty shelves. Without trucks, you wouldn't find gas stations located conveniently almost everywhere you turn. Without trucks, the building of new homes, factories, and stores would slow to a walk and business of all kinds everywhere would suffer.

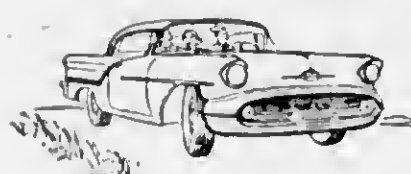

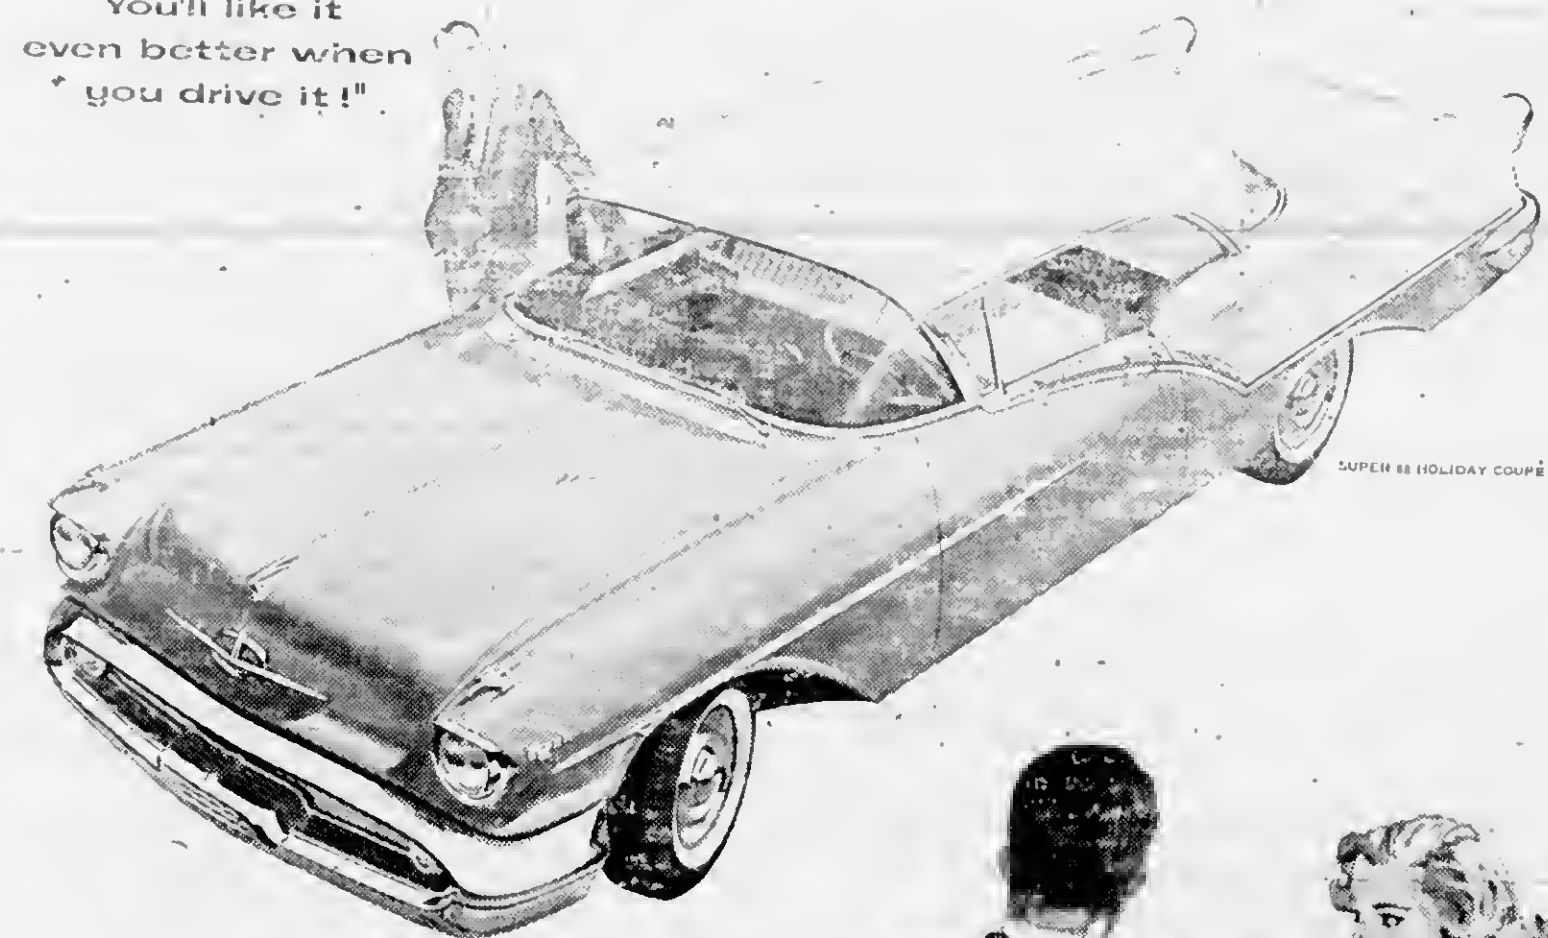

Sooner or later, everything you eat, wear, or use depends on trucks for transportation. Eventually, everything has to get to you—the consumer. So, when you consider that trucks haul three times the tonnage handled by all the other forms of transportation combined, you realize how very important they are to you!

"You'll like it even better when you drive it!"

Neighbor: Say, your new Olds sure looks like a lot of car!

Olds Owner: That's nothing, wait'll you take a ride.

(A few minutes later.)

Neighbor: Man-oh-man, where'd all that power come from? I've never felt anything like that before!

Olds Owner: That's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine!

Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works.

Olds Owner: When you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and two additional carburetors cut in!

Neighbor: In other words, with J-2, you can have economy when you want it and power when you need it. That's for me!

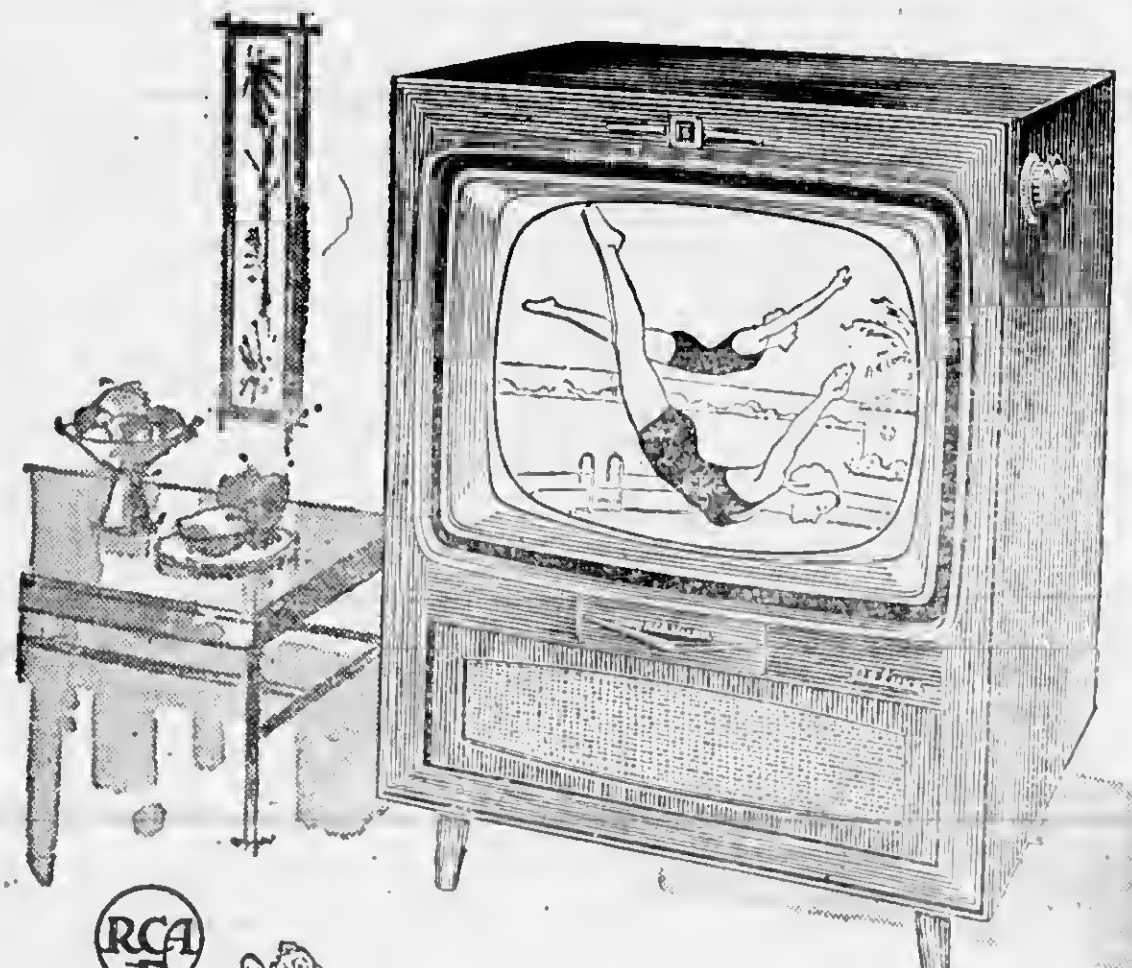

Olds Owner: Better see your Olds dealer. He's expecting you!

Evinrude Dealer Attends Factory Service School

Steve Rabb, Rt. 3, Charlevoix, Michigan has just returned from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he completed a two week factory service training program at Evinrude Motors, the world's oldest and largest manufacturer of outboard motors.

Rabb of Rabb's Flat El Rancho Resort, Rt. 3, Charlevoix, Mich., was one of nine representatives graduated from the Evinrude Service School on April 5, 1957.

The training program was devoted to techniques of service and maintenance of 1957 Evinrude outboard motors.

"For the first time every owner of an outboard boat can get a motor designed specifically to meet the power requirements of his hull," Rabb said. "Evinrude's nine motors, ranging from three to 35 horsepower, give the outboard enthusiast the key to balanced boat and motor operation."

"In addition," Rabb said, "the new motors are the easiest starting and the quietest ever marketed."

Speaker Exposes Carnival 'Gips' At Kiwanis Meeting

Lysle E. Johnston of East Jordan was the guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Kiwanis club held Monday at the high school cafeteria.

He gave a very interesting and enlightening talk on the subject "Beware, your gip is showing" or "Never give a sucker an even break". Mr. Johnston, who had made a study of the so-called "gip" games often seen at carnivals, told his audience how it was done and demonstrated the tactics used by the fast-talking promoters.

Fred Bancroft and Frank Bird who returned to the club recently after spending the winter elsewhere, were presented with 15-year perfect attendance pins.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Only another week and it will be May... Where has the year gone... anyone mind telling us? With Easter behind us, we can start planning for the summer... And let's hope that this one will be a good one...

A belated "well done" to our band... for its first division rating in state competition... And congratulations to the band members... for being such good kids on the trip... Which bears out our feeling about all youngsters... They're all good if you give them half a chance...

And speaking of the band... You'll have a chance to see them in action come May 8... when Charlevoix will be host to the annual missed band festival... There'll be 41 bands here on that day... with the usual parade plus the missed band concert in the evening... So mark it on the calendar... it's a date to remember...

Monday will be an important day for some of our young people... and it will be an important day for the people of Charlevoix too... for come Monday our fair city will be in their hands... City offices from the mayor right on down will be filled by these high school students... who were elected to their respective posts... Quite an experience and certainly a fine way for these citizens of tomorrow to learn how the city is run... Certainly they'll be better citizens as a result of the experience...

This sign in a local store caught our eye over the weekend... it appeared over a box containing several little rabbits... and read "Fresh bunnies for sale"...

With all the cold, snowy weather we've been having we didn't think they'd make it but they did... We mean the first spring flowers... Here and there we noticed a few brave daffodils nodding in the wind Saturday... and at the Baker residence on Mason st. there was a mass of purple flowers... they looked like crocuses... which certainly was a pretty sight after the winter... If the warm days we had Friday and Saturday continue, we'll be seeing lots of flowers and the leaves will be poppin' out all over...

And did you ever see the youngsters in our town pop out of their winter clothes as quickly as they did over the weekend... In our block where we have seeds of kids, they were dashing about in bare feet and swimming trunks all over...

Now that you're cleaning house, how's about stacking the good magazines away for the Boy Scouts... They're in the midst of a drive for magazines... to raise money for some much-needed equipment... So how's about tying the magazines with a stout cord and leaving them at Charlevoix Oil or call the Charlevoix Cleaners with your name and address and the boys will be happy to pick them up... It's a good way of discarding old magazines and you'll be helping a mighty fine bunch of boys in the bargain.

Have you noticed all the soap box derby racers making their appearance now that the weather's better... Earlier we had seen several in the making in the shop at school... and Saturday we saw a few more that looked as though they were ready to go... There are a lot of fine prizes being offered by the Kiwanis club so how's about getting started on your's right now... If you need some help check with Mr. Cook or Mr. Suomela at school...

BABY TALK

Births recorded at the Charlevoix hospital recently include:
A son, John Eldon, born to Mr. and Mrs. William Dunson of East Jordan April 16.

A son, Jeffrey Allan, born to Mr. and Mrs. William Baker April 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Draper of Cleveland are the parents of a son born April 19. Draper is the former Harriet Hooker, daughter of Harry Hooker and the late Mrs. Hooker.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ayrton of Saginaw announce the birth of a daughter, Rene Marie, on Apr. 8. Mrs. Ayrton is the former Marguerite Colburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryder.

Guild Notes...

When Easter Sunday rolled around, patients at the Charlevoix hospital received a surprise for on their breakfast trays were darling little napkin rings with Easter bunnies perched on top greeting them... and at dinner time each patient received either a boutonniere or a miniature corsage of fresh flowers which they immediately pinned to their hospital gowns.

The Brownie Scouts of troop 4 made the bunny napkin rings and Mrs. Ralph Hamilton's special holiday committee made the corsage and boutonnieres... Mrs. William Lusk designed the clever favors and Mrs. Hamilton, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sam Hamilton made them... They also arranged bouquets of fresh flowers in the dining rooms so "though everyone had to work they had a touch of Easter"...

If you've been a patient or a visitor there recently, you no doubt have noticed the clever arm bands now in use to identify Guild workers... Mrs. Alfred Brown who substituted as a library cart pusher Friday was the first to wear the new bands which carry the Guild monogram... They were designed by Mrs. Earl A. Young and made by Mrs. Wilson Baker... From now on when a Guild member is working at the hospital she will be identified by the band... A big thank you to Mrs. Brown and to Mrs. R. G. Bennett answering the call in an hour of need and substituting as pusher.

"Father Knows Best" To Present Mirthful Side Of Family Living

"Father Knows Best," a three-act comedy about the more light-hearted aspects of family life, will be presented at the Charlevoix high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday, May 3, by the Junior class.

The play adapted from the radio and television series by the same name is directed by Mrs. Lewis Corbridge, assisted by Mrs. Robert G. Martin.

The play tells the story of James Anderson, played by Edward O'Neill, who as the head of the family believes he knows what is best for his children.

It all starts when Father reads a news story of teen-age elopement and decides young people will be watching. His daughter, Betty, (Susan Duerr) has a date with a new boy-friend, Ralph (Larry Ingalls) and they plan to go dancing but Father calls off the plans and tells them they must spend the evening at home.

When the family complains he wants to know what's wrong with spending an evening at home. Nothing... but it seems that Bud (Larry Smith), Kathy (Ann Rafigan) and even Mother (Wanda Russell) have made plans to go out. Aggravated, Father puts his foot down... they'll all stay home. The results are not quite what he expects; in fact, the town's social life is suddenly centered in the Anderson household, with a Garden Club meeting in the living room, basketball in the basement and hide-and-seek all over the place.

Betty and Ralph find things so confusing they decide to escape. When Father discovers they're gone he believes they have eloped and calls the police. The search for the missing couple is on before Father discovers that Ralph is the son of an important client, Mr. Brinkworth (David Miles). Father tries to call the law off quickly but the indignant officer (Raymond Schultz) will have none of it. In fact, he pursues the trail with great zeal and drives Betty and Ralph, whom he has located in a distant soda fountain, in to face the parents of both.

The excitement and humorous complications grow, and then, in the final scene, Father discovers that while he may know best, the young people know a little too.

Nancy Juller, Madelyn Rabaca and Frances E. Martin in the role of the Garden club members who gather at the Anderson home for a meeting, Sue Meltride as Romana, and Lois Bergmann as Janie, Betty's friends, Ted Mason in the role of Bud's friend who comes to play basketball, Mary Ann Berg as Patty, Kathy's friend, Bob Mol, as the repairman and Kay Lewis as the police woman make this a comedy complete with unusual vitality, freshness and believability.

Tickets for the uproariously funny production may be purchased from members of the junior class. Curtain time is 8 p. m.

DAILY ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

By Harold E. Kohn

Monday—Displays of fly-fishing equipment in sports store windows and newspaper and magazine advertisements of the latest in rods and reels and lures give notice that trout season will open soon.

But fundamentally there will be little new about fishing this year. Fishermen will be drawn to brooks, rivers and lakes by the same, age-old enticement of pitting one's skills against a clever opponent, in this case the wily trout. The fish have not changed within the memory of man. The self-same race of swallows will skim over dancing waters, catching hatching aquatic insects from above while trout leap for them from below. And the fisherman will not have changed essentially, for while the passing years speedily alter the gadgets we use, the nature of man is much what it was when Isaac Walton angled the streams of Britain and when the Bronze Age man netted suckers from the nearest creek.

Civilization has augmented our powers a great deal without much strengthening of our characters. We now have Atomic Age hydrogen bombs in control of people who are no better than the Sword Age Caesars, or Musket Age Napoleons, or a Big Bertha Age Wilhelm the Second. We have one hundred mile an hour automobiles in the hands of peo-

Choir Concert

A capacity crowd attended the annual community choir concert Easter night in Ellsworth Community hall. The 57 voice choir, directed by Dean Fiedler and accompanied by Mrs. Hans D. Young, organist, presented a program of several vocal numbers that provided a program to be enjoyed and remembered. A concert solo, "The Holy City" by Don Drenth, was the only instrumental.

More than anything else, our generation needs soul as great as our material advancement. How will we come by it? Will spiritual awakening arrive in time?

Thursday—When the Audes Indian guides pack their donkeys for a trip up the mountains, they sometimes blindfold them. This is done so that the donkeys cannot see the size of their load. If they knew how much they were to carry, they would not start.

Perhaps one reason God has given us less foresight than hindsight is because we would not have the courage to carry some of life's burdens if we could size them up before shouldering them.

Friday—No one in American history has had a greater reputation for kindness than Abraham Lincoln. Yet, he could at times speak and write with a sharper sharpness that cut to the marrow of the matter and hurt all the way in. One of his most cutting remarks Lincoln wrote in a letter to one of those people who always see greener pastures on the other side of the fence—his step-brother. The following is an excerpt from the letter.

"What can you do in Missouri better than here? Is the land any richer? Can you there, any more than here, raise corn and wheat and oats without work? Will anybody there, any more than here, do the work for you? If you do not intend to go to work, you cannot get along anywhere. Squirming and crawling about from place to place can do you no good."

Many of us feel we might do better if we changed our situation, when we might better change our attitude toward the situation we are in—and change ourselves. Our problem is seldom that our world is not fit for us. We are not fit for our world.

Arthur Drenth, general chairman and his committee arranged the program and worked on the in additional setting.

The offering will be divided equally, half going to Meadowbrook hospital in Bellare and the other half to the crippled children's fund.

P.T.A. Elects

Arthur Drenth was elected to serve as Banks P.T.A. president for the coming year. Serving with him will be Rev. W. L. Silvers, Father vice president; Mrs. Marvin Elzenga, Mother vice president; Dean Fiedler teacher vice president; Mrs. John DeYoung, secretary; William Peltier treasurer.

A 20 minute band concert and a very good film on communications composed the program.

Revival Services

Revival services opened Friday evening in the Ellsworth Pilgrim Holiness church with Rev. Joshua Stauffer of Owosso as the Evangelistic speaker and Mr. Lloyd Thompson in charge of the music.

Staurumnyed Funeral

Private services were held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in Hastings Funeral home for Neal Staudenmeyer, year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Staudenmeyer who died Wednesday evening, April 17 in Henry Ford hospital in Detroit.

Rev. Dale Larson, pastor of the East Jordan Lutheran church officiated at the service and burial was in Ellsworth cemetery. Survivors include the parents, a brother, Roy, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Staudenmeyer of H. H. and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kasper of Chicago.

The decision of Arthur Maxwell

There once was an intelligent young man named Arthur Maxwell. He thought he would like to "step up" to a "medium-priced" car. So he went and looked at a model just "a few dollars more" than a Ford. At first glance it looked good. But when he got inside he exclaimed, "No radio? No heater? No automatic transmission? You call this Luxury?" He soon saw that a "medium-priced" car with equipment he wanted became a HIGH-priced car. So, being an intelligent young man he dashed off to his Ford Dealer and bought a Ford Fairlane 500—the true luxury car in the low-price field—with all the equipment he wanted for less money than the stripped-down model he had thought he wanted.

Why don't you do as Arthur did?

Scouts Continue Magazine Drive To Raise Funds

Wanted — Old magazines by Charlevoix's Boy Scouts.

Local Boy Scout troops are in the midst of a paper drive to raise funds for much-needed camping equipment. They are interested only in magazines, not newspapers, and are trying to collect enough for a truck load which will be taken to Detroit.

They are asking people to save magazines for them during house-cleaning days. If people will call LI 7 5277, Scouts will arrange to pick up your magazines. Or, if you like, you may leave them at the Charlevoix Oil Co. All magazines should be tied in bundles with a sturdy cord to facilitate handling.

The Scouts are also in need of Scout uniforms. If you have any part of a Scout uniform, a cap, shirt, trousers, socks or other Scouting apparel which are still usable, you are asked to leave them at the Charlevoix Cleaners or call the above number and a Scout will pick up your contribution.

Now is time to buy large eggs, it's this time of year when you get more for your money.

National Teachers' Day Is Saturday

Saturday, May 4, is to be observed throughout the nation as National Teachers' Day by the Women's Auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars. It is a worthy tribute to the teachers of the nation who in this day and age must assume so great a responsibility in molding character and educating our youth.

Parents could well get in back of this movement and give it a significance beyond a bouquet of flowers and a wordy tribute.

Possibly National Teachers' Day would be a good time for parents to assure teachers of their full co-operation. What teacher wouldn't be happy to know that the parent of a problem child was about to be a help instead of a hindrance?

You're Paying The Bills

Do Michigan taxpayers want to cut state spending by 80 million dollars in fiscal 1957-58? That is a vital question which must be decided by the people's representatives in the legislature. Your representative from the Charlevoix District, Clarence B. Meggison, wants to know the thoughts of the taxpayers in this district.

The following summary of the budget proposals has been submitted by Mr. Meggison in order that the taxpayers in his district may become more familiar with the question and induce you as taxpayers to let him know your views.

There are no geese in Lansing to lay golden eggs with which to pay state expenses. The money comes out of your pocket even though you are not too much aware of it much of the time. Street corner griping about the increased cost of state government isn't the answer. Tell it to the man whom you have elected to represent you in the legislature and you'll be on the right track.

Following is the legislative news letter submitted by Rep. Meggison:

The long awaited Republican budget bills are now in, totaling $322,843,625.00. This is slashing 80 million dollars off the Governor's recommended all-time-high record budget of 411 million dollars.

Trimming the appropriation bills to live within the estimated revenues is in line with a joint Republican caucus decision of a week ago.

The Republican program will provide additional funds to carry on an expanded mental health program, adding more than 800

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Merlin

Everything so pretty and green after the rain. . . Lawns are beginning to grow, the buds on the bushes are about to pop open and all over town the flowers are bursting into bloom. . . as though to greet the warm wind and weather. . . Only when the wind blows off Lake Michigan does one remember that week before last it was winter. . . But now we'll look to the future. . . Wouldn't you hate to live in a climate where you did not experience this beautiful re-birth every spring?

Among the things this weather has brought are the wild flowers. . . We were given the dearest little bouquet of arbutus last week. . . by Bob Burns who was spending some time at his cabin on Oyster Bay. . . Don't know where he found the elusive but fragrant blossoms but we sure appreciated them. . . another sign that spring is here. . . Incidentally, while Bob was here, he and Pete planted some eight thousand seedlings. . . which will eventually be replanted in a re-forestation project. . . We don't know much about it, but it seems like a wonderful way to utilize idle land.

By the way, have you seen the comet? . . . Neither have we because every time we've thought to look it's been too foggy. . . But there really is one. . . in the west. . . we're told it appears northwest. . . We're told it appears early in the evening and disappears from view about 10 p. m. . . It's the first sighted since Halley's comet back in 1910 and it's called the Arend-Roland comet for the two men who discovered it last November.

The additional $17 million from the general fund to supplement school aid, which was recommended by the Governor and included in his total budget recommendations of 411 million dollars. This action is in line with a policy decision that the matter of school aid should be separately considered.

Following is a summary of appropriations for fiscal 1956-57 as compared with the Governor's recommendations for fiscal 1957 to 1958, and the above Republican budget:

were working in a Belgian conservatory. . . It will be visible nightly until early June. . . So be sure and take a look. . . We're told it's very beautiful when viewed through good field glasses.

One of the nicest events during the year is the Father and Daughter banquet sponsored by the Girl Scout council. . . We just love to go and this year we enjoyed it more than ever. . . It's really a treat to see these dads and daughters out together. . . They have such a good time we always have the feeling they should do it more often. . . And you should see the fellows who turn up as 'proxy' dads at these events. . . Fellows who have no children of their own, whose youngsters are grown up or who have no daughters. . . We really think they have more fun than the regular dads. . . We think it's pretty super affair and would like to offer the local council our 'well done'. . . Like Den Mothers and Boy Scout leaders, these people give of their time and talents that your girls can enjoy the fun of scouting. . . We think you owe all these unselfish people a giant-size vote of thanks for they do it only for the satisfaction they receive by helping others.

And while we're on the subject we'd like to mention a few other groups whose efforts make Charlevoix a better place in which to live. . . The kind of people that work with church groups. . . so that their churches may keep going. . . Sunday school teachers. . . the help who work on Community Chest or any other fund drive. . . the teachers who work with your children and have the patience of Job. . . although they'd be justified in cracking a few heads together now and then. . . the people who work with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. . . the people who'll answer a distress call when you're in a pinch, regardless of what the cause may be. . . And believe us, Charlevoix has more than its fair share of people who do just this. . . many are people whose name never appears in print or perhaps it's someone you never know about. . . But they're always there, doing their bit. . . and making the difference between success and failure. . . To each and everyone we say: We're proud and happy that you are a part of our community. . . We don't need to list your names for you know in your hearts whether or not you have given your bit. . . Or as we like to say: earned the right to live in Charlevoix and enjoy what it has to offer.

Charlevoixians have a knack of running into each other. . . a card from the Ken Smiths of Camp Charlevoix sent from Gattlinburg, Tenn., brought the news that they'd seen the Harley Ochs who were on a trip through the Smokey Mountains and other points of interest. . . Was talking with Pete Bulow who with Mrs. B. and daughter, Pat, were visiting in Knoxville. . . They also spotted the Ochs car but didn't talk with them.

And don't forget the massed band festival next Wednesday. . . Everyone loves it and always turn out for the parade. . . There'll be 11 bands and they'll parade at 3 p. m. . . But don't forget the concert in the evening. . . It's a thrilling sight to see more than 300 young musicians performing. . . Your attendance is the way to bring the festival back to Charlevoix in future years. . . No gate, no festival. . . so remember that and put in an appearance.

While you're out watching the parade, stop in for a free chest x-ray before going home. . . It's for your benefit so take advantage of it. . . It takes only a minute and it's free. . . so mark it on your calendar right now. . . next Wednesday or Thursday. . . at the corner of Bridge and Mason. . . Simple? Of course it is.

Chatted with Bob McCall the other day. . . and the subject, naturally, turned to golf. . . He was telling us that he was out at the Belvedere golf course and that he'd never seen it as beautiful as it is right now. . . He added that it was just a joy and pleasure to look over the rolling fairways and greens for they looked just like green carpets. . . It's always a beautiful sight. . . the view from the clubhouse, so if you're out that way, take a look.

You've been told many times, no doubt, not to take any wooden nickles. . . But Max Novak has told us about a fellow who, believe it or not, is looking for wooden nickles. . . His name is James J. Curto of Grosse Pointe, and he's looking not only for wooden nickles which were issued here at the time of a centennial or something about 1934 but also scrip which was issued by the Charlevoix board of education and given to its teachers back in the days of the depression. . . If you have any of these things and would like to part with them, ask Mr. Novak for the address. . . Seems Mr. Curto collects and writes about such things for the American Numismatic Association.

And from Venice, Italy, a card from two of our favorite people. . . Charlie Foster and Bobo Bennett. . . Both are stationed in Germany with the U. S. Army. . . Though not stationed together, they took leave together and were touring Europe. . . They'd done Germany and were in Italy, spending some time in Venice and hoping to get to Rome in time to see the Pope on Easter Sunday. . . Sure hope they made it. . . They added that "This is the best way of using up Army time that we've found". . . We were thrilled to be thought of by them while on tour. . . It won't be long. . . this fall some time. . . that we'll be seeing this pair in person. . . It will be a happy day when they come home.

In an impressive candlelight service solemnized at the Community church of God Saturday evening, Joan Elizabeth McDonald became the bride of William F. Kerr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey McDonald of Ironton, Mo., and Mrs. Clayton Kerr are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. George L. Majors officiated at the double ring service in the presence of more than 200 guests. Easter lilies, palms and lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the church for the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white nylon for her wedding. Fashioned with a fitted bodice, square neckline and short sleeves, trimmed with lace, seed pearls and sequins, the puffed skirt ended in a chapel length train. Each panel was also trimmed with lace and pearls. Her long mitts were of matching material. Her fingertip veil was secured by a band trimmed with pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of white hyacinth florets and pink sweetheart roses.

Penalties Provided For Soil Violations

Farmers should fully understand that a civil penalty may be imposed upon any producer who knowingly and willingly violates certain provisions of the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve Program, Henry VanDusen, chairman of the state ASC committee, said today.

He explained that a civil penalty violation could take place from willfully grazing or harvesting any crop from any acreage in excess of the "acreage permitted for harvest." This would be the allotment for the crop minus the acreage designated for Soil Bank Acreage Reserve.

Chief Mate Somerville Retires

Robert Somerville BMC E.S.G. (right) receives the congratulations of Joseph Etienne, Commander of Group Charlevoix under whom he has served in the past upon his retirement from the U. S. Coast Guard after 22½ years of service.

Tuesday was a Red Letter day in the life of Robert Somerville, Boatswain's Mate Chief, E.S.G., for it marked the day of his retirement from the U. S. Coast Guard after 22½ years of service. Chief Somerville who has been in charge of the Thunder Bay Island light station since September 1955 received his discharge at Group Headquarters in Cheboygan.

It was on a bright Indian summer day back in October, 1934, that Somerville, just but of high school at East Jordan, enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard. It was during the depression of the 1930's and there were few jobs for young men so he decided to try the service until things were better. Thus began a career which extended over more than 22 years and took him to stations from the east coast to the mid-Pacific.

When young Somerville enlisted in the U. S. Coast Guard it was in the days when one had to wait for a vacancy. The first one in this area was at Mackinac Island where he signed up Oct. 28, 1934, as a surfman in the lifesaving branch of the U. S. Coast Guard. It wasn't until two years later that he was able to get a transfer to the Charlevoix lifeboat station.

In the early 1940's with war becoming more of a reality every day, the duties of the U. S. Coast Guard were multiplied and its men given assignments never before included in their work. With this new policy, servicemen who had spent all their enlistments in one station were dispatched to new assignments almost overnight.

Thus began Mr. Somerville's list of assignments which were to cover many thousands of miles during the next 15 years. In February 1951 he was transferred to Grand Haven and promoted to the rank of Boatswain's Mate. In the Office of Port Security in Chicago in May 1941; to the Seeca, Ill., Port Security office in January 1942, where the job was to protect the plant where L. S. T's were built; to Joliet, Ill., in April 1942 where he was placed in charge of the Port Security office whose principal job was to check traffic on the rivers; to Norfolk, Va., and Curtis Bay, Md., where he was a member of a training crew whose job was teaching other servicemen how to operate the L. S. T's which were to play major roles in later invasions.

In October of 1942 his assignment took him to Chicago known how the accident which caused the boat happened but according to boatmen it could have been a number of things. The men and their overturned boat were not seen from shore because they could not be sighted against the rocky terrain of South Point. The accident occurred east of the bell buoy at South Point, about 440 yards from shore.

Witt, who was to have been promoted to Boatswain's Mate second class on May 1, was a veteran of 2½ years in the Coast Guard and had been stationed here for two years. He had become well known here as a member of the Coast Guard softball team.

A native of Chicago, where he was born April 11, 1930, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Witt of Chicago; one brother and a sister.

Among the 33,000 volunteer persons active in chapter Red Cross Nursing services, there are some 18,000 registered nurses.

where he was placed in charge of the Jackson Park lifeboat station. It was in this capacity that he served out the war years. Four years later, in December, 1946, he was transferred to the U. S. C. G. Ninth District office in Cleveland where he was assigned to the Operations Division. While here he was promoted to Chief Boatswain's Mate.

In March 1949 came the assignment he's been waiting for... the Charlevoix lifeboat station. Two and a half years later, in November 1951, he took charge of the 83 foot patrol boat which was stationed here at that time. This duty, however, was cut short when he was transferred to St. Louis, Mo., in October 1952 to serve aboard the cutter Poplar and later the Foxglove.

Then came orders on Oct. 18, 1953 to report to the 14th District. This duty can mean many things with headquarters in Hawaii, for the district takes in a major part of the Pacific ocean where American forces are stationed. In Mr. Somerville's case, however, it meant more duty with the Office of Port Security. It was here that he earned the E. S. G., which follows his rating as Explosive Supervisor.

Port Security in Hawaii, as it does in any major port, means supervising the unloading of all cargo. It includes all things that are marked as explosives such as ammunition and T. N. T. and it also includes all materials which could be ignited or exploded if combined with certain other materials. It's a job where caution and alertness are major requisites. Mr. Somerville said, "for one slip could mean the loss of many lives and materials amounting to millions of dollars. In cane fields along the harbor at Hawaii are stark reminders of what an accident would mean."

In March, 1954, duty took him aboard a weather ship, in the Pacific between Midway Island and Japan. These weather ships, he explained, maintain a position in a general area and offer assistance to aircraft and ships traveling chartered routes.

His wife and family were able to join him in Hawaii and though he later was on sea duty, he was able to join them while on leave.

In September 1955, a transfer returned him to the Ninth Coast Guard district where he was assigned to the Thunder Bay Island light, a radio beacon station.

What does Mr. Somerville plan to do now that his wandering days are over? Stay home, work in the yard, enjoy civilian life and his family which includes his wife and two children, Darrell and Judy. Another daughter, Donna, is married and lives in Portluc.

But retirement or no, he will keep an eye on Coast Guard affairs for his home is located on Palmer st., only a stone's throw from the lifeboat station.

In answer to the question "What was your most exciting experience," Mr. Somerville, looking much too young to be retiring, said that the incident which happened out most in his memory happened in Lake Michigan off Charlevoix. It was in the summer of 1951 when he and Edward Phelps were attempting to bring a sailing vessel into port during a storm. The schooner, Mankee Girl, had been caught in a storm, her sails torn down and the auxiliary motor out of order. The pair finally got a line aboard and towed the boat and its crew of three to safety after what seemed hours of trying to rescue them.

DAILY ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

Going Home

Springtime is home-going time in nature.

New migrating birds return to their northwoods nesting sites, and soon we shall hear the poignant evening song of the wood thrush, its bell-tones ringing rich and full and free through the birches and conifers as the half-light after sundown fades and darkness settles over our green-woodland. A wood thrush nest will be built not far from Hildaway House as done last year and the year before and likely for centuries before a cabin graced the brook bank at Wood's Creek. But now that man has invaded this quiet sanctuary, new construction materials, not used in the yesterdays, may be borrowed from our premises for properly equipping a wood thrush home with a modern accent. These birds have been known to use pop laves in their nests building. But whatever supplies the thrushes collect, they will fashion their nests here on this acreage that they regard as home and to which they return each spring from their wintering quarters in Central America.

One day last week I walked along the trail leading to the Upper Park on Tahquamenon River in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. The tourist season had not yet begun, and I was all alone as I approached the spectacular cataract. Suddenly the air was replete with the shrill pippings of hundreds of migrating warblers, chirping, calling and singing excitedly. Then I saw them, darting from the towering hemlocks to little pools for a quick drink, then swooping up to the tree tops again. I was walking through a caravan of home-going birds.

What the old Norsemen called "heimgang", home-going, prevails now in nature. Some fishes that winter in deep waters of big lakes or great oceans, but prefer the shallows for homemaking, now return to ponds and streams.

While most of our northern butterflies spend their winters right here in deep sleep, either as eggs or pupae or adults, the big red-brown monarch butterflies with black-veined wings are migrators. Last fall they gathered in huge flocks and drifted hundreds of miles southward. Soon, now, they will come home.

Insects and spiders that summer in hedges and shrubs but descend into the ground-cover of leaf-mould for the winter, now emerge and clamor about again on leaves and twigs where they are more at home.

So it will be, Bob-o-links will arrive from Argentina, barn swallows from Brazil, yellow warblers from Yucatan, wood thrushes from Central America, insects, reptiles, amphibians and all the rest from their winter hiding places. They will all come home.

The experience of death, it seems to me, is the springtime of the soul when all spirits go homeward, toward where they belong, the evil and the good alike moving toward their own kind and their own place.

A student of moral philosophy once asked Mark Hopkins, President Garfield's boyhood teacher, who would be in heaven, and he replied that he did not know, but that he was positive that no one would be in heaven who did not feel at home there. That kind of sounds thinking complies with the universal law that we are drawn toward the things to which our hearts belong. The materialist would not feel at home in heaven since there would be no money there for him to jingle and no material prizes he could fondle. The hate monger would be ill at ease and stifled there because the atmosphere is that of love. Those who live godlessly here would feel strange there as guests in God's house. But all who live by eternal things here, who have colonized the earth with a touch of heaven and whose friend-ship with God has been intimate and growing—they will feel at home.

For the heavenly, death is only a spring migration, going home.

Committee Books Musical Program For Concert Series

As the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association launched its eleventh annual membership drive this week, the Artist Selection Committee headed by Max Smith, announced that 'hold' dates have been secured on two outstanding attractions for the coming season.

In the fall the association will present the first of these, the Joseph Liebling Master Singers, a choral group of men's and women's voices. Joseph Liebling, the versatile director, is a dynamic personality in the world of music. He studied his choral conducting and technique under the great Robert Shaw. He organized the Master Singers in 1954, at first for the pleasure of conducting a group of professional singers in evenings of informal music but before long they were performing in public.

The second hold which will be presented late in the spring of 1958 is the outstanding young pianist, Eugene List, and the Krickerbocker Players. This is a particularly unusual instrumental ensemble, sparked by the dashing and brilliant pianist. It features a solo trumpet as an added attraction. List made his debut at the age of 16 with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Stockowski and his concert activities have spanned four continents.

The other two attractions will be chosen during campaign week. Attending the annual membership kick-off dinner at Petoskey and Mrs. C. A. Odmark, Mrs. E. J. Edwards and Mrs. Charles Bellinger.

Anyone wishing a membership in the association which offers four major concerts during the season may contact Mrs. Odmark, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Bellinger, Mrs. Leonard Burns or Fran Martir.

The first permanent settlements were made at Sault Ste. Marie, in 1668, and at Saint Ignace, in 1671, by Father Dablon and Father Marquette.

Raders Buy Atlas Home

The sale of one of Charlevoix's oldest homes, the Atlas property at 108 E. Dixon ave., to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rader was announced this week by Earl A. Young, local realtor.

The home overlooking Round Lake which has combined century old charm with modern conveniences has been owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Atlas of Detroit for the past 14 years. They have used it as a summer home.

Prior to that time, the property belonged to the family of the late John Nicholls, who built it 81 years ago when he operated the Charlevoix Lumber Co. Mr.

Nicholls was a member of one of the city's early families and was active in banking and civic circles here.

Mr. and Mrs. Rader who purchased the property came to Charlevoix last fall when they were unable to find a suitable home in East Jordan where they have business interest with their four children, they have been living in the Menearelli house and will move to their new home shortly. The family moved to northern Michigan from Oak Harbor, Ohio, last year when Mr. Rader purchased the East Jordan Canning Co.

Part of the Camporee will be the Saturday evening parent Council meeting "How the Scout can help to Michigan". The Sunday afternoon contests, and the Saturday morning Explorer pack A parade through downtown Kalkaska will be held Saturday afternoon.

Pure-Pak Parts Made By Will-Flow

The Charlevoix Courier published an article recently about the new Pure-Pak machine to be installed at Maxbauer's Creamery.

A letter from J. D. Allen, president of the Will-Flow Corporation received later reveals that parts for the machine were made in the Charlevoix Will-Flow plant located on Petoskey ave.

Mr. Allen wrote that "The wax melter and linet line heat exchanger were manufactured by the Will-Flow Corporation and delivered to the Ex-Cello-C Corporation in Bluffton, Ohio, and made the return trip to Maxbauer's in the same crates."

The installation of the new equipment at the local Creamery will be completed shortly and milk supplied by local producers and placed in half-gallon cartons will be on the market, John E. Ball, manager of Maxbauer's said this week.

Coast Guards Continue Hunt For Witt Body

The U. S. Coast Guard here is continuing dragging operations, as weather permits, for the body of William Witt, BM3, of Chicago, 21-year-old Coast Guardsman stationed at the local lifeboat station, who was drowned Tuesday, April 30, in a boating accident off South Point in Lake Michigan. Beaches in the area are also patrolled daily as the search continues.

The other two men involved in the accident, Horace F. Stodt, BM1 owner of the 12 ft. boat in which the trio was riding, and Jack L. Powers CS3, who were hospitalized for exposure and shock, have returned to duty.

The accident occurred when the remote control steering cable on the craft snapped, flipping the boat and throwing the three men into the icy water. Weighted down by the 22 hp outboard motor, only the bow of the boat remained above water. The men clung to this until they were found about 75 minutes later. Witt, who had become unconscious, slipped from the grasp shortly before they were found by the 30 ft. patrol boat from the local station.

Just A Mother

Editors Note — Sunday will be observed as Mother's Day and justly merits a tribute to the biggest job on earth—motherhood. By request Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp of the First Methodist church has prepared this tribute.

"I'm just a housewife and a mother," she replied in an apologetic sort of way.

"If she had said, 'I'm a business woman', or 'I'm a nurse', or 'I'm a teacher' — no doubt she would have spoken with pride. Nevertheless, what she said was more important. For it is more significant to be a good wife and mother than to have a successful career.

A Vermont hill farmer was asked with a sneer, "What do you raise here?"

He squared his shoulders and replied, "Men!" That is what a fine mother does, too — raise men. In order to do this well she must be a business woman, a nurse, and above all, a teacher. Her products, Christian men and women, are America's greatest resources. Let every wife and mother be proud of her calling.

"Jesus, teach me how to be Proud of my simplicity.

Sweep the floors, wash the clothes, Gather for each vase a rose.

Iron and mend a tiny frock Taking notice of the clock.

Always having time kept free For childish questions asked of me.

Grant me wisdom Mary had When she taught her little Lad.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

We're not one of those lucky people . . . the kind who can spot a fourleaf clover, a coin on the street, mushrooms in the woods or aglets on the beach. Unless these things jump up and "say Hello I am!", we never spot them . . . Perhaps that's why we've never found an arrowhead . . . or for that matter, had never seen one until last week when Sims Baker showed us one he's found on the lawn just near the hospital. It's really quite a work of art . . . and now when people talk about arrowheads we'll know what they're talking about.

Going, going, and if you don't hurry it will be gone . . . An opportunity to be inoculated with Salk vaccine before the polio season starts . . . If you start now, you'll have your second shot a month from now and you'll be ready . . . Who's to say when and where there might be an outbreak of the dread disease . . . and then it will be too late.

A great big happy birthday to one of the grandest guys we've had the good fortune to meet . . . He's told us many stories of the early days in Charlevoix . . . And each summer we enjoy many happy hours with him . . . He's Will Hampton who now resides in Dearborn . . . and who will be returning to Charlevoix again this summer . . . we hope . . . Since we've come to know him we can understand why he was given the name of "my friend" when he was adopted into the Ottawa Indian tribe during the Indian naming ceremonies at Harbor Springs last summer.

Remember a couple weeks ago when we wondered in print why Lewis st. became Auld ave., after it crossed Petoskey ave., on the north side . . . Kay Fitch, who lives at 303 Auld, gave us the answer to that . . . Seems that when Lewis st. was platted, it crossed Petoskey ave., and went straight through to Michigan ave. . . But in those days the fields north of Petoskey ave. were used as pasture land . . . When the cows were taken to the pasture, their owner left Lewis st. at about the spot where Miss Fitch's house now stands . . . and made a cow path to the pasture site. When a street was finally built it naturally followed the path of least resistance . . . the cow path.

That is why Miss Fitch's house number is 303 and her neighbors to the north, Dr. Terris, have 103 . . . So now we hope we've heard the last of the street situation in Charlevoix.

Had some news of an old friend of yours and ours . . . Miss Minnie Payton, librarian at the Charlevoix public library for many years, who now lives in San Diego . . . Margaret Miller, who now teaches in Detroit, was in the west recently and went to call on Miss Payton . . . We understand they had a grand visit and Miss Payton asked about everyone had ever known back here . . . If your ears were burning you now know why . . . Miss Miller reports that she looks wonderful and is enjoying life as much as ever.

A reminder that next Sunday is Mother's Day . . . Don't forget to drop her a note if you haven't written recently, or send her a Mother's Day card . . . Or, if you're close enough, plan on stopping in for a few minutes.

How much money did you lose on the Kentucky Derby Saturday? If you are one of the smart cookies who bet on the winner, you sure made yourself a miteful in a hurry . . . Wouldn't you love to be in Louisville sometime for the big event? . . . We sure would.

Charlevoix done it again . . . this time in Look, Time and the TV guide . . . In case you haven't seen it, we mean the picture here last summer which is now

Cadillac

Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say.

And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—that, of course, is its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American motoring scene.

And, those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. And its performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to tell you how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!

Guild Notes...

GUILD NOTES

May baskets reminding patients at the Charlevoix hospital that it was May Day served as favors on the trays last Wednesday. Larger May baskets filled with spring flowers were placed elsewhere about the hospital, bringing to nurses, employees and others the promise of spring. Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton, chairman of the holiday committee, was assisted by Mrs. William Lusk and Mrs. Eugene Lewis in making the favors and arranging the May baskets at the hospital.

Patients are also able to do a little traveling while confined at the hospital since Mrs. Ray Wood has contributed a number of travel magazines to the library cart. These magazines, filled with colorful pictures, are easy to handle and a joy to look at for those who have little desire to read. Many thanks from the Guild and from the patients who have and will continue to enjoy them.

Mrs. Robert Reed will replace Mrs. Chester Belfy as a regular library cart "pusher". A big "thank you" to Mrs. Belfy for her faithful service and another to Mrs. Reed for taking over. The library cart, filled with current magazines and many books designed for light reading plus seeds of sundries... a word which can be defined as something you forgot to bring or just the things you didn't think you'd need... has become a bright spot in the patient's day. Softball League Teams Organizing For Summer.

Plans for the 1957 softball season, which is scheduled to open June 17 in Charlevoix are rapidly taking shape, according to Dean Davenport who will return for the third summer to head up the local softball program. At present three teams are being organized.

In the Class A league for men a new player may be added. F. M. Davenport and added that the plan is one which will help make the team. In the league more balanced. Under this plan team managers would meet and select players, he explained. Each team would get five free chances to play a game in the first round. Thus far three teams have approved the plan. Its final adoption will depend on the voting of the remaining teams.

At this time one more sponsor is needed to complete the Class A "top. C. O. Koster is the defending champion.

In the Class B league, composed of junior and senior high school boys, sponsors have not been contacted at this time. If anyone would like to sponsor a team, additional information may be obtained by calling LI 7-2693. Last year's champion was Zephyr Service station.

5 out of 10 Smaller Cars wear a Pontiac Price Tag —yet none give you Any of Pontiac's Advantages

PONTIAC'S PERFORMANCE TOPS THE BEST THE SMALL CARS CAN OFFER—BY A WIDE MARGIN!

Not one of the smaller cars can measure up to Pontiac Performance. Whether you judge a power plant by engineering statistics or on-the-road performance, Pontiac's Strato-Stream V-8 stands head and shoulders above anything in the low-price field. Your Pontiac dealer will be happy to show you a complete fact-and-figures comparison—then an eye-opening test drive in traffic or out on the highway will supply all the heart-lifting proof you need that Pontiac has separated the men from the boys when it comes to performance!

PONTIAC GIVES YOU UP TO 8.9% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR!

Not one of the smaller cars can give you the heavy-duty construction, the road-bugging heft and solid security that surround you in every Pontiac. Yet Pontiac's the nimblest, heaviest weight you ever managed—and your Pontiac dealer can show you more than six dozen advanced-engineering reasons why! Pontiac has gone all out to make this genuine big car the most docile package of might you ever had the pleasure of harnessing. You'll find Pontiac's exclusive Precision-Touch Controls make steering and braking the surest, easiest you've ever experienced! Park it, cruise it, try it in stop-and-go traffic... this is driving the smaller jobs can't possibly equal.

PONTIAC GIVES YOU 4 TO 7 INCHES MORE WHEELBASE!

The small cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big—but Pontiac puts the extra length where it counts—between the wheels! Here's extra length that brackets the bumps instead of riding on them. And this extra length shows up inside, too, in stretch-out space for six footers. Add to Pontiac's bonus in length its all-new suspension system and you have an exclusive Level-Line Ride no car at any price can surpass... and a built-in sense of direction and security that will spoil you for the smaller cars forever!

—AND PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS BEEN FAMOUS AS ONE OF AMERICA'S TOP TRADE-INS!

Maybe it comes as a surprise to you that so much more car can be yours at the same price you've seen on the smaller cars. But there's the fact! And Pontiac is a wonderful investment, too! As you know, it has always commanded a top trade-in. So why not step out of the small-car class and into a Pontiac... there's nothing in your way. Your Pontiac dealer has the keys and an eye-opening offer waiting for you right now! So why not look and feel like a million—instead of a million others?

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

On Having Boundries

There is only a slight difference between a river and a swamp. While both are watery, a river is limited, disciplined by its banks, whereas the wetness of a swamp is free to spread out in a relatively unrestricted way.

But this little difference makes for big consequences. Swamps stand in the way of human progress. They preclude the possibility of agriculture unless expensive drainage can be performed. They force deviation of roads from the most economical route—a straight-line path, for the cost of building roads over marshy ground usually proves prohibitively high. But when water is confined between banks and determined to flow in a specific direction and along a definite path it becomes a servant to civilization.

Rivers carrying rich soil from deep in continental interiors and depositing it in deltas along the river's mouth make for some of the world's most fertile farm land.

For thousands of years energy derived from swiftly flowing streams has been used by man, in the Nile Valley of Africa, in India and China, for driving man's machines and doing his work. Still, in our own time, man harnesses the Tennessee River, the Colorado, Columbia and Niagara rivers to turn his turbines and provide him with light power.

For ages past and in our own day as well men have been using rivers as natural routes for traveling and carrying cargo. Many of the ancient explorations of the Old World and modern discoveries in the New World were made by boat on the earth's big streams.

Especially were the rivers arteries of North America the means by which new life flowed into this continent. Early navigators did not always cast anchor upon reaching American shores for the great streams flowing from the interior of the continent invited them onward. Many rivers were navigable for several miles—the Hudson, the Connecticut, the Raritan, the Susquehanna, the Rappahannock, the Potomac, the York, the James, the Roanoke, and the Santee being among the numerous streams wide enough and deep enough for ocean going vessels of colonial times. Other smaller streams would accommodate the shallop and canoe.

It was at river mouths and along river banks that the first towns were established, and rivers were watery highways of communication between the first exponents of European civilization in America. Great-great-grandfathers of our friendly neighbor chickadees called down cherry greetings to small expeditions of the white man when they first came into the Great Lakes Region and felt along their shore and nosed their dugouts and canoes up Michigan streams.

Swamps, free and undisciplined stretchers of wetness, have stood in the way of man's progress. Rivers, water confined between banks and limited in freedom, have helped men on his way toward a higher civilization. Same lives are swampy. They fret and chafe under restraint and evade self-discipline. They get nowhere.

Other people are river-like. Knowing that without discipline there can be no real achievement, they submit to control as a stream submits to its banks.

Some busy people are ineffectual because their busyness is spread out in every direction in general and aimed at nothing in particular. They put in long hours; they consume vast amounts of energy; they are in a constant dither and make quite a show of always doing something, but alas, nothing of lasting value. Then there are the river-like workers whose energies and emotions are confined within the limits of a single purpose worthy of their whole-hearted devotion. They are going somewhere.

A profound liking for people or the one hand and a desire to serve them on the other gives life some noble restraints, keeping conversation from spreading into slander, preventing self-pride from expanding into envy over another's successes, restraining one from exploiting another's weaknesses.

The person who, like the sensualist, wants his affections to be free and undisciplined, with no limitations whatsoever, has a swampy conception of love. Love, to have value, must be selective. One cannot successfully love everything indiscriminately and equally. Some things are worthy of our highest love as God is. Other things merit everlasting love, as our mates do. Others deserve our love interpreted as "goodwill in action" as our neighbors and enemies do. Still other things, money and material possessions, should have our attention but without any attachment of final loyalty or deep affection. Undisciplined love, like unrestrained water, is swampy. Disciplined love, confined to the highest values, is like a river, going somewhere and performing services.

Everyone owes it to himself to take an occasional inventory of his life and ask of his heart, "What am I, swamp or stream?" Save Your Magazines for Charlevoix Boy Scouts. For pick-up call LI 7-2577.

Farmers To Plan Truck-Marketing Service At Meet

Charlevoix county farmers interested in marketing of livestock are invited to attend a meeting to be held tonight, Thursday, May 16, at 8:30 p. m. in the agriculture room of the East Jordan high school.

Farmers are deeply interested in marketing their livestock. Sometime ago a Charlevoix county trucking service was established whereby a truck went every Monday to St. Louis to truck livestock to the Michigan Livestock Exchange.

At the beginning this service proved very satisfactory, and many farmers took advantage of the program. For the past several months, however, this service has been discontinued and many farmers are asking that it be re-established.

Ray Montague from the Michigan Livestock Exchange, and possibly Don Stark, agricultural marketing specialist from Michigan State University, will be present to discuss this program. All farmers are urged to come to this meeting so that the group will know whether or not they would like to continue this trucking service.

Funeral Rites Held Monday For Chief Heise

Charlevoix's Chief of Police Clarence Heise, 63, died unexpectedly Friday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient since April 22. He was seemingly recovering from an earlier illness when he suffered the fatal attack Friday.

Council Action Makes Dixon Ave. One-Way Street For Summer

Dixon ave., from Michigan ave. to Meech st., has been named a one-way street from July 1 through Labor Day by the Charlevoix city council.

The action was taken at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night as a result of the many traffic problems which have arisen because of the narrowness of the heavily traveled street.

The one-way traffic will travel from west to east; i. e. from Michigan ave. east to Meech st., a distance of six blocks. West bound traffic will be routed from Dixon ave. to Petoskey ave., via Meech st.

In other action, the council accepted Edwards Florist bid of $155.00 for re-filling the hanging flower baskets for the fourth consecutive year; voted to place the city's parking meters in operation Monday, June 10; to accept bids for the removal of a city-owned house on Stoyer road commonly known as the Gillespie house. The bids must agree to clean up all debris after removing the house and the bids must state the starting time and completion date. Bids will be received at the office of the county clerk until 5 p. m. May 27. The city reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

A resolution expressing the sorrow of the council and the residents of Charlevoix on the passing of Chief of Police Clarence Heise and expressing appreciation for his years of service to the city as a member of and later head of the police force was adopted. Proclamation By Mayor Sets Date For Poppy Day Sale

May 23, 24 and 25 have been proclaimed Poppy Days in Charlevoix by Mayor James Hiller.

In proclaiming the last three days of next week Poppy Days, Mayor Hiller has asked the residents of Charlevoix to "Wear a poppy in memory of America's war dead."

Both the American Legion Auxiliary and the V. F. W. Auxiliary will be out enforcing selling these bright red flowers, reminiscent of the poppies which grew in Flanders field in Europe during World War I. The flower has come to mean a flower of memory—memory of those men who gave their lives that this country might be free.

"Wearing a poppy is a little thing to do, but a thing big in meaning," Mayor Hiller said. "That poppy over your heart means that you remember with gratitude those young men who died in our nation's defense on battlefields throughout the world."

While remembering the war dead, the poppies which will be sold here next week will give the residents of Charlevoix an opportunity to aid hospitalized veterans for it has been these men who have made the poppies.

Mrs. Gerald Burke, assisted by Mrs. Rupert Reinhardt and Mrs. Joseph Etienne will head the V. F. W. Buddy Poppy sale. Mrs. W. E. Goss is American Legion Auxiliary poppy chairman.

Schools Are Your Business, Too

Most of us agree that the over-all picture in the Charlevoix school district is a good one. We don't have to apologize for the quality of the students we graduate. We accept this as part of our good community with little thought as to what makes it click.

Few persons paying a school tax are aware of the problems facing the board of education and few persons take the time to find out what transpires at school board meetings.

Members of the board of education believe the public should be informed about the operation of our school system, and, in an endeavor to accomplish this they have decided to publish the minutes of each school board meeting. The first publication of minutes appeared in the Courier last week.

Regular meetings of the board are scheduled for the first and third Monday of each month. These meetings are open to the public, affording anyone an opportunity to discuss his particular problems with the board as well as an opportunity to get first hand information relative to the operation of the school.

Members of the school board are your elected representatives delegated to the task of operating your school in the best possible manner. The least you can do is keep yourself well enough informed to be able to give your full co-operation whenever it is needed.

Armed Forces Day

"Power for Peace" is the theme of Armed Forces Day 1957.

In proclaiming May 18 Armed Forces Day, President Eisenhower stated that "This is the day, set aside for the past eight years, to salute our fellow citizens serving in the Armed Forces of the United States."

"We have our military personnel with the finest equipment an dtraining in the world, but it is equally essential for them to know they have our respect and appreciation."

"It is a privilege to join in honoring them and I urge all citizens, wherever the limits of time and distance permit, to take part in the observance of Armed Forces Day. By arms, work, and by spirit, it is the responsibility of each citizen to help in the defense of the national community."

Thus President Eisenhower, a former great military leader himself, speaking as a civilian, asks all, as citizens of this country, to join him in honoring our military personnel on Armed Forces Day, a day set aside so that we may show our respect and appreciation to our men and women in uniform.

In Charlevoix you may do this by visiting the U. S. Coast Guard Lifeboat station.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Wasn't it something last week when all those band youngsters were in town? We can remember when there were a half dozen bands and the kids wore white shirts and dark trousers so they'd look a little alike. Then came sweaters and dark trousers and now just about every school . . . and there are more than 30 so the festival is now held in three sections. . . has real sharp looking outfits. . . It was hard to pick the prettiest . . . but the Ellsworth youngsters had the newest uniforms and did they look neat. . . wonder if these kids realize how lucky they are.

If you think these mornings are cold, we'd like to remind you that it hasn't always been this warm in May. E. J. Hillier, who came to Charlevoix just a half a century ago this month told us that on May 8, 1907 there was two inches of snow . . . and in May a few years later the tug, Maids, was stuck in the ice in Lake Michigan in May. . . Guess we won't complain about a few cold blasts off Lake Michigan after that.

Last week we mentioned arrowheads in this column. . . A couple days later we met Roy Ranger on the street and he was showing us some pieces from his rock collection. . . one piece we swear was anything. . . and another was grains of sand which seemed to be fused together into one sizeable stone with many smaller nubbins on it. . . We'd never seen anything like it. . . He told us he'd found it on a sand dune out along the lake.

Had quite a chat one day recently with Roger Carlisle from Beaver Island who was passing through town. . . The subject was Beaver trapping and he was telling us that he had trapped enough of those black beavers on the island to have a fingertip coat made for Mrs. C. . . Making such a coat is quite an art if it's sheared, made into a coat and then sheared again to bring out highlights in the fur. . . Can you imagine anyone trapping enough animals for a coat? . . . Neither can we but we understand that several people are trying it.

Those beavers on the island have quite a history too. . . Seems they are not the regular brown kind you find elsewhere in the state. . . but a black glossy animal which was imported from northern Canada some 30 years or so ago in an effort to restock the island with wildlife. . . Since then they have taken over quite a section of the island . . . building their dams and houses and flooding more and more of a swampy area.

We understand that Bob Lieberman, one of our local business men, takes no one's word for anything. . . Seems he went fishing on a stream north of here. . . (The name is a secret). . . He was told that there wasn't any point in fishing above a certain spot on the stream because there weren't any fish there. . . But since there weren't any fish where he was he moved up stream found a big hole and wham brought out an 18 in. rainbow weighing nearly two pounds. . . It wasn't likely, he thought, that he'd get another bite there, so he moved on. . . returning in a little while. . . this time to bring out a 21 in. rainbow weighing 3 1/2 pounds. . . but he had to work for this one. . . spending some 25 minutes landing it. . . Which proves that fish can turn up anywhere or something to that effect.

And just in case you haven't realized it. . . two weeks from today will be Memorial Day. . . and three weeks from tomorrow will mark the end of the current school year. . . How time flies and all that sort of thing.

Received a very interesting letter from Will E. Hampton recently regarding the history of

Campus Comments

Dean Davenport who will be graduated from Central Michigan college in June has accepted a teaching position in Petoskey for next fall.

He will teach junior high and driver training and assist a football, basketball and spring sports, succeeding Charles Niffler who has been called into the service. Mr. Niffler will leave later this month.

He will graduate next month with a Bachelor of Science degree with a major in speech and a minor in history and physical education. At Central Michigan he lettered in basketball for four years.

Mr. Davenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Davenport, will return here this summer to manage the city softball program for the third straight year.

He will be accompanied by his wife, the former Joyce Cunningham, and small daughter.

Michael T. Bergeon is one of 155 seniors who will receive the bachelor of arts degree from Hope college at commencement exercises to be held in Memorial chapel on the campus at Holland at 10 a. m. Monday, June 3.

A major in biology at Hope, Mr. Bergeon will enter the field of medicine after graduation. He served in the U. S. Navy from April 1951 to August 1952. He is the son of Mrs. Catherine C. Bergeon of Ann Arbor and Walter C. Bergeon of Long Lake.

Two Charlevoixians were among the University of Michigan students honored at the annual honors convocation held at Ann Arbor last weekend. They are Victor J. Gibbons, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Gibbons, who received senior honors in the college of Literature, Science and Arts and Bruce K. Shanahan, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Edward K. Shanahan, who was awarded junior honors in the college of Literature, Science and Arts. Both are graduates of the Charlevoix high school.

The Charlevoix Courier. . . Seems the newspaper is older than most people think. . . It was established back about 1882 by Charles Strang, son of 'King' Strang, and was known as the Charlevoix Journal. . . It was sold that same year to Mr. Hampton's brother, Charles, who changed the name to the Charlevoix Democrat. . . Later Mr. Hampton bought his brother's interest and ran the paper for some years. . . Along the way he changed his politics when he became an admirer of Teddy Roosevelt so when the latter became president, Mr. Hampton changed the name of the newspaper to Charlevoix Courier. . . the name it still bears.

Charlevoix lost one of its most faithful public servants last week. . . And many people, a good part of them the 'little' people, lost a true friend. . . The passing of Clarence Heise also marks the end of an era, for to all of us who knew him well he represented something pretty special. . . He was never hurried, he never raised his voice unless he was forced to, he was always good for a laugh, he never held anything against anyone and if he knew your secret it remained a secret, he was a friend to many, many people and he loved the kids. . . his home and family. . . And after all is said and done, what more can one say of a person other than he was all that, as well as a good servant to the people of Charlevoix.

And we'll bet that when he passed through the pearly gates,

Native Of Japan Entertains Sixth Grade Students

Glenn Snider's sixth grade students who are studying about Japan in the classroom enjoyed a visit Monday from Mrs. Samuel Hamilton a native of Japan who came to this country recently to make her home.

She dressed one of the girls in a Japanese costume, sang a Japanese lullaby, showed them how to handle chopsticks and how to make a bird with colorful paper and how to write in Japanese. The youngsters then asked prepared questions regarding life in Japan. They also asked her to write their names for them in Japanese.

With Old Timers At MSU

A trio of Charlevoix high school athletic greats, who later starred at Michigan State, put on their Green and White grid-iron livery again recently in the first annual Old Timers classic in State's Macklin Stadium. The game, which ended in a 20-20 tie, pitted a team of alumni stars against the current Spartan varsity.

The Charlevoix products, shown in the sidelines just prior to the start of the game, are (l to r) Bill Carey ('52), Chuck Fairbanks, ('55) and All-American Bob Carey ('52). Bob Kicked the vital extra points which helped the Old Timers gain their tie. Fairbanks caught one pass from quarterback Al Dorow for an eight-yard gain.

Bob Carey, now is in business in Evanston, Ill.; twin brother, Bill, is working in radio advertising sales in Dearborn and Fairbanks is coaching at Ishpeming.

County Agent Explains Water Right Doctrine Of Prior Appropriation

(This is the second in a series of 10 articles written by Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, regarding water rights in Michigan.)

"First in time—first in right" is the rule of the appropriation doctrine. This means that those people who use water first have first claim to this water. Water is public and the user does not have to own land to have a right to the water. To obtain water, an application must be made to a state agency and water is appropriated based on specific statutes.

There are 17 western states that have water laws known as the doctrine of prior appropriation. These states are those that, as a rule, are short of water.

The doctrine of prior appropriation in regards to water supplies, states the quantity to be used, when it is to be used, where it is to be taken from, where it is to be used and it also states the priority date of application. This water must be used for beneficial purposes.

People can lose their right of appropriation of water by abandoning the right, by not using the water for a stated number of years or by letting someone else use the water without stopping them. They may also lose the right by estoppel.

Appropriation is used mainly on watercourses and on underground streams and springs.

Diffused water that has no channel or course or precolating water may or may not be appropriated for use.

A water right is an interest in real estate. It may be taxed, sold or leased. The appropriation doctrine lists priorities regarding uses and domestic use is always first with agricultural or municipal second and industrial next with recreation usually listed last. The right of navigation, however, must be protected.

There are several advantages of the appropriation doctrine. It is somewhat more workable than many of the other doctrines. It protects more interest in investments and helps bring better land into production. It may be sold and the holder of the right does not have to live on a stream or watercourse.

There are also several disadvantages to this doctrine. It does not require conservation of water. Water may be used on poor land, a junior appropriator may have a higher use than a senior appropriator, the fish and game departments must have water rights and usually not enough water is available.

Patrols Continue Search For Body

The search for the body of William Witt, 21, BM3, a crewman at the U. S. Coast Guard lifeboat station here, who was drowned in a boating accident on Lake Michigan April 30, continues.

Drugging operations in the area off South Point where the accident occurred have been suspended. However, beach patrols and patrols of the entire area by boat are held daily.

GI Loans Available To Veterans Widows

The widow of a World War II or Korean conflict veteran may be eligible for a GI loan if the veteran's death was service-connected and he had not already obtained a GI loan.

However, if the widow herself is an eligible veteran, she accrues no additional GI loan rights because of her husband's death.

Widows of World War II or Korean veterans whose death was service-connected, also may obtain direct loans from VA in those areas eligible for direct loans. Direct loans are obtained for the purchase of a home or farmhouse. The law prohibits direct business loans.

GI loan applications for widows based on their husband's death as a result of World War II service, must be made by July 25, 1958. For Korean conflict eligibility, loans must be made before Feb. 1, 1965.

Complete information is available from the VA regional office in Detroit.

Evening College Plans To Offer Full Year Of Work

The Petoskey Evening College will offer a full year of college work starting in September, A. D. Shankland, director of the program announced following a meeting of northern Michigan school officials at Petoskey last week.

Dr. J. D. Marcus, director, and A. T. Rolph, consultant of the Division of Field Service at Central Michigan College were present to discuss the proposed expansion of the evening college program which began operation two years ago and until now has offered two freshman college classes each semester.

Mr. Rolph indicated that many citizens in the area have been interested in making college training available to the residents of northern Michigan. He went on to say that many people would like some college work but find the distance and the cost of a college education too great an obstacle to overcome.

Posing its action on these ideas, the Petoskey Board of Education has made arrangements with Central Michigan College to offer some freshman and sophomore courses in Petoskey.

Dr. Marcus emphasized that the Division of Field Services at Central Michigan College wants to assist local areas with their educational problems in every way possible but that the people of these areas must show an interest and desire before this help can be rendered.

Mr. Shankland, director of the Evening College program, outlined the program for the coming year and listed the following courses to be taught: First semester: Freshman Composition 101, Introductory Psychology 201, Fundamentals of Speech 101, and Parliamentary procedure 210; Second semester: Freshman Composition 102, Introductory Sociology 152, U. S. History 212 Political Science 201 and Physical Education 306. Most of these courses are required during the first two years of almost all curricula of the liberal arts colleges.

These classes total 15 hours each semester which is the number required of a full-time student on campus. Credits earned at Petoskey count as resident credits at C. M. C. and may be transferred to other colleges and universities. Each class meets one night a week for 16 weeks. If a student plans to take 15 hours credits, he must attend school five nights a week.

Anyone who has graduated from high school and can meet C. M. C. entrance requirements may enroll. Persons over 21 years of age who are not high school graduates may apply for admission as special students. Tuition for these classes is $11.00 per semester hour credit.

Application blanks may be obtained from the Evening College office at the Petoskey high school, at the office of high school principals or Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant. These applications for admission must be submitted to C. M. C. before Aug. 15. In addition to this application, a pre-enrollment conference should be held with Mr. Shankland in order to schedule classes. This should be done as soon as you decide to enroll.

Registration for the fall semester will be held Sept. 10 with classes starting Sept. 16. Additional information may be obtained from Mr. Shankland at the Petoskey high school.

New VA Ruling To Benefit Orphans

With no eligible widow, the minor children of a veteran who dies of a service-connected cause after Jan. 1, 1957, may be entitled to higher compensation payments than were in effect before that date.

The term "no eligible widow" applies if the mother is deceased; if the mother was divorced from the veteran at the time of his death or if the widow subsequently remarries or dies.

The higher payments were authorized by the Survivor-Benefits Act which became effective Jan. 1, 1957.

Provisions of the new law are optional for children whose father died of a service-connected cause before Jan. 1. However, it usually is to their advantage to receive the new benefit.

An exception to the general rule are children who are receiving Servicemen's Indemnity, the so-called "free insurance" for certain deaths occurring between June 27, 1950 and Dec. 31, 1956, inclusive. Such children may concurrently receive both the old form of death compensation and the Servicemen's Indemnity payments.

Guardians of minor children must make applications if the children are to receive the new benefit, even though the children are on VA rolls.

Information about applications for the new benefit is available at any VA office.

Service Officers Are Not Permitted To Charge For Aid

A service officer cannot charge for any information or assistance he gives a veteran or a veteran's widow, Frank Wildman, American Legion district Service Officer, said this week in an effort to clarify a misunderstanding regarding the issue.

All any veteran need do is present his discharge papers and the assistance will be given, he added. In the case of a veteran's widow, she may present her husband's discharge.

Kenneth B. Forbes, local American Legion Service Officer, has repeated that he will assist any veteran whether he is a member of a veteran's organization or not.

Assign Workers For School Census

Mrs. Lloyd Arnold is the new census taker inside the city limits.

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kahn

Making Room for Others

Trees and shrubs are budding now, and soon the Northland, for so many months a study in the somber tones of winter, will be alive with vivid greens.

Creamy white birches are clothed with a film of yellow-green as are their cousins, the poplars. From a distance many of the hardwoods' infant leaves seem to be antiquated with a faint bronze cast, as if a rich golden brown tint had been painted over the underlying green and then wiped off again.

Throughout the eastern half of the United States the flowering dogwood spreads its tiers of white, pick-tinged bracts above the woodland floor, and soon throughout the continent our most prized fruit trees will flower forth in delicately colored spring gowns.

Amidst all of this rampant budding, blossoming and leafing out it is a wonder to me that leaves and flowers on the same tree do not overcrowd each other. Yet this seldom happens, as if there were an innate thoughtfulness and courtesy at work in nature. An experiment worth trying in springtime or summer is to take a leafed-out twig of almost any shrub or a cutting of nearly any plant and twist it around in your fingers. See how many complete turns of the stem are necessary before a leaf springs forth from the stem directly above any of the leaves arranged below it. Leaves do not burst from a stem haphazardly or in an accidental order. They are so placed on the stem as to make room for each other, so that each gets its share of sunshine and rain.

Wouldn't this be a much better world if all of us learned the lesson of a leafing plant and so lived our lives that each of us overshadowed others as little as possible?

The mistake of Mike Regan

Patrolman Michael Regan sees his friend, Harry Sharp, getting into a parked car and taps him on the shoulder.

"What did I do?" asks Harry. "I think maybe you stole this new Ford," Mike grins—"don't you always drive a medium-priced car?" "I bought this Ford Fairlane 500," Harry replies, "and it's the BEST car I ever bought. I got this big, good-looking automobile, plus automatic transmission, radio, heater, whitewalls, two-tone—the works—for lots less than I'd have paid for a stripped-down medium-priced car." "Sure and you're not as dumb as you look—I'll have to let you go," says Mike.

"You'll get a Ford Fairlane 500, too, unless you're as dumb as you look," Harry tells him. All kidding aside, a Ford with all the Luxury extras is really the steal of the year!

Olds Owner: You bet! They engineered the J-2 Rocket Engine for our kind of driving... top efficiency at normal driving speeds because it's fueled by one carburetor.

Friend: How about that extra power?

Olds Owner: Give it 3/4 throttle and two extra carburetors cut in. It's mighty reassuring to know you've got that extra power in the bank.

Friend: I get it. Economy when you want it—power when you need it.

Olds Owner: Correct. But talking about it won't give you the whole story. This one you've got to drive. Climb in—let's go.

Coast Guard Gets 40-Footer

Crewmen from the Charlevoix Lifeboat station pictured operating the new 40 ft. utility boat assigned to the Beaver Island lifeboat station. Built in the east, the boat was trucked to Grand Haven and brought to Charlevoix by Coast Guard personnel.

Purchasers Of Small Boats Warned Against Use Of Illegal Equipment

A warning to the general public against the purchase of illegal or unsafe boating equipment has been issued by the Commander of the 9th Coast Guard district.

To glamorize the new models, several small boat manufacturers have installed lights of various characteristics in addition to or in lieu of those prescribed by law. Flagrant examples include flashing red taillights, single or twin off-center all-around white stern lights and twin headlights similar to those on an automobile.

The all-around white light aft is required to be displayed on the center-line and on Class A and I motorboats is to form a range with the combination light. It must be of sufficient height to be clearly visible to approaching vessels. Off-center all-around white stern lights either single or double are illegal if lighted underway at night. The display of white headlights is prohibited as they impair the visibility of the combination or side lights.

The flashing red taillights are considered to be detrimental to safe navigation and impractical although such lights are not illegal unless they impair visibility or the distinctive character of the prescribed lights.

Since Coast Guard approved life preservers are only required on the navigable waters of the U. S., it is not illegal to manufacture equipment of questionable quality or characteristics. One of the Coast Guard approved preservers must be carried on board for each person on the boat when the boat is operated on the navigable waters of the U. S. and if not present the owner may be fined.

To purchase illegal or peculiar boating equipment is a waste of money and may eventually have to be replaced. More important, it may cost the life of its owner or others.

Joel Arvilla Has Narrow Escape At State Track Meet

Joel Arvilla, 17, Charlevoix high school senior, was to be discharged from the Michigan State University infirmary in East Lansing today (Thursday) where he has been a patient since Saturday after being struck in the head with a 16 pound shot while participating in the Class C state finals.

Arvilla was among several athletes standing next to the practice ring, watching the shot-put eliminations when an unidentified person uncocked a wild throw. The ball struck Arvilla a glancing blow on the back of the head. He was rushed to the MSU infirmary for x-rays and treatment. Four stitches were required to close the wound. Dr. James Ferrig, MSU physician, said it was a good thing the blow was glancing, otherwise severe damage could have been done.

Boyet City with seven qualified entrants piled up 27 points to win the Class C state title.

Mayor Reports City Interests Mutual On Exchange Visit

Mayor and Mrs. James Hiller have returned from Douglas where they spent Mayors' Exchange Day.

Mayor Hiller reports that they had an enjoyable time and said he felt that he had more in common with the officials of Douglas than with those of other communities he had visited because Douglas, like Charlevoix, is primarily a summer resort. For this reason, he said, they had many mutual interests and problems.

When Mayor and Mrs. Hiller arrived in the area, they were met by the high school band of Saugatuck, a community across the river from Douglas. The band led a parade across the river to Douglas where they were greeted by Douglas village officials and Mayor Hiller was presented the keys of the city.

Accompanied by the Mayor's Exchange committee, they were taken on a tour of the community, visited an apple processing plant, a frozen pie factory, and tulip farms near Holland.

They were also guests of the local officials at a luncheon and in the evening enjoyed a dinner with members of the village commission and their respective wives. Mayor Hiller presented gifts to the members, including a bottle of maple syrup and a copy of the Rev. Harold E. Kohn's most recent book "Through the Valley."

Mr. and Mrs. Hiller returned home Tuesday after spending Monday night at Douglas.

This Is Michigan

Back in 1837 Congress gave its approval to the admission of Michigan as the 26th state of the union. Back in those days the mighty Water Wonderland was a vast area of beautiful lakes and forests.

What has happened on the passing of 120 years?

Here is your Michigan today.

Michigan has become one of the greatest industrial states in the nation, and at the same time has gained top national ranking as a vacation paradise and agricultural leader.

The thumb state today, has more than 160,000 manufacturing and trade firms—more than 10,000 factories. It is the automobile center of the world and ranks first in the nation in the percentage of income derived from manufacturing.

While leading the nation in automobile production, Michigan has a remarkably diverse economy. Your state manufactures 81 percent of all types of products. It is first in the production of pharmaceuticals, foundry products, machine tool accessories, paint, heavy chemicals and grey iron.

It is also a leader in production of food products, paper, furniture, refrigeration machinery, automobile trailers, cereal and salt.

Recent reports of the Census of Manufactures for the year 1954, the most recent census, shows that Michigan led the nation in dollar value of capital expenditures. Michigan is still growing—still building.

Across the state industry is expanding for the future. In Sterling Township Ford Motor Company recently opened its new multi-million dollar chassis parts plant. Other new plants include General Electric at Holland, Carmet Division of Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corporation at Bad Axe and Continental Can Company at Three Rivers.

Elsewhere Michigan has gained national prominence in the manufacture of chemicals and drugs with production centers at Detroit, Kalamazoo, Midland, Wyandotte and Montague.

Michigan is the home of the world's largest commercial limestone quarries, at Rogers City and Port Inland. The state also is gaining as a center of production and research for the production of guided missiles.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula is in the middle of an economic boom with the resurgence of copper and iron mining.

Everywhere indications are that Michigan industry will continue to grow and prosper. Signs of the future can be found in the mighty Mackinac Bridge which will connect the state's Upper and Lower Peninsulas next fall. Throughout the state, lake ports are preparing for the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway which is scheduled for 1959. The Seaway is expected to bring even greater prosperity to the state through export and import trade to foreign countries.

These are only a few of the advantages and facts about Michigan. Many more could be detailed but it would require a book. Michigan Week, the annual observance of Michigan's advantages and blessings, is a time to remember all these things. It is a time to be proud, to say to anyone anywhere, that "It's Great to Live in Michigan."

It is also time to remember that Michigan lives by its industry. Help keep it strong—help it expand. It means a greater future for you and for all of the 7,500,000 citizens of this state.

Let's We Forget

By request Rev. George L. Majors, pastor of the Charlevoix Community Church of God, prepared the following Memorial Day address.

Soon it will be May 30—Memorial Day, and once again the parks and cemeteries of our land will blossom forth in bright colored wreaths, flags, and flowers placed there in loving memory of our dead. A gathering throng of all ages will move across the green lawn to where the National Anthem will ring out, and the solemn pledge to the waving flag will be spoken once more. There will be words for prayer with heads bowed low, and thoughts of patriotism and praise, the volleys of shots and the clear calm note of the bugle sounding its benediction—for it will be Memorial Day.

Memorial Day—it can be just another formality of tradition, or it can be a source of true devotion and great good, depending upon how we regard the occasion.

The word memorial implies remembrance, and its primary meaning is—to keep alive memory. As we gather together once more to hallow the memory of those who gave their lives for the great freedoms we enjoy, let us remember: that it grew out of the fertile soil of Christian principle, and that it can not long exist apart from it, or like a flower cut, it will soon wither and die. Christ is our only hope, individually and as a nation. Let us remember: in the free society in which we live we are not free to do as we please, but we are free to do what is right. God's will must be considered. This affords good government its surest support.

The Bible says, "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."—Proverbs 14:34 Let us forever cherish the thought of those who died for our freedom, and let us so cherish our freedom that it may never die.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Morlin

This is Michigan week the fourth annual observance of a week designed to tell people how wonderful this state of ours really is. And if you'll stop and think about it a minute, you'll agree that it's a pretty fine place to live. Few state have the diversified industries, mining and farming, for instance, that Michigan has. And no state has the water. But if you'd like to really know why Michigan's a good state in which to live, read some of the essays, themes and poems written about it by our youngsters. From the third through the 12 grades. There's been a lot of thought and effort put into each of them and we think you're going to enjoy them. You will find them scattered through this week's Charlevoix Courier. And perhaps next week's too. So take a look.

Don't forget the Homemaking class style show tonight and the spring music festival Friday night. Both are at the high school gym and both are meant to show you what our students in these two departments have accomplished during the school year. They're going to be very much worth your time so plan now to attend them.

Had a lot of fun the other day, thumbing through an album of old postcards that John Schroeder had found in the basement at his drug store. There were many pictures of the old Charlevoix Inn which has been gone since 1940. Of Fessenden's Drug store when it was located at the corner of Park and Bridge sts. Of the corner of Michigan ave. and River st. where the Charlevoix Oil Co. is now located but in those days it was nothing but a big pit where boxing matches were held on the Fourth of July and the spectators sat around on the banks which formed a natural amphitheater. And of Bridge st. when both sides were lined with buildings, including the old Charlevoix Hotel and many others. Most of the pictures were taken more than 30 years ago since the old hotel was in use. And it's only 10 years ago this summer that the construction of the new one was started. Where does the time go?

This is a big week for the seniors for on Sunday they take off on the trip they've been earning for the past four years. Count up all the baked goods you've bought, the magazines, subscriptions you've signed for, the cake and coffee, potato chips and candy bars you've eaten at football and basketball games and you'll see how much of an interest you have in this trip. If you're like us you have a pretty big share. And since we'd like to see our money well spent we sure hope the seniors have a whale of a time. We've seen these same guys and gals polishing halos and straightening their angel's wings for the event so we know they're going to be good and have a wonderful trip.

In the newspaper recently, a Hollywood item caught the eye of Bob Miles who called our attention to it. "Seems a Hollywood psychoanalyst made the statement that movie stars can never retire successfully because they have 'audience fever' . . . that is, they have to remain 'on stage' throughout their lives. . . . The psychoanalyst who made this statement is a former Charlevoixian, Dr. Mason Rose, who grew up over on Clinton st. before his family moved away. 'Way back when' . . .

Boys' City came up with the State Class C track title at East Lansing Saturday. With Carl Charon racking up most of their points. This performance is reminiscent of the day when a guy named Big Bergman captured a state title for Charlevoix practically single-handed.

It's Great to Live in Michigan

"It's Great to Live in Michigan" Miss Frances Milner's second grade students have made an extensive study of the reasons why it's great to live in Michigan and have posted pictures, maps and bulletins of Michigan on this attractive bulletin board in the classroom. Pictured at the board are (l to r) Kenneth Himebauch, Nancy Rader and Dan Louiselle.

All grades in the Charlevoix public schools participated in Michigan week activities under a program headed by Leonard Burns.

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Raymond Sanford, IC2, who is stationed at Bremerton, Wash., with the U. S. Navy, is spending a month's leave with his grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Sanford. He is also spending some time with his father, Leonard Sanford, who is employed in Lansing. Pvt. Larry Burns arrived home Friday to spend a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burns. He has completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo., and will report at Fort Gordon, Ga., for further training.

Memorial Day

By H. C. Hammond

Memorial Day has come again. He chased away a year; brought us to this place again. The place of memories, dear.

On land or sea or in the air, Martyr's martyr's everywhere; The challenge comes to you and me.

To stand right by 'til Victory.

Some mothers gave their only son; Sweethearts gave their beau; To make a safer place to live here in this world below.

Some fought high in the air; Some sailed the foaming sea; Every man must fight somewhere. If we would now be free.

Heroes are not born—they're made; They come from office, bench or trade; Donors, doctors or nurses be; What we need for Victory.

Let's remember human weakness; And all our failures too; We must have the Great Commander Or we never can go through.

Shall we not bow our heads in grief? Shall we not think of them Who stood on yonder battlefield And died out there like men?

There's a holiday coming up next week. . . . Memorial Day, when the country honors its war dead. . . . In honor of the occasion Charlevoix is planning its traditional Memorial Day parade.

To us there's nothing quite as heart-warming as small two parades. . . . The veterans who participate are guys you saw go off to war. . . . and many of the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who'll be marching are their youngsters. . . . or the children of your friends. . . . There's nothing impersonal about these parades. . . . Even to the community's war dead there's a personal touch. . . . you either know their families or you knew the boys themselves who gave their lives. . . . So come next Thursday, we hope you'll join us on the street corner to watch our friends march by. . . . and gathered at the cemetery where so many of our friends now rest for the program that's been planned.

And as a personal favor to us, won't you please be careful when driving in traffic over the long holiday weekend? . . . We like you all very much and we'd hate to have to list you among those being remembered on Memorial Day a year from now. . . . just because of a traffic accident.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?

This illustration pictures the skilled hands of a pharmacist as he fills tiny capsules with prescribed medicine. A simple procedure—yes, but one that is tremendously important to the person whose medicine he is preparing. The capsules must be the right size to contain the correct dosage as directed by the physician. They must be of quality that will protect the medicine against moisture yet dissolve instantly when taken. Trifles? Perhaps, but it is many such painstaking trifles that make for the perfection of our prescription service.

Students Glorify State With Michigan Week Compositions

Editor's Note: Following are a few of the compositions written by Charlevoix school students in observance of Michigan Week. We regret that many equally good articles had to be omitted because of time and space.

Michigan

Joel Arvilla, Grade Twelve

On the great seal of the state of Michigan are these words: "If you would see a beautiful peninsula, look around you." Then come with me and let us look around us at the greatness that is Michigan, a state we proudly call our own.

No matter where we start, nor in which direction we look, our first glance must take note that Michigan is a land of great water. Being bounded almost entirely by four Great Lakes, it has the longest coastline of any state in the union. This coupled with a super-abundance of inland lakes, allows us to stand unchallenged as the leading vacation land of the middle west. We are truly the Water Wonderland.

Michigan is a land of great resources. The discovery of Michigan iron ore in 1844 made possible the age of steel in America. Until, during World War II we earned the title of the Arsenal of Democracy by producing more than one-eighth of all United States war materials. We are blessed with a fabulous supply of salt, estimated by one geologist at seventy-two trillion tons, making us the number one producer of salt in the United States. We have deposits of copper which geologists regard as the most important of the kind in the world, the largest piece of copper movable, preserved in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, was mined in our copper country.

And I thought I've hardly begun! Michigan is a land of great production. We are the envy of others in so many ways, it is highly embarrassing to enumerate them. First, we make 90 percent of the automobiles of the world and our fame is worldwide. As indeed it should be. We are first in cherries from Traverse City, beans from Saginaw, celery from Kalamazoo, tulips from Holland, beet sugar from St. Johns, and popcorn from Allegan county. In Pellston they raise more potatoes per acre than anywhere else in the world. We are first in the nation in the production of cantaloupe, pickling cucumbers, and blueberries. We produce nearly all the aspirin made in the U. S. Grand Rapids is the nation's furniture capital, Battle Creek is the world's cereal foods center, Alpena has the world's largest cement plant, Muskegon the largest iron foundry and Detroit the largest forge plant.

Any account of Michigan's greatness would be incomplete without mention of the Soo Locks. Unequaled anywhere else in the world in navigational importance and the famous locks at Sault Ste. Marie. Through these locks pass more tonnage in an eight-months period Great Lakes season than the Panama and Suez Canals handle together in a full year. Operating with clock-like precision, toll-free, these massive locks constitute the most vital link in the world's busiest waterway, the Great Lakes. Therein lies the life line of American commerce and industry, and because of their strategic importance, they are under constant guard by the United States Army and Air Force. Our international border, no forts, no cannons, no guns, just the immigration and customs officials, very friendly individuals who welcome you to either side.

Indeed, Michigan is a tranquil, friendly state. A place to live in peace and serenity. Each year we welcome thousands of visitors to our land and we make them feel that it is their home, so they may say, in the words of the Bible, "I was a stranger in your midst and you took me in." Each of us typifies a part of the great heritage of the best state in the union. Gratefully we acknowledge the privilege of enjoying it, proudly we invite others to share it. Long may the blue flag with the Michigan coat of arms unfurl over a peaceful part of our great nation. Michigan, My Michigan.

Charlevoix the Beautiful

Paul V. Schloop, Grade Three

Michigan, oh Michigan, With the sun shining on the lakes, Michigan is so beautiful, So strong and great, That I could crown her The Queen of the United States.

The Nation's Vacationland

Albert Hayes, Speech Class

Michigan has four times as much water-covered area as any other state, 114,037 inland lakes, 36,350 miles of streams and 3,121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline. Nearly half of Michigan's 83 counties have frontage on these lakes.

A sportsman's paradise, Michigan usually outranks all other states in the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. During 1951 Michigan sold 1,053,930 hunting licenses of all descriptions and 1,128,242 fishing licenses.

Michigan's annual smelt runs produce fabulous catches of this tasty fish. Fifteen tons of smelt were hand-dropped from a Michigan stream during a 10-minute period.

Michigan ties New York state for having the most miles of trout streams; approximately half of Michigan's 36,350 miles of streams are trout waters.

The best of the nation's trout fishing is found in Michigan. In the eastern rainbow trout fly fishing and open divisions of a national fishing contest recently sponsored by a leading sports publication, eight of the first 20 prize-winning catches were caught in Michigan streams.

Proof of good "muskie" fishing is the 62½-pounder caught in Lake St. Clair within sight of Detroit's skyline. A record-breaker in 1940, it still ranks among the four largest muskies ever caught in the United States.

Michigan leads the nation in the number of state parks and prepared camp-sites (5,200) available to the public.

The Upper Peninsula boasts Porcupine Mountain State Park, the largest state park in the United States. Located in Gogebic and Ontonagon counties, its 41,925 acres of timbered highlands lure vacationists with Michigan's hardwood forests, gem-like Lake of the Clouds and thrilling winter sports.

The state of Michigan was the first to introduce roadside picnic tables to America. More than 3,000 charmingly rustic and restful picnic grounds have been established by the State Highway Department.

Sleeping Bear Dune, between Lake Michigan and Glen Lake in Leelanau county, is the largest shifting sand dune in the world.

Detroit's Zoological Park is outstanding among the nation's and world's zoos. Here more than 2,000 animals, birds and reptiles live much as they did in their native lands. It was among the first zoos to be built with barriers separating visitors and animals.

The Seney Wild Fowl Refuge in Schoolcraft county is one of the largest migratory waterfowl projects in the United States.

Pigeon River Forest has the only elk herd east of the Mississippi.

Isle Royale National Park is noted for having one of the largest remaining herds of great horned moose in the United States.

History says they crossed the ice from Canada in 1912 and were stranded by the spring thaw.

Michigan's deer herd, averaged annually at over 700,000, is the largest east of the Rocky Mountains.

Michigan

Sandra Cunningham, Grade Eleven

The "Water Wonderland" of the United States, the state of Michigan, received its name from two Indian words. . . . Mitchi, meaning great and sawyegan, meaning lake. It was originally given to both Lakes Michigan and Huron, but finally to Lake Michigan alone, and from that the state was named.

A more suitable name could not have been given to our wonderful state because it is formed of two great peninsulas, one between Lakes Michigan and Huron, and the other between Lakes Michigan and Superior. The two parts are separated by the Straits of Mackinac. Michigan has more miles of coast line than any other state in the Union. Many smaller inland lakes draw huge numbers of visitors and sportsmen.

The French were the first to settle in Michigan and the English took possession of it in 1763. It came to the United States after the Revolutionary War and became a territory in 1805. Michigan was made a state of the Union in 1837.

Michigan has grown and developed its industries and natural resources. The upper peninsula is famous for its mines of copper and iron and also for its vast stretches of forests. The southern peninsula has many natural resources too but it is noted chiefly for its farms. There are also many factories manufacturing engines, machines, furniture and refrigerators. The huge number of orchards are known throughout the nation for their cherries, apples and other products.

"If you seek beauty, look around you" is some of the best advice given to visitors in Michigan as well as to its native citizens. There is beauty in every corner of the state. In the well kept parks and forests, in the many lakes and fields, and in the growing villages and cities can be found creative wonders of Mother Nature and man. The past, the present and the future all hold warm memories for those of us who have and will be fortunate enough to live in a state so full of beauty and opportunity. Michigan is our state and we must do our best to preserve it and better it for those who will follow us in coming years. continued on page 9

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

The Response of the Tides

From my study window overlooking the bay at Wide Sky Harbor I can see the bright moon hanging low in the sky, looking as if just freshly polished by an ambitious wind. It seems to be resting there in the heavens, a mere 239,000 miles away, doing nothing but staring silently down upon the earth. It doesn't even shine of its own accord, from an inner brilliance of its own, but merely reflects the light of the hidden sun, as a mirror borrows a candle's light and spreads it.

Yet, contrary to all appearances, the moon is doing something. It is constantly exerting a gravitational pull upon the earth and all its waters—the skipping brooks, the gliding rivers, the placid lakes and mighty seas. Each body of water feels and manifests the moon's pull in proportion to its size. Little streams, great lakes and sweeping oceans are drawn outward and away from the earth's crust, but only on the larger bodies of water is noticeable in terms of rise and fall of water level. At the head of the Bay of Fundy, which separates New Brunswick from Nova Scotia, at certain times of the year the tides come in and go out at the astonishing rate of 10 feet per hour, or 60 feet from the highest to the lowest tide. The tug of the moon causes this bulging of the Atlantic. While the moon is but one of the celestial bodies observable in the heavens, its closeness to the earth grants it an influence here that no body of water on all the earth escapes.

The force exerted by the moon on the earth's waters is like the power of Christ in a Christian life. It is there even when not plainly apparent. Christ is but one of our many friends, but He influences all of our friendships, ennobling them, making them less self-seeking and more self-giving.

Christ is but one of our many teachers, but for the Christian all other teachers and all teachings are interpreted in the light of what He taught and was and is. A decision to follow Christ is but one of life's many choices. Yet all future decisions are made with the influence of that primary choice upon them.

And just as the immense Atlantic and the vast Pacific answer to the moon's pull on a grander scale than does Little Round Lake, so the bigger the soul the more mightily does it respond to the power of Christ and all that He represents.

Ladies Guests At Kiwanis Dinner

At the program which followed, John Swieringa of Holland presented a program of organ music on Hammond organs he had brought with him. John Mol was program chairman.

Barnard Grange Plans Memorial Service Friday

A special Memorial service under the direction of Mrs. Earl Blood, chaplain, will be a feature of the May 31 meeting of the Barnard Grange scheduled for 8:30 p. m. on that date.

At last week's meeting Dr. Otto Curtis, public relations director at the State hospital in Traverse City, and Miss May Nyland R. N. of Central Lake gave an interesting and enlightening talk on mental health and the state hospital. A question and answer period followed.

Other guests at the meeting were Mrs. Curtis, Jack Luedke of Petoskey, state Grange steward and Mrs. Luedke, L. E. McGhan, master of the Marion Grange and Mrs. McGhan.

Increase Patrols On Highways For Holiday Weekend

Holiday weekend schedules of the Michigan State Police, the first such being the coming Memorial Day weekend, again call for all available enlisted personnel being on either desk or patrol duty, cancellation of pass days and patrols working 10-hour shifts.

In addition, 180 National Guardsmen will be assigned to State Police for traffic duty and 120 to sheriff departments.

The intensified schedule of the State Police over the Memorial weekend will be in effect from noon Wednesday, May 29 to midnight Sunday, June 2.

Patrols will give particular attention to high accident areas, especially during the hours of the heaviest flows of traffic.

The worst Memorial holiday period on record was in 1941 when 58 persons were killed in the state, and the best was in 1950 when only four died in traffic accidents. Last year there were 10 deaths.

In his warning to drivers over the forthcoming weekend, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said "It's better to be cautious during your minutes or hours at the wheel than dead forever."

Mrs. James Beass18

Mrs. James Beass was guest of honor at a stork shower given Monday evening by Alice Thorp.

Guests gathered at the Thorp home for games with prizes going to Mrs. James Beass and Mrs. Leon Pease.

Dolls in miniature cradles and pink and white streamers decorated the refreshment table.

At the close of the evening, the honoree was presented with a variety of lovely gifts.

Other guests at the party were Mrs. Allen Pease, Mrs. George McWater, Mrs. Everett Pease, Mrs. Wallace Pease and daughter, Mrs. Arthur Christ, Mrs. Howard Beass, Mrs. Kent McMath, Mrs. Harvey O'Brien, Mrs. Kenneth Krulik, Mrs. William Thorp, Sharon Swanson and Kaye Lewis.

Newsweek reports that pleasure boating was a $1.3 billion business in this country last year. There is now a craft of some kind for every 28 Americans and the number is increasing at twice the rate of passenger car ownership.

Douglas City Officials Are Guests Here

Charlevoix was host to city officials from Douglas in Allegan county during the fourth annual Mayors Exchange Day Monday.

Village president L. E. Quade and clerk Howard C. Schultz and their respective wives spent the day here while Mayor and Mrs. James Miller were enjoying the hospitality of Douglas.

Harry Gebeau, mayor pro tem, Franklin Boss, chairman of the Mayor's Exchange committee and Hal M. Hill, city superintendent, escorted Mr. Quade and Mr. Schultz on a tour of the city utilities, city hall, new county building and local industries. An airplane trip so they could enjoy an aerial view of Charlevoix concluded the afternoon activities.

While their husbands were tending to the business of the city, Mrs. Quade and Mrs. Schultz were taken on a tour of interesting spots in the community by Mrs. Hill, and Mrs. Charles Bellinger and Mrs. Richard Edwards.

In the evening councilmen, city officials and their wives were guests at a dinner at Maria's at the Weatherlane honoring the visitors.

Mr. Gebeau, speaking in behalf of the city, presented Mr. Quade with a fishing rod made by Stream-Eze and the other guests were given gifts of maple syrup made at Birchwood ranch and candy made at Mordick's Candy Kitchen.

Mr. Quade and Mr. Schultz spoke briefly, thanking city officials for their hospitality.

At noon the group gathered at the Grey Gables Inn for a luncheon.

Early Settler Liked Life Among Indians

Ever wonder how "Michigan-ers" captured by Indians in the old fur-trading days found life among the savages?

Howard H. Perham, director of the University of Michigan Clements Library, gives an account in his book, "Captured by Indians," of the adventures of Alexander Henry, one of four Englishmen who had come in 1761 to Fort Michilimackinac (where Mackinaw City now stands) to seize the trade advantages at the outpost.

Captured in a raid on the fort in 1763, part of Pontiac's uprising, Henry was later adopted as a brother by a Chippewa named Wawatam. Henry participated in almost all phases of Indian life, and even gained some reputation as a medicine man because he could use a lance.

By the time his Indian family set up winter camp in the vicinity of modern Ludington, Henry enjoyed the freedom of a family member and liked the sport.

One day in January, 1764, Henry found the marks of bear claws on the trunk of a huge pine tree. Wawatam agreed with him that the bear must be hibernating up in some hollow part. It took the whole family a day and half to fell the forest giant with their small axes. An enormous bear squirmed out of a hole, and Henry shot it.

The women caressed its head, and begged its pardon for killing it. The squaws then skinned the animal and cut it up. The head had to be carried back to camp and decorated with beads. Next day a feast was prepared. This was preceded by the ceremonial pipe. Wawatam made a speech about the necessity, at times, of killing one's friends. Then everyone ate heartily.

In April, the Indians set off for Michilimackinac. Henry found only two French traders at the fort. Wawatam gave him a share of the winter work. Henry outfitted himself with new clothes and bought ammunition and tobacco.

A week later some Chippewas from Saginaw Bay arrived to recruit braves to renew the siege of Fort Detroit. Pontiac was trying to revive the Indian rebellion. The Saginaw Chippewas looked upon Henry as a potential enemy and proposed to make "English broth" of him.

Henry asked Wawatam to take him to Sault Ste. Marie and the protection of old Jean-Baptiste Cadotte. Enroute there, they met a canoe carrying Mme. Cadotte, homeward and Henry joined her. Wawatam wished him well and Henry parted from him with some regret. He was once more free and independent.

Trout fishing grows more popular in Michigan each year, with the addition of about 10,000 new trout anglers records. Every year since 1952.

Tests Reveal New Fungicides Used To Control Blight

Tests at Michigan State University have shown that a combination of ziram or zinab with fixed copper continued to be one of the best control measures for anthracnose, early blight, Septoria blight and late blight in tomatoes.

M. C. Strong, botany and plant pathology researcher, reported this conclusion after two years of testing new fungicides and fungicide combinations, according to Ed Robman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Spray formula used in these tests was one-half of the manufacturer's recommendations for fixed copper and one-half of the manufacturer's recommendation for ziram or zinab per 100 gallons of water. In the experiments this gave good control of anthracnose, early blight and Septoria blight. To control late blight, the fixed copper was increased to the actual amount recommended.

Dyrene, a new raw material, looking promising for anthracnose and early blight control, according to Mr. Robman. However, it cannot be recommended until more tests are completed.

Dithane HE-177 also shows more promise for tomato disease control. Mr. Strong indicated it might prove to be the most effective tomato fungicide if the base materials could be more easily made.

Captan, an excellent fungicide for many crops, did not give good results in the tests and is not recommended for tomatoes.

Vacationing In Charlevoix County

Linda Neff, Grade Six

Charlevoix county is one of Michigan's best and most wonderful vacation spots.

A wide variety of beautiful resorts, cottage and cabin colonies, resort hotels, tourist courts and motels promise summer tourists much enjoyment on Lake Michigan, Lake Charlevoix and Walloon Lake.

Each part of the county has its own sights. Beaches, golf courses, state and municipal parks, the interesting and historic Beaver Island and the yacht harbors. The Boyne Mountain chair lift offers scenic views of the Boyne river valley.

Centers of interest are: the towns of Charlevoix on highways US 31 bordered by Lake Charlevoix, Lake Michigan and Round Lake; Boyne City on the eastern end of beautiful Lake Charlevoix which is on highway M-75; Walloon Lake midway between Petoskey and Boyne City is also on highway M-75; East Jordan at the southern tip of Lake Charlevoix on highway M-66; Ironton is also on highway M-66 along the southern arm of Lake Charlevoix; Boyne Falls is on highway US 131 and historic Beaver Island 32 miles off Michigan's mainland in Lake Michigan.

Charlevoix is the county seat and the center of all activity in the county, with a beautiful harbor for pleasure boats.

The biggest event for boats is the Venetian Night Parade. That night prizes are offered to the best decorated boats and fireworks light the sky to make Round Lake a beautiful sight.

Many-day fever sufferers come to Charlevoix county for relief in late summer.

Foxes have several calls, the communist being a short, yapping bark.

My Michigan

Mary Ann Berg, Speech Class

I sat down to put into words just what Michigan means to me, and trying to put into words how I felt, I looked out the window.

Trees are just coming into bloom in our orchard. Past the orchard is rolling green pastures, where contented cows stand with little wet calves that are still too young to frolic like some of the older ones.

Then my mind goes out past our little farm. I remember the many trips that Daddy and Mother have taken me on. How marvelous it was to see great purple mountains, deep blue oceans, desert expansions with tall, lean cactuses pointing up and up into the clouds above.

But with all this, my mind was on the road home. How I searched for a little white road sign with "Michigan" on the top. Believe me, I was happy to cross that line. It was like being in foreign lands . . . but once in Michigan I was at home.

Michigan is a leader in many, many products, but when I stop to search my heart why I love this state, it's not because of huge cities like Detroit with crowded streets, restless people, huge factories, theaters, and other big buildings . . . no, I think of the long lonely stretch of road up near Grayling where tall pines stand guard over you while little deer play along the road to keep you company and certainly keep you alert, the beautiful lakes, rivers, streams and the quiet forest with the soft ball earth covered with a blanket of little blue violets.

This is my Michigan. Wherever I go after I'm grown up, no matter how far away, the little sign at the end of all roads for me will be that little white sign spelling: MICHIGAN.

Charlevoix Region

Jerry Keiser, Grade Eight

Charlevoix county is a part of the Traverse Region, which used to be the home of the Ottawa and Chippewa Indians. Today few are left to tell their interesting history.

Although much of it is gone, nine trees remain to mark the place where these tribes met to keep peace among the tribes. Although the trees had their branches twisted while small, and they grew crooked, woodsmen have cut all except nine of these famous trees which still stand at the top of Greensky Hill.

Greensky Hill, about five miles northeast of Charlevoix on old US 31, was named for Peter Greensky, an Indian who lived close by the place where the Ottawa Council Trees are.

Indians called Charlevoix and Green River, Ske-pe-wa. Even the old Indians call it by the old Indian name.

"MOM, can I stay at Tommy's for lunch?" Just a simple telephone message, but because of it Mom knows just where her youngster is. The telephone makes it easier to keep track of the children. Remind them to call you if they're going to be late getting home from school or if they stop off at a friend's house. And, Mom, you can check on Junior's whereabouts just by calling the neighbor down the street. Why not let your telephone help you all it can? It's always there, ready to serve you whenever you need it.

TELEPHONE OFFICES on wheels are being used in a number of fast-growing communities. Eight of these large trailers, carrying complete dialing equipment, are now in use. They were wheeled into rapidly built-up towns where the demand for telephone service increased faster than anyone could foresee. They serve up to 1,200 customers apiece. These trailers were put into operation in a matter of weeks. Michigan Bell was one of the first telephone companies to use this ingenious mobile central office to help provide service until telephone buildings can be enlarged to house permanent equipment.

BELL SYSTEM Credit Cards are now more convenient than ever. They make it so easy to telephone Long Distance when you're away from home. Just say to the operator: "I want to make a Credit Card call. My card number is . . ." Your call goes through and is charged to your own telephone. You'll find it comes in mighty handy when you're traveling or visiting in another's home. So, if you don't already have a Bell System Credit Card, call our Business Office and ask for one. Credit Cards are furnished free of charge, of course.

Riparian Water Right Doctrine Accepted In Most Eastern States

(This is the third in a series of 10 articles written by Ed Robman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, regarding water rights in Michigan.)

Farmers in Michigan can make use of water in streams, water-courses and lakes, based on the riparian doctrine. This doctrine states that they may make reasonable use of the normal flow of the stream. Water from these sources may be used for domestic use, including livestock.

There are 31 states, including Michigan, using this reasonable use doctrine. These are the eastern states which, as a rule, have more rainfall than the western states.

A person must own land bordering a stream or lake in order to use this water. They can take it out at any place on their land, but cannot move it to another watershed. This right is a property right and is considered a part of the land.

Up to the present time no Michigan court has stated that irrigation is a domestic use. However, some other states have indicated that irrigation is permissible. Farmers who are irrigating could very well lose the supply of water if the courts do not consider it a reasonable use. Other riparian users may complain and stop the farmer from irrigating. Also, other riparian users might use more water and leave none for irrigation.

Some arguments have been advanced against the riparian doctrine. First, they state that it may lead to monopoly in that interests other than agriculture Points Way To Prosperity In Northern Mich.

Economic improvement is within the grasp of Northern Michigan, a panel of outstanding resource speakers pointed out at a meeting at Grayling last Wednesday.

The area was cited as a new frontier for prosperity which needs only a spark from its own residents to launch a GO-PROGRAM all over Michigan's North Country.

Over 500 persons assembled in the Grayling high school gymnasium to hear the panel discuss an action program and detailed steps for the improvement of the area's economy and standards.

The meeting was sponsored by the Northern Michigan Development Council under arrangements carried out by Orville Walker, chairman of the Council's Natural Resources and Agricultural Committee.

Led by Les Biederman, Travelers City broadcasting executive, a panel of six speakers urged planning, participation and persistence in developing industry, natural resources and educational facilities.

Biederman said Northern Michigan is at a "crossroads." He urged support of local industry, development of new industries and renovation of area communities to meet modern demands.

The audience represented 33 northern Michigan counties whose southern boundary forms a line from Bay and Oceana Counties.

Joe Harrington, marketing specialist for northern Michigan, described the area's potato industry. He suggested a need for processing plants to turn the raw product into potato flakes, a new commercial dehydrating method.

Stanley Ries, Michigan State University horticulture specialist, pleaded for growers interest and support of new methods for growing fresh produce to combat competition from other states in off seasons.

District Home Economic Supervisor Edna Sommerfeld described home industries and crafts as means of supplementing northern Michigan family incomes.

Lester Bell, Michigan State University extension forester, described opportunities in a reviving lumber industry. Charles Welch, regional educational supervisor for the conservation department, hailed the area's recreational facilities.

Dr. Paul Miller, director of extension at Michigan State University, summarized with a plea for "planning and applied foresight" in view of future problems.

He said northern Michigan was no longer isolated, but had emerged as an "agri-industrial region which dares not lay by."

Council President Myrt Riggs introduced Dr. Charles Anspach, president of Central Michigan college, as program chairman. Biederman spoke for D. B. Varner, Michigan State University vice president who was delayed at Lansing.

The department of Labor Consumer Price Index rose from 59.4 in 1939 to 118.2 in January of this year. In other words, in that time the purchasing power of the dollar was cut almost in half.

may have more finances and acquire land on lakes and streams. The riparian user is not guaranteed a certain amount of water, only a reasonable use. There may be more essential uses other than domestic that may not have any water. Michigan does not have a water law at the present time but does rely on the riparian doctrine. People may lose this right to the water by prescription or by subdividing the land. It also may be lost by being condemned for public use. The right to use water is not lost by not using it as in the case of prior appropriation.

Senior Class To Leave Sunday For Cruise On Lakes

The members of the senior class of the Charlevoix high school, accompanied by their class advisors, will leave this weekend on their annual class trip.

The trip, a cruise aboard the S. S. South American, will be the first among a series of events honoring the 1957 graduating class of the local high school.

Fifty-seven members of the class of '57, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Max Novak, will leave Charlevoix at 6 a. m. Sunday for the bus trip to Detroit where they will board the cruise ship at the foot of Woodward ave.

The ship will sail at 3:30 p. m. arriving at Mackinac Island at 1 p. m. Monday for a 3 1/2 hour stay. The ship will dock at Navy pier at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday where the group will be met by school buses for the trip home.

A full program of entertainment and ship-board activities has been planned for the group while aboard ship.

The Charlevoix seniors will be among those from several other schools who will be making the same trip under the direction of the Youth Travel Agency.

Martin Elzinga and Averill Howard will be the bus drivers on the trip. After the students board the ship in Detroit, these drivers will take the buses across southern Michigan to meet them in Chicago Tuesday. The travelers can be expected home about midnight Tuesday. However, time of arrival will depend on the weather and driving conditions.

High School Class Presents Annual Style Show Tonight

At that time the 76 members of the department will model the "prize" garments they have made at home. A skit, entitled "S & K vs. Popularity" will open the show. In the play, Janice Burns, as the fairy godmother, and Vicki Miller as Miss Popularity show the teen-ager, played by Marilyn VerWys, the six keys to popularity.

The show is open to the public without charge.

J. C. Marshall Attend State Conference

A Michigan Sewage and Industrial Waste conference was held in Traverse City Monday through Wednesday.

J. C. Marshall, who manages the local sewage disposal plant, was in Traverse City to attend the event.

This terse but scathing commentary on the federal budget problem was written by a third-grade Virginia school boy and published in his class paper: "Eisenhower made a big budget and congress wants him to cut it down. Eisenhower told congress to cut it down and congress passed the buck to Eisenhower again. Now they are arguing, in a friendly, polite way about who should cut it. In the meantime the budget is as fat as ever."

At the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Township Board on Tuesday, April 9, 1957, the following resolution was passed: "RESOLVED" That the Zoning Ordinance of Charlevoix Township, Article VIII, Section 8.02, paragraph 7 be amended to read: "Building permit fees are to be set annually by the Township Board."

This amendment becomes effective 30 days following publication.

Recreation Director Completing Plans For Softball Schedule

Plans for the 1957 summer softball program are shaping up well, according to Dean Davenport, city recreation director, who added that the plans are far ahead of last season's at this time.

However, there is a need for one more umpire in the Class B league, and for the peanut league and for umpires.

The B league needs one more sponsor to field out its league. Zephyr Service Station, Dutcher's Super Market and Edwards food store are the only teams. Anyone interested in sponsoring a team should contact Mr. Davenport.

Mr. Davenport who sponsored the 1956 year has offered to back a peanut league team and perhaps outfit such a team. Three more sponsors are needed to back and perhaps outfit the three remaining peanut teams so that all eight to 12 year old players may be in uniform.

The Class A league is pretty well organized, Mr. Davenport said. There are six teams entered but positions to be filled on several.

The U. S. Coast Guard team faces the job of rebuilding its team which lost several top-flight players since last season. They are badly in need of a pitcher and also a team manager at this time.

The American Mold team is also being rebuilt and have come up with a new pitcher-catcher combination in Dean Davenport and Jerry Danbert. The latter caught for the service outfit last year.

John McKenzie, manager of the City Merchants, has Nathan B. as a pitching serviceman, as a pitcher. Fredman's general manager, John Swanson, has as an pitcher, Fritz Puffaff, ready for the opener. Ellsworth seems to be well organized and is expected to be the favored team with Bob Kloster on the mound. Carson-Kloster's manager, Kit Carson Jr., has served notice that his last year's championship team is eagerly awaiting the coming season.

The big need for the season which is scheduled to open about June 17 is umpires, Mr. Davenport said. The salary per game is $1.75 for Class A games and $1.50 for others. Anyone interested in serving as an umpire is asked to call Mr. Davenport at LI 7-2698.

the concert, will present a program of favorite selections including Rogers and Hammerstein's "You'll never walk alone" and "My Country" by Gordon.

A total of 236 students are enrolled on the school's music program which will present the concert Friday night.

There will be no admission for the concert, the last of the current school year. Elementary school students, however, must be accompanied by an adult.

In this way the teams will be better balanced, Mr. Davenport added. The tentative date for the try-outs are May 30 and 31. However, further notice will be given.

The proposed draft plan for the Class A league was voted down 3-2.

First Book to Be Published

A well known local resident, Bernice C. Weststaff, will have her first book entitled "The Black Panther of the Great Lakes" published shortly by the William B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., of Grand Rapids.

A book for juveniles, it tells the story of a 13-year old boy who persuades his mother, much against her better judgment, to buy him an old boat which he plans to rebuild. Its 13 chapters, illustrated with brush and ink drawings by the Rev. Harold E. Kohn, tell of his interesting and exciting experiences as a youthful "boat" builder.

Why does a person, busy with the operation of a business as well as household duties turn to writing, an exacting and time-consuming work, for relaxation? As Mrs. Weststaff relates it: "Printer's ink got into my blood a long time ago when I worked on the Charlevoix Courier after graduating from high school. One would imagine," she continued, "that the ink would evaporate during many married years of helping a husband operate a business, looking after a household and rearing a son. However, a casual enrollment in a course in creative writing revitalized the ink content pronto."

"Writers are a lot like old soldiers whose careers go on and on so it wasn't long in the progress of the writing course until I found myself at my old portable (Continued on page 1).

Orthopedic Shoe Line Now Stocked By P. D. Campbell

The Campbell Boot shop, located at 219 Bridge st. has just stocked the nationally famous Child Life shoes, P. D. Campbell, owner-operator of the store, has announced.

These shoes are approved by outstanding orthopedic clinics throughout the state and are recognized as being among the best in America by many doctors of orthopedic recognition, Mr. Campbell added.

The Child Life franchises, which Campbell Boot shop now has, makes it possible for parents to have their children fitted with the use of the Brannock device, which assures accurate foot measurement. It also makes it possible for parents whose children need corrective shoes to purchase them locally.

Low Water Poses Dock Problem

Charles Bellinger (left), first ward alderman and chairman of the docks and harbors committee of the city council, and Joseph F. Howard, harbor master, look over some of the damage to docks caused by the low water conditions in the lakes.

Mr. Bellinger said that only necessary repairs would be made to docks and slips along the waterfront this year. He added that if the low water conditions continue the docks will be lowered. It was only four years ago that the lower section of the slip pictured was under water and it was necessary to build the top section so the slips could be utilized.

Youths Waive Examination On Bomb Charge

Two Charlevoix youths, Donald L. Hull, 17, and Richard M. Sutton, 18, charged with throwing a homemade bomb from an automobile early Thursday evening, injuring a 12-year-old girl, waived examination before Justice John Connolly and were bound over to circuit court.

The pair were held in the Charlevoix county jail after failing to furnish bonds of $1,000 each.

A third youth, a 16-year-old from Grayling, was also involved in the incident. The probate court has been petitioned to waive jurisdiction over him so he can be taken into justice court. A hearing has been scheduled for 10 a. m. Friday.

The trio threw a bomb made of a dynamite fuse about five inches long attached to a dynamite cap from their car, injuring Kathy Gallagher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher, who with several friends were playing ball near the Gallagher home on Wood st. The resulting blast blew pieces of gravel and metal penetrated her skin and cutting through her clothing. Only the fact that she threw her hands over her face saved her eyes from possible serious damage.

The trio was arrested a short time later by Chief of Police Joseph Smith from information given him by Kathy and other witnesses.

On Monday, Hull and Sutton were charged with petty larceny and returned to justice court. They pleaded guilty to stealing a battery and gasoline from the lime quarry on Lake Michigan.

They were each fined $50, ordered to pay $5.00 court costs, make restitution of $10 and sentenced to 60 days in jail. If the fines, costs and restitutions are not paid within 60 days they must serve an additional 30 days each.

Set Final Filing Date For Trustee

June 14 has been set as the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the annual school election, it was announced this week.

The annual election will be held July 8 to elect one member to the Charlevoix board of education which serves the Charlevoix school district.

The term of Vernon L. Mathews will expire this year. Nominating petitions may be obtained at the office of the superintendent in the elementary building.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Jackson and son, Donald, have returned from several days in southern Michigan. Mrs. Jackson was called to Kent City May 18 by the death of her father, Arthur W. Johnson. Mr. Jackson and son joined her for the funeral Tuesday. On Wednesday they attended the graduation of their son, Roderic, at Western Theological Seminary in Holland before returning home. The Rev. and Mrs. Jackson will leave soon for Tinley Park, Ill., where he has accepted a pastorate.

Local Fishermen Display Prize Trout

Did you happen to see the dozen beautiful speckled trout displayed in the window at Staley Hardware Monday?

Proud owners of the fish were Clare Staley and five Drost who caught them in the Frontier Camp, Ont., area over the weekend.

Mr. Staley said they weighed approximately two pounds a piece.

County Schools To Have Speech Correction Class

Charlevoix county schools will have an added educational service, a speech correction program, when classes begin in September, Charles A. Robinson, county superintendent of schools, has announced.

Allen J. Coltharp Jr., of Hazel Park has been engaged by the county Board of Education in co-operation with the school districts in the county to establish a speech correction program for the school children in the county.

Mr. Coltharp will be graduated from Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo in June and will move to northern Michigan in August to establish the program.

His first job will be to make a survey of the needs in the schools of the county, Mr. Robinson said. It is hoped that the program will serve as a preventive measure as well as a corrective one, he added.

Capt. Oscar Smith, Retired U. S. Coast Guardsman Dies

Captain Oscar Smith, 79, retired U. S. Coast Guardsman, died Tuesday at the Charlevoix hospital where he had been a patient for three weeks. He has been in failing health for several years.

Funeral services will be held at the Pontius Chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiating. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Captain Smith was a veteran of 35 years in the U. S. Coast Guard and was officer in charge of the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station from 1924 until he retired in February, 1941.

Born at Frankfort, April 13, 1874, he joined the U. S. Life-saving service which in 1914 became a part of the U. S. Coast Guard. He was stationed at various Lifeboat stations on Lake Michigan before coming to Charlevoix in 1924. He served with the armed forces during World War I and was a member of the American Legion.

He is survived by his wife, the former Emma Bequist whom he married at Suttons Bay in 1908; a daughter, Nellie of Charlevoix and Traverse City; two sons, Capt. Willard J. of the U. S. Coast Guard stationed in Washington, D. C., and Joseph of Short Hills, N. J.; four grandchildren and two brothers, George Schmidt of Flint and Albert Schmidt of Cleveland.

Joseph Smith Is Appointed Police Chief

Mayor James Miller's appointment of Joseph L. Smith, veteran member of the Charlevoix police force, as chief of police to succeed the late Clarence Heise, was approved at the regular meeting of the City Council Monday night.

The appointment will become effective at once.

Mr. Smith has been a member of the police force since 1941 with the exception of 18 months during 1944 and '45 when he served in the U. S. Army during World War II. He was named to succeed the late Mr. Heise who had served as chief of police for 20 years prior to his death May 10.

In other action, the council voted to advertise for bids for the construction of a 10-inch trunkline water main from Park ave. to Carpenter ave. on Sherman st. and east on Carpenter ave. across Bridge st. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the city clerk. Deadline for filing bids has been set for 8 p. m. June 10.

The request of Selective Service for renewal of the lease for office space in the city hall for a period of one year beginning July 1 was approved.

Mary Feindt, city surveyor, was authorized to make a title search of all property lying east of the airport in order to determine lot lines. She was asked to report on her findings at the June 10 meeting.

A contribution of $50.00 to the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club Auxiliary to be used for the construction of a float to be entered in the Cherry Festival parade at Traverse City in July was approved.

A bid in the amount of $101.00 submitted by Earl Johnson for city-owned house on Stover road known as the Gillispie house was approved. The house must be razed and the debris cleared away within 30 days of acceptance of the bid.

Bills amounting to $18,954.52 were approved and ordered paid.

Tax Allocation Board Meets To Approve New Rate

The Charlevoix county Tax Allocation Board met here Monday to adopt the final tax rate for 1958.

The rate as adopted was the same as suggested at the initial meeting May 13. It allocates 6 1/2 mills to the county to cover operational costs for 1958; one mill, as voted, to the courthouse sinking fund; one mill to all township, with the exception of Hayes whose budget did not show a need and seven mills to all school districts with the exception of Bay Shore No. 5 and Murray No. 1, both located in Hayes township, which received 7 1/2 mills.

The tax will be levied on the state equalized valuation figure of $32,691,700.

Sees Little Change In State School Aid Legislation

The 1957-58 School Aid legislation as passed last week by the Michigan Legislature last week bears strong resemblance to last year's bill, according to Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools who gave the following explanation of the legislation in answer to several questions submitted by the Charlevoix Courier.

However, there are some notable changes he said.

More emphasis will be placed on local taxes as a requirement for state-aid assistance. A maximum of $12,000,000 may be spent for transportation and pupils may be required to live 1 1/2 miles from school before transportation costs will be reimbursable to the district.

The maximum that will be paid for special education is the same as last year, though the state will pay only 75 percent of the cost.

One and two room schools will receive the same amount as last year. For the larger systems, they will receive a guaranteed $190 gross allowance.

The out-state deductible millage has been increased to 2.75 mills. The tuition formula throws a little more burden on the local sending district. County school districts will receive a 10 percent increase. And, finally, no more than five per cent of the state-aid monies may be transferred from the general fund to the building and site fund.

First Wilson Awards To Be Given Students

The first annual Wilson prizes will be awarded to two outstanding members of the 1957 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school at Commencement exercises Wednesday, Supt. R. G. Bennett has announced.

Named for the donor, Robert S. Wilson, executive vice president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., who will deliver the Commencement address, the prizes will be awarded to a senior boy and girl who have done the most for their school during their senior year by "providing an example of helpful attitude toward their classmates and faculty, good effort to the extent of their ability in studies, sports and school activities and integrity of character."

Each recipient will receive a silver bowl which has been properly inscribed and a check for $50.00. The school will be given a plaque on which will be inscribed the names of this year's winners with space for the names of future winners.

A fund has been established by Mr. Wilson so that this may be made a continuous prize. The selection of the winners were made by recommendations of the senior class and the faculty following an election. Final appointment was made by a committee headed by H. E. Bingham, high school principal.

The names of the winners will not be revealed until Mr. Wilson presents the prizes during the exercises.

In announcing the establishment of the prizes by Mr. Wilson, a well known summer resident here, Mr. Bennett said that "It is our hope that the winning of the prize will grow in esteem and have an influence toward good citizenship."

From Luxury to Necessity

During the next ten years the American people may attain a standard of living 50 per cent higher than the present level.

Economists predict that the present national productive capacity of $412 billion will reach $600 billion by 1957. This is a conservative estimate which does not take into account the possibility of dramatic new inventions.

However, the fact that American productive machinery is capable of vastly increasing our wealth does not necessarily certify that we will enjoy the potential wealth. Before the process of creating new wealth is completed, the public must be stimulated to consume the increase in production.

Newer and better goods and services do not automatically bring buyers to the market. The public is ultra-conservative in its buying habits. The old way of doing things always seems to be quite satisfactory.

Families who could easily afford home air-conditioning continue to suffer the summer heat. A housewife may spend hours of drudgery processing fresh vegetables before she discovers that frozen foods are often better and cheaper.

Old habits die hard. The difference between a luxury and a necessity is a difference in mental attitude. Before we may enjoy the increased wealth that our productive resources promise, many present day luxuries will have to become necessities in the public mind. Bringing about this change of mind is an important function of advertising. It is a function which will be performed most successfully by the local newspaper — the medium from which the adult public obtains most of the information on which public opinion is based.

The submarine was not generally recognized as a legitimate instrument of warfare until the Civil War.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

This, perhaps you knew, was to be Charlevoix's centennial year. . . . But since there wasn't enough interest the idea was abandoned by most people. . . . But there were a few persistent souls who wouldn't let the idea drop. . . . One of them is Bob Miles who has gone about the job of collecting old pictures of Charlevoix or Charlevoix in the good old days. . . . He is mounting them as he acquires them and during the summer they will be displayed for all to see. . . . You don't realize how much Charlevoix has changed through the years till you see those. . . . For instance, did you know that at one time the lighthouse was located on the north pier which was a regular pier with a catwalk which extended way out into Lake Michigan. . . . There are many other interesting pictures among those you'll be seeing from now on.

Charlevoix has always believed in advertising the assets of the community, especially as a resort. . . . Mrs. Fred Gill loaned us a copy of a book which was printed somewhere around 1900. . . . The Manitow was listed as a floating palace, the Walter Chrysler and the Gordon make two trips daily to East Jordan, the E. L. Hackley with P. D. Campbell as master made daily trips to Beaver Island, the Charlevoix of the Northern Michigan Transportation Co. made regular trips from Chicago to Charlevoix to Mackinac. . . . F. N. Chapel operated a drugstore where Central Drug is now located. . . . The Charlevoix Lumber Co., was located at the same site and the yards were filled with lumber. . . . The Hotel Bartlett featuring electric lights and furnace heat was THE hotel of the town. . . . the Lewis Grand Opera House with a seating capacity of 800 was fully equipped with electric lights. . . . Will E. Hampton was editor of the Charlevoix Democrat. . . . R. B. Armstrong, M. D., was pictured with a full beard. . . . and with an office in the Crouter building (where the bakery is now located). . . . G. W. Priest had opened "the finest ground-floor gallery in northern Michigan" and wrote that I come to stay: will be here next year. . . . (And he was here for more than 40 years, putting the people and history of Charlevoix on film). . . . the harbor was pictured with dozens of sailing schooners tied at the docks or to each other. . . . Frank M. Sears operated a store selling clothing, hats, caps, furnishing goods, trunks, valises, etc. . . . James A. Grellick operated a sample room and billiard parlor known as the Ferris Wheel. . . . George Burns operated a livery and bus line. . . . Sam Beaubien did horseshoeing, blacksmithing and general repairing. . . . David Tillison Livery and Feed Stable, advertised rigs that could be had promptly at all hours of the day or night. . . . the Charlevoix Roller Mills (later the Argo Milling Co.) advertised White Rose and Iron Duke flours. . . . There was no white picket fence across the track from the railroad station. . . . J. B. Thielan, M. D., had an office over the Chapel drug store. . . . the Charlevoix Inn was advertised as the new summer hotel. . . . and trees hadn't grown enough to cover

Meggison Urges Construction Of Dock Facilities

Clarence B. Meggison, representative of the Charlevoix district, has given his support to waterfront projects in Charlevoix county, including the development of facilities in the harbor at St. James, Beaver Island, and the repair of a damaged dock at Boyne City.

In a letter to the Michigan State Waterways Commission, Mr. Meggison urged that the Commission begin construction of transient boat facilities in the harbor at St. James in time for use this season. He pointed out that such a facility would provide recreational boaters with a place to dock their boats when staying over at Beaver Island and would also give local economy a considerable boost from revenues brought in by boatmen.

St. James is a designated federal harbor-of-refuge which was dredged by the Corps of Engineers last summer. The Michigan State Waterways commission participated in the cost of this dredging and has also conducted several surveys of the harbor to find a site appropriate for dock facilities.

He also requested the Commission to assist Boyne City in repairing a dock damaged by last winter's severe ice conditions. The damaged dock was part of a waterfront improvement program financed by the city.

all the bare spots in the community. . . . It's a wonderful old book and so much fun to look at.

According to the paper the Disneyland Daily the Bob Withers visited there recently. When you visit there, it makes the headlines and then you can send seeds of c'm home to your friends to show that you made the top news of the day. . . . a real clever idea.

June 6 is now a date in history. . . . How many of you can recall what it means? . . . We'll help you out and add June 6, 1944. . . . Why D-Day, of course. . . . How quickly these important days are forgotten as the world goes along its way. . . . To those who had someone on the beaches of Normandy that day 13 years ago it's as tho' it were yesterday. . . . But how many, when the day arrives, will say "This is the anniversary of D-Day". . . . To many the wounds are still too tender to even talk about it. . . . But we thought we'd like to call it to your attention so you can be a little grateful for the peace, uneasy, tho' it is, that we now enjoy.

It will be a great day, come Wednesday, for 65 youngsters in our community. . . . It will mark the first major goal in their young lives. . . . their graduation from high school. . . . It's a day they've looked forward to for a long, long time. . . . or so it seems to them. . . . As this is being written they're on their class trip, this Sunday they'll be together again for baccalaureate and then, come Wednesday, there'll be commencement. . . . And whether you senior realize it or not it will probably be the last time you'll all be together again. . . . So enjoy these days together and file away all sorts of happy memories for future reference. . . . You may not know it, but you've just been through some of the happiest days of your life. . . . And to each, and every one of you the very best of wishes. . . . We hope the future will hold for each of you all the beautiful things you've dreamed about. . . . We're going to miss all of you. . . . writing about you, praising you for your accomplishments and just saying "hi" to you on the street. . . . You're a mighty fine bunch of guys and gals. . . . We hope we'll always be as proud of you as the whole community is right now.

The first submarine to actually sink another enemy vessel under combat conditions was the Confederate "Hunley" built during the Civil War.

Charlevoix Girl To Study Music At Interlochen

Charlevoix will be represented at the famed National Music Camp at Interlochen this summer by Ellen Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Miller.

A private student of John Kroken and a student at the Charlevoix high school where she plays with the high school band, she plans to leave June 23 for camp where she is planning to specialize in band, dance and choir.

She will be among more than 1,200 students who will attend the National Music Camp's regular season where a staff of specialists will guide and train them in their respective arts activities. Some 300 public performances and radio broadcasts will be presented by the students during the eight week season.

The National Music Camp which is celebrating its 30th anniversary season was established at Interlochen in 1928 to provide specialized advanced instruction for the unusually talented young musicians. During the years it has expanded its program to art, drama and dance studies. The camp, which runs from June 23 through Aug. 18, boasts eight symphony orchestras, four symphonic bands, seven choral organizations, and numerous other activities which provide training and experience in music, art, speech and dance. A complete recreation program, with instruction in land and water sports, provide an ideal balance between work and play for the campers.

The University Division of the camp is affiliated with the University of Michigan and credit is offered on graduate and undergraduate level.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scout troop 10-B, accompanied by their leaders, took an all-day trip to the Straits of Mackinac Sunday, May 19.

Our trip started at 5 a. m. when Eugene Curtis and Roland Hayes drove to Petoskey where we got on a Greyhound bus at 6 a. m. We arrived at Mackinaw City at 7:30 a. m., ate our breakfast and then got on the ferry, City of Muriel, at 8 a. m.

We rode over to St. Ignace where we tried to find souvenir shops, but since it was Sunday, not too many were open. After eating something we started our hike back to the boat for Mackinaw City.

On our way back Karen Neff spotted a huge meteor-like rock, attracted our attention to it and after taking pictures of it we hurried on. We caught the 11 a. m. boat back to Mackinaw City, arriving at 11:45 a. m. We shopped in souvenir shops and visited museums and restaurants. After exploring the community, we went to the restaurant and gift shop and waited until 5 p. m. when we took the bus for home. Most of the girls rested or slept on the trip to Petoskey where we were met by cars for the trip to Charlevoix.

The money for our trip was taken from our treasury. Making the trip were Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Curtis, troop leaders, Frances Hayes, Jeannie Curtis, Julie Schofield, Karen Neff, Evelyn Peters, Roberta Zeidler, and Karen Pierce.

Girl Scout troop 8 had a picnic Saturday. Our leaders are Mrs. Ray Wood and Mrs. Lloyd Arnold and junior counselors are Nancy Staley and Sandy Ulrich.

All the girls were present. We built our own fires and cooked our dinners for our Second Class badges.

Susan Pearl, scribe.

Thierry Children Guests At Party

Frank and Jean Thierry, who will leave shortly with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thierry to make their home in Mesa, Arizona, were honored at a surprise party given Monday evening at St. Mary's school hall by the members of their eighth grade class.

The group gathered for a potluck supper and social evening which featured games. The Rev. Fr. E. Francis Denay was also a guest at the dinner.

On this Memorial Day — dedicated to all those who have died in the service of this nation—it is fitting for us to honor the men and women of the Medical Corps who have made the supreme sacrifice while bringing aid to the wounded and sick. It is also fitting that we honor the soldiers of Science—the unsung heroes of the laboratory who are conquering pain and disease with wonderful new weapons. As pharmacists, we are proud to be the instruments that place their discoveries at the disposal of physicians and their patients.

Michigan Week Compositions By School Students

NOTE: The following compositions were prepared by Charlevoix school students for Michigan week. It was necessary to hold some of them over for this week's issue.

Michigan

Mary A. Klooster, Grade Seven
I live in Michigan, the greatest state of all.
From the Great Lakes Region iron ore they'll haul,
To the loading docks at the city of Marquette,
And sold along the way to keep us out of debt.

Also at the Straits they are building a new bridge.
But men have lost their lives by falling off the ridge.
It will be the nicest one we have ever had,
And will be so large it will make those Texans mad.

Michigan does not have oil fields, rich and rare,
Nor is our land like Texas so very large and bare.
But because our children love this great old state
Where our proud people with pride will face their fate.

Michigan, Furs to Riches

Lewis Terr, Grade Five

One of the East's early millionaires, John Jacob Astor, got his start in Michigan.
Upper Michigan fur trade got him on his way to wealth and fame. French, English and Indian trappers had already showed how much the business paid off when Astor organized the American Fur Company in 1808 with headquarters at Mackinac Island.

The building from which Astor directed his prosperous business in 1822, a $3,000,000 business, is still preserved in the Island as a historic site.

Fur trading was Michigan's first major industry, encouraged by the territory's location and a plentiful supply of fur-bearing animals.

From their frontier trading posts in Michigan the French shipped pelts to their main outlet in Montreal. Later the British took control of the Mackinac Company.

The old Hudson Bay Fur Company is also remembered as a giant of the early fur business. The company's seal served as a pattern for the Michigan state seal in 1835.

The fur business thrived as long as Michigan kept its original forests and wilderness. But the later rise of lumbering and the clearing of settlements for pioneer white families brought a decline in trapping.

Why I Love To Live In Michigan

Pat Belfy, Grade Ten

Our English assignment was to write a theme on why you love Michigan. As I was looking for factual information the thought occurred to me that I didn't love Michigan because she has many large cities or because of the number of people who live there but because Michigan is my homeland.

I was born there as were the forests and rivers and lakes.

Tourists flock to her every year to relax on beautiful Lake Michigan's sandy shores. As I do, they like to sit in the cool summer breezes and enjoy the sun's gorgeous risings and settings. Nature lovers like to wander through the cool, crisp woods and feel the soft, warm dampness of the earth.

They like the epic smells of the pine which grow abundantly there. The animals and fish provide ample sport for the hunter and the fisherman.

There is always a gala side to everything and so it is in Michigan.

Homemakers Model Dresses

Five top members of the Charlevoix high school home-making class who modeled their spring garments in the annual style revue at the high school auditorium Thursday evening. They were among the 76 homemaking students who appeared in the show presented under the direction of Mrs. Louis O'Neill.

All are freshmen except Marian Kay who is a sophomore and Ruth Ann who is a senior.

gan. In the summer we have the Cherry Festival and in the winter we have the Winter Sports Carnival with top-notch skaters and skiers from all over the state competing. There are many other activities besides these, some of which are the Trout Festival, Centennials and Venetian Night.

Yes, I believe the Wolverine state is a mosaic of all anyone could wish for. It is truly a "Sportsman's Holiday" and a "Water Wonderland".

A Spring Day In Michigan

Sandra Zipp, Grade Nine

The fiery red ball of sun rises over the gently rolling hills of Michigan, giving everything a soft pink cast. Soon the countryside begins to awaken. From the toe of a gnarled old apple tree a robin calls cheerily to his mate, who is busy setting up house-keeping among the fragrant pink and white blossoms. Now two small boys cross a velvety green field dotted with colorful flowers to go fishing in one of Michigan's many streams. As they walk along the bank, a brightly-colored, gleaming trout glides from beneath a mossy old log and leaps high into the air after a portion of his breakfast.

As the boys are returning, they pause to watch a farmer who, tilling the soil, is taking part in the state's mass production of various crops.

While resting beneath a white-blossomed cherry tree, they dream of the many golden-crust-ed pies and delicious preserves that will come from the delicious red fruit of thousands of Michigan cherry trees like this one.

Later in the day, as the family drives their car, which is a product of Michigan's vast automotive industry, they pause beside the rolling waters of Lake Michigan. Far out on the blue they see the smoke of a steamer and wonder if it is a freighter bringing iron ore from the mines of the Upper Peninsula, or a cement boat going to one of Michigan's large cities with cement to be used in construction of new buildings.

Down the shore a cottage is being built of fresh, sweet-smelling Michigan lumber to aid in housing the many tourists that arrive each summer.

Now, as the sun slowly sets in the west, sending splashes of gold and crimson across the sky, peace and quiet settle over this magnificent state of Michigan. A deer comes to the water's edge, a star appears above the rosy clouds, and day is done.

Courage Personified

Barbara Bodley, who will be graduated from the Charlevoix high school next week, receives a "Well done" from R. G. Bennett, superintendent of the local schools, upon completion of her studies despite her confinement to a wheelchair following an attack of polio in 1950.

Courage can be described in many words but in Charlevoix there is no need for such description for the community has a living, breathing example of the word in the person of Barbara Bodley, a member of the 1957 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school.

When the seniors receive their diplomas next week, each will have a certain feeling of pride in his accomplishment but Barbara's feelings would go even deeper for she has earned her diploma against odds which would have discouraged a less determined individual.

It all started back in the summer of 1950 when Barbara, about to enter the seventh grade, went to Whitaker, the former family home, to visit her grandmother before school opened.

The happy holiday she had planned, however, was cut short when she was stricken with polio and rushed to the University hospital in nearby Ann Arbor where she fought valiantly for her life. After 10 days in an iron lung, she was placed in a chest respirator and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bodley of Hayes township, were assured by her doctors that she would live. They could make no promises regarding her recovery, however.

But they needn't have worried about that for Barbara was determined to return to her home and to her classes. But before that was possible she was taken to Warm Springs, Ga., where she spent four months. There she was given special treatment for the paralysis which had affected her legs and back and fitted with braces.

She returned home in May and after following, to the letter, her doctors orders regarding exercises to strengthen her body she was allowed to return to school in September. At first she went every other day but by January was attending classes full time.

An extremely shy child, this nesday night as the seniors walk down the aisle, Barbara will not be with them. She will be waiting for them. And when the diplomas are presented she will be able to accept hers with a feeling of pride that she has earned it. . . the hard way.

Barbara credits her family, her teachers, classmates and friends with her success in overcoming her handicap. They, in turn, will tell you that it has been a privilege to help her when they could. Blessed with a sunny disposition, she has never made demands on those about her and has always carried her share of the load at home and in the classroom.

This fall she hopes to enroll at Ferris Institute in Big Rapids. Chances are she will for with the hardest years behind her she has no way to go but forward.

Behind her and urging her on will be her parents, her brothers, DeMar, still in high school and David, stationed in Alaska with the U. S. Air Force, her sisters, Mrs. Don Basom of Napa, Calif., and Mrs. Ronald Geer who will be graduated from the University hospital school of nursing this year, and the many friends she has made since that August day in 1950 when polio struck.

WORLD'S LONGEST BRIDGE, the 24-mile Lake Pontchartrain Causeway north of New Orleans, is a spectacular example of new highway construction which could be used to help empty target cities ahead of attacking planes. Map shows how civil defense forces, frustrated in New Orleans by water obstacles to traffic on almost every side, could send thousands of cars straight across the huge lake barrier to the north. The bridge was opened to traffic in August 1956.

Mrs. Wexstaff's First Book to Be Published

typewriter attempting to hammer out a story. But what story? She relates.

She finally decided on one with which she was familiar, a story of a boy and a boat for her son, Robert, had once had just such a boat as the "Black Panther of the Great Lakes". Thus, as she related his experiences, the book, which is to be published in mid-June, became a reality.

The story, deals with Benji, a boy in his early teens, who with the help of his friend, old Jake, a composite of many old sailors, renovates an ancient hull. There is much conflict and rivalry between Benji and a summer-resort boy which finally ends in their firm friendship.

One chapter is devoted to the Venetian Night boat parade, with which local residents are so familiar, and how Benji enters his boat and, of course, wins the top prize.

Old Jake's pet cat, Biffer, also plays an important role in the story. This alone should add interest for children who are too young to enjoy reading about caulking, sanding and painting a boat. The story also contains some basic navigation information as taught by the United States Power Squadron.

June 15 has been tentatively set as the publication date of this interesting little book which is sure, to please young and old alike.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Wexstaff continues her busy life of maintaining a household, assisting her husband in their business and all the while filing away bits of information and data for other books for youngsters she plans to write.

County Agent Suggests Need For Clarifying State Water Code

(This is the fourth in a series of 10 articles written by Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, on water rights in Michigan.)

Water is probably the most limiting factor in this country today. With the increase in population and with more uses of water, this problem is becoming much more important.

The riparian doctrine was discussed in last week's issue of this newspaper. This doctrine deals with water on lakes and streams. At that time, it was stated that Michigan has no water laws or statutes but uses the riparian doctrine.

Many people believe that this doctrine of reasonable use needs modification. Farmers and other interests who construct investments along streams and lakes to use water have no protection under this doctrine. This is especially true of irrigation since irrigation has not been defined by Michigan courts as a beneficial use of water. Farmers who put in large irrigation systems may find other riparian owners stopping them from getting enough water for irrigation.

Some owners have riparian rights and are not using them and no one else can make use of this water. With this riparian doctrine, even though the water is not used, the people do not lose their rights. Also, this water can only be used on land adjoining lakes and streams and not in other watersheds.

Many folks suggest that some means of appropriating water be used. If water was appropriated or if a permit system was used, a user could be guaranteed a certain amount of water at a certain period of time provided it is available. This appropriation method or permit system may be used alone or it could be used with the riparian doctrine as in the state of California.

Small groups like the soil district or others should take the lead in discussing this change in water laws. These problems and policies should be first discussed in small groups and later on a state basis. Research people should make a complete study of the water situation in Michigan. Suggestions for water code or law should be formulated and presented to the legislature.

There will be some folks who won't like to change the riparian doctrine. Sportsmen and cottage owners don't want it changed. Cities and industries using streams for waste disposal and others would like to see the water laws remain as they are. People who have made investments regarding the use of water want them protected or be reimbursed for them.

Rebman Offers Tips On Proper Care Of Lawns

Whether you are making a new lawn, or taking care of an established lawn, cutting height is important for grass variety.

This is especially true for shaded lawns where mowing is often too close, according to Ed Rebman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

You will get a better turf where the grass is growing in competition with shade trees if you mow your lawns as recommended until about June 15, then put your lawnmower away. Bring it out only if the summer conditions are so unfavorable that the grass becomes insipid.

Sun shaded lawns are in heavy competition with trees and shrubs for food and water. Open lawns have their problems as well for they are exposed to the hot summer sun and suffer the danger of drought.

Rebman points out that such lawn grasses as Kentucky bluegrass and red fescue should be cut at 1½ to 2 inches in height when grown in open sunny areas. When these grasses are grown in shade, cut them at 2 to 2½ inches in height.

Merion bluegrass, another popular grass, can be cut at 3-4 of an inch but grows better when cut at a height of 1½ to 2 inches.

To help you in establishing a new lawn, or in caring for an established lawn, your county extension office has the following folders available without charge: Making a New Lawn, Folder F-211; and Care of an Established Lawn, folder F-212.

Now-see camera-eye proof Dodge trucks lead the low-priced 3!

Actual road tests . . . like the one photographed at the right . . . prove beyond question that Dodge Power Giants outclass all competition. This rugged hill climb is just one of a whole string of tests comparing all three low-priced trucks.

See certified test results of the entire series — actual unretouched photographs — at your own local Dodge dealer's. These tests, plus 15 minutes behind the wheel, will demonstrate to you that today's Dodge Power Giants lead the low-priced three in every measure by which you judge a truck.

You get the most V-8 power of the low-priced three . . . up to 232 horsepower. This gives you snappier performance to save valuable trip time . . . extra power to take steep climbs with less engine strain. And Dodge gives you extra payload capacity, too. For instance, the test pick-up shown hauls as much as 27% more than the other two low-priced makes.

Check today's low Dodge prices. You'll find eleven Power Giant models, in the low-tonnage field alone, that are actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. Why not see for yourself? Your dealer will gladly bring a Dodge right to your door.

THEY'RE OFF! Here's the start of a grueling hill-climb test. All three low-priced trucks were lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. At flag drop, test drivers floor gas pedals . . . the Dodge Power Giant leaps out in front.

DODGE THE WINNER BY FIVE LENGTHS—and still gaining! The Dodge Power Giant outdistanced both truck "C" and truck "F" from the start. This is just one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding leader of the low-priced three.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Can you believe it? This is the last week of school. It seems as though it was only yesterday that school started and here it is, vacation time already. Everyone's dashing off in 17 directions, doing this and that before the summer gets underway. The Brownie Scouts are going to Day camp and the Girl Scouts are going to Troop camp. Some people are going on trips, others are settling down to jobs.

And if we're lucky summer might come one of these days. There are times when the weather's beautiful and one is hopeful, and then again, well, we know people who have put their electric blankets in storage yet.

But won't it be wonderful to see our summer friends again? June may be the month of brides to some people but those of us in Charlevoix it marks the return of old friends who will spend a few treasured weeks with us.

Weeks that are all too short. In preparation for their return June's been bustin' out all over. Lilacs are in bloom, the tulips are going, the trees have leafed out, that is all but a few, even the evergreens, we've noticed, have fresh green tips on each and every little branch.

How does the baseball season suit you? Detroit's managed to hold its first division rating thus far. And we're hoping. But if the Tigers can't make it, we'll root for the Chicago White Sox. What with Billy Pearce, practically an adopted son, as far as Charlevoixans are concerned, everyone we know would like to see the Chicago club make it this year. Let's face it, we're for any team that can beat New York out of first place.

The Charlevoix Lifeboat station gets a lot of calls. Some of 'em mighty peculiar, one might say. One of these came on Memorial Day. A call that turned a bunch of Coast Guardsmen into wranglers for a little while. Ted Kibbe sighted a deer as it entered Lake Michigan east of the Charlevoix hospital. He thought, at first, that it was taking a swim and would come back but when it didn't he reported it to Chief Ashley who happened to be passing. The Chief dispatched a crew in the patrol boat to "round up" the critter, which was quite a chore because he insisted on heading for the Beavers. After much maneuvering they brought him in ahead of them and he came out of the water west of Boulder Park and took off for parts unknown. As we said, their duties are varied, but this is the first time they've swapped white for jeans and high heeled boots.

Wasn't it Tom Sawyer in the story who was clever enough to

BABY TALK

Births recorded at the Charlevoix hospital recently include:

A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown of East Jordan, May 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Carey of Evanston, Ill., are the parents of a son, Ralph Lane, born May 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shanahan of Ann Arbor announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Kim, born May 26.

Among those called here by the death of Capt. Oscar Smith were his sons, Capt. Willard J. Smith of Washington, D. C., and Joseph Smith of Short Hills, N. J., and his daughter, Miss Nellie Smith of Traverse City. After spending several days with their mother, they returned to their respective homes early this week.

get a picket fence white-washed without lifting a brush. Just by convincing his friends that he was doing them a favor by allowing them to splash on the paint. Don't ever let anyone tell you that the days of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn are over. For we've got just such a boy in our neighborhood. He was supposed to be mowing the lawn the other day, but who likes to mow lawns, even with a power mower, even a new one. But you know, there are other kids who never get to handle such a piece of equipment. So Steve Bergmann was allowing them to further their education by letting them run the machine the length of the lawn and back. Smart boy, that Steve, he's got along.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

Santa Claus is still in town. What is the real story about the new Trailer Park. The City of Charlevoix owned a piece of property one of the best locations over looking Lake Charlevoix. This property is located on highway US 31 next to Strouts Cabins and covers about 20 acres extending from the road to the lake. As soon as it was known that this property was for sale one of our citizens offered a price much higher. But no action was taken. It was sold Feb. 1, 1957 for $1,750.00 and every councilman voted yes for the deal.

Was it sold because some one was interested in the property? Let us read the State Law, Section 110.28 page 96, Section 23, which reads: "If any officer of the corporation shall directly or indirectly, appropriate or con-

There's no need to pay a "fancy price" to enjoy fine-car luxury. Ford is lowest priced* of the low-price three, yet offers values you'd expect only in cars costing far more!

To start with, you can easily pay twice the money, and not find lines that can hold a candle to Ford's for lowness, loveliness, or just plain good taste.

But step inside. That's when you'll find the real evidence of Ford's quality!

And, on the way in, note that Ford offers door checks that hold doors open in either of two positions—for easy entrance or exit. A little thing. But, in a fine car, why not? Then, inside, notice how comfortable those plush, foam-rubber seats are. They'll stay that way. And on long trips. For they're scientifically contoured over non-sag springs. Your rear-seat passengers are treated extra kindly, too—with spring assists to help them open and close the doors—with the most leg room in Ford's field!

Fine cars are smooth—and that's another place Ford really shows its stuff! Ford delivers its famous V-8 power smooth as a whisper. That's because only Ford takes the pains to electrically balance each engine while running under its own power. Not even the makers of the most expensive automobiles go this far to bring you super-smooth performance.

Ford rides fine-car smooth and quiet, too. You can thank the new "Inner Ford" for that. Ford, for instance, has a swept-back front suspension that actually "rolls with the punch" of every road bump.

Fine cars are built to stay solid. So's Ford!

Ford has the only frame in its field to make use of rugged tubular steel beams. No car at the price offers so many roof-strengthening beams. Expensive cars aren't built of thicker body steel or with sounder engineering skill. Then, of course, in Ford you can have all the power assists and other conveniences found in fine cars. And they cost far less in Ford. Yes sir! In every feature, every part, Ford is the fine car at half the fine-car price. Come in and see!

ADVENTURES IN UNDERSTANDING

Notes from A Northerner's Diary

By Harold E. Kohn

What Do You See?

Few things in life are so strange and mystifying as the tremendous difference in what two people will notice while confronted with the same facts. Take a lumberman, a botanist and a bird-lover on a saunter through the woods, and each will come away with so different an impression of the forest that to hear them relate their experiences you would not guess they had visited the same location. Each will see what interests him—the lumberman will see trees as lumber. The botanist will see them as great plants with fascinating structures and functions, while the ornithologist will think of the trees as homes and feeding stations for birds.

In a big city a mother may sleep through the clatter of dashing elevated trains and the wail of fire engine sirens, but she will awaken suddenly at the faintest whimper of her ailing child. She will notice what has meaning for her.

Whatever has the most value for us gets our attention.

One time when John Burroughs was sitting on a neighbor's front porch the lady of the house complained, "Why is it, Mr. Burroughs, that you have so many birds at your place while I don't have any in my yard?"

John Burroughs, who had been watching the birds flitting among her trees and shrubs, replied, "You will not see birds in your yard until you have birds in your heart."

Our hearts do determine what we see. Our world-view depends not only upon the state of affairs in the world at large but upon our own inner condition. We are much like the grandmother who asked her granddaughter to do the dusting. When the girl had finished the task her grandmother informed her that the living room still looked dusty and asked her to clean it again, and she did. Still the old lady was dissatisfied and irritably demanded of the youngster that she dust the room once more. The child looked sharply at her grandmother and then, noticing for the first time the condition of her spectacles, exclaimed, "Why, Grandma, the dirt is on your glasses."

Soiled glasses do make the world look dirty, and a miserable inner life makes the whole world seem wretched. The hostile, hateful person sees the world as filled with formidable enemies who are out to destroy his reputation, deprive him of his rights, exploit him, cheat and humiliate him.

Those who are without rich inner resources, devoid of faith, trust and hope, see life as empty of meaning and value. Their own inner emptiness is projected upon the universe.

A fear-ridden person looks out upon the world through his distorting fearfulness and sees life as basically hazardous and every day full of menacing dangers.

Some people with strong suppressed sex drives can hardly see a man talking with a woman under the most innocent circumstances without imagining planning some illicit meeting. They interpret all short skirts, all parked cars, and all friendly greetings between members of the opposite sex as indecent and as leading to sin. Wherever they are found these people are the town gossips and the trouble-makers whose dirty outlook is due to their own inner unwholeness.

An intense sense of guilt, too, will give a person a distorted view of the world. The victim of guilt feelings believes almost everyone is critical of him. In every whispered conversation which he is excluded he suspects he is being accused or disparaged. Inwardly convinced that he deserves disapproval, he imagines it where it does not actually exist.

The best things in life, too, are seen through our inner condition. As the Master said, "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." Those who have God within will see Him wherever they go, here and in the Hereafter.

If you are to see the world at its best, and people at their best, take good care of yourself, because you see things not as they are but through what you are.

For 60 years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth, the Wampanoag Indians and their allies honored a peace treaty with the white men. When friendly Chief Massasoit died, however, his son Philip launched the brutal King Philip's War in 1675.

Charlevoix Play Camp to Open for Fifth Season

The Charlevoix play camp will open Monday for its fifth season under the direction of Del Terrill.

The camp features camping program for boys in the five to 12 year age group. It is divided into two units, the junior camp for the five to eight year olds and the senior camp for the eight through 11 year age group. Each camp has its own program on the level to meet the needs and interests of that particular group.

The camp will open Monday with sessions of all-day programming for full day and half-day campers.

A home camp with private camp instruction and fun is offered by the Charlevoix Play Camp. Special emphasis is placed on swimming and athletic growth in individual sports. Other camp activities include nature hikes, Indian lore, special trips to places of interest, crafts and all forms of guided recreation.

The program will also include the following with expert instruction: archery, boxing, cookouts, waterfowl sports such as swimming and diving, football, peanut league softball, fishing, group games and other recreation, story hour, track and other recreational features designed for the entertainment and growth of the average boy.

Camp instructors will be directed by Del Terrill, Wayne University graduate and former coach at the Traverse City and Charlevoix high schools. He also was director of physical and health education at the Detroit Downtown and Western Y.M.C.A.'s and manager of Camp Westminster on Illinois lake. He has directed the Charlevoix play camp for the past four years.

Instructors in the camp will be Bill Mosier, Dean Davenport and Scott Supernaw.

Bill and Dean, both former Charlevoix high school athletes, will graduate later this month from Central Michigan College where the former lettered as a member of the swimming team and the latter won four letters in basketball. Bill will be in charge of the waterfront program and DODGE outperforms "other two" low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The flag drops, and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "F" just couldn't match that 204-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

Increase in Water Usage May Change Riparian Doctrine

The riparian doctrine of water rights in the 31 eastern states are up for consideration and for change. Some want to modify the reasonable use doctrine while others want to adopt the prior appropriation method.

This situation is brought about by the increased use of water. Water uses, however, are different in the eastern states than in the western states. In the east, 81 percent of the water is used for industry and 3 per cent for irrigation, while in the west 92 per cent of the water is used for irrigation and 3 per cent for industry. The balance is used for other purposes.

South Carolina has tried the hardest to adopt the appropriation doctrine. They have submitted bills twice to the legislature but they have been refused both times. One of the features of their bill was that only those riparian rights that are being used would be recognized. Those that were not being used would be lost. Many people believe that the riparian doctrine promotes the waste of water when those that do not use their rights do not let others have the water.

In Mississippi their regulations state that all water is public. In their proposed bill they want to establish the minimum flow of all streams. Appropriation would be based on this minimum flow. Many question the value of this determination.

In most of the eastern states the legislature and other groups are considering coding of their water statutes. Also, they are interested in making studies of their situation to find out how much water they have and what their needs are. In some of the eastern states irrigation is considered a beneficial use. However, in Michigan it has not as yet been so stated.

No matter what legislation eastern states adopt, no legal action will increase the amount of water supply.

Stamped slogans on mail are new. Benjamin Franklin, a deputy postmaster general for the American Colonies, franked his envelopes with "Free B. Franklin." After the War for Independence started, he patriotically switched the words to read "B. Free Franklin," the National Geographic Magazine says.

The expression "frank," however, did not start with Ben Franklin. It comes from the Old French franc, meaning free.

Farmers to Vote on Wheat Allotments And Penalties

Farmers have two issues to decide in the June 20 Wheat referendum, according to Carlton Smith, chairman, Charlevoix agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The first issue is whether marketing quotas will be in effect, along with penalties on "excess" wheat from farms (with more than 15 acres of wheat harvested as grain) on which the allotment is exceeded. The second issue is the level of the available price support.

A two-thirds favorable vote is required to approve wheat marketing quotas. Once quotas are approved, penalties for production in excess of the farm's quota are in effect for all farms in commercial wheat States which harvest over 15 acres of wheat for grain. The farm quota is generally all the wheat produced on the acreage allotment. Under quotas, also, price support on the 1958 wheat crop will be available at a minimum national average of $1.78 per bushel — to those farmers who are in compliance with their farm allotments.

Mr. Smith explains that if more than one-third of the voters disapprove quotas, there will be no marketing quotas and no penalties for excess production. However, acreage allotments will remain in effect in the commercial area, and the price support will be available at 50 percent of parity to those farmers who comply with their allotments.

Wheat marketing quotas and acreage allotments operate only in the 36 States designated as "commercial" wheat states, which include Michigan. States must have allotments of more than 25,000 acres of wheat to rate as a commercial wheat state.

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires a year, the National Geographic Magazine says. People start about 90 per cent of them, mostly through sheer carelessness.

Spring months are cooler than the corresponding months of autumn because it takes hot summer sun to warm the earth's crust and the seas and icy wildernesses of the Far North.

"We Were Amazed"

Says CAR LIFE,
The Family Auto Magazine

We were amazed as we drove the Special four-door hardtop, to find that an automobile could be completely changed yet retain so much of its former appearance and character. The 1957 models have all the familiar, solid Buick virtues.

THE ABOVE brief clipping tells you worlds about the '57 Buick.

It tells you we went all out to make this car completely new—yet we didn't sacrifice a single Buick virtue.

So you still get that unmistakable Buick styling.

You still get that big-car room and comfort and that solid Buick quality.

But you also get so complete a change in the vitals of this car that the driving of it is a wondrous new experience.

You get a brilliant brand of performance that's different from anything else that goes on four wheels.

Words won't describe it. Telling you there's an all-new engine, an instant new Dynaflo,* a completely new power train—none of that will convey this news to you.

What you have to do is get in this car and drive it. Drive it around the block, through town, out on the highway. Actually feel what happens when you press the gas pedal, turn the steering wheel, touch those powerful new brakes.

Then—and not till then—will you know why folks call this "the dream car to drive."

The best advice we can give you, by far, is this: Ask your dealer for a trial run today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Buzzer is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Exclusive With Buick SAFETY-BUZZER

The "built-in conscience" that buzzes when you reach the miles-per-hour you want to stay under, keeps silent when you drop below that pace.

Hospital care — 43¢ a day

This engraving from the Bettmann Archive shows a typical hospital ward in the late 1800's. Compare this with the sparkling-clean, well-lighted, well-equipped Blue Cross participating hospital of today!

...thank goodness times have changed!

No wonder going to the hospital was considered a last resort in great-grandfather's time. Hospitals had little to offer. Even at 43¢ a day, hospital care was no bargain.

Yes, thank goodness, times have changed...

Medical care makes such great strides so quickly today, that we take for granted the near-miracles our doctors perform every day. In surgery... delicate, life-saving operations that are considered routine today were not thought possible even ten years ago. Amazing new wonder drugs help us recover quicker... make our hospital stay safer... get us back home sooner.

Naturally the cost of hospital care is higher today than ever before. But isn't the cost of living worth it?

And isn't it comforting to know that as a member of Blue Cross you and your loved ones will have these necessarily higher basic hospital costs paid for you automatically... whenever you need hospital care? And with the companion plan, Blue Shield, you have help in paying for the finest medical care in the world today.

Puppetry Group To Be Organized For Summer Period

A puppetry group for children in the eight through 12 year age group will start Monday, June 17, and run for six weeks period, Mrs. Dorothea Badger, who has the groups announced this week.

The puppetry group is designed for any child who loves to do things with his hands or enjoys letting his imagination take action in the form of a marionette, Mrs. Badger said. These children, she added, will derive pleasure and resourcefulness from participation in the puppetry group.

Last season the group presented the play "Ben and Me", adapted from the delightful book about Benjamin Franklin by Robert Lawson and also two short plays including Walt Disney's "Laffin' Place" and "Swan Lake."

This summer plans call for the presentation of at least three performances, using the marionettes the group will construct. An incident from American history, something from the field of music and third from animal stories will be included in this year's program.

Registration is now open. Those interested may call Mrs. Dorothea Badger, 329 Meech st., phone LI 7-2504.

70th Anniversary of Champlain Tragedy

The smoldering hull of the passenger boat, Champlain, pictured at the south pier here as all local fire equipment was taken to the waterfront to extinguish blaze which took the lives of 22 persons on June 17, 1887.

Monday will mark the seventieth anniversary of one of the worst lake tragedies in this region, the burning of the passenger ship, the Champlain, in Lake Michigan with the loss of 22 lives.

The passenger vessel, enroute from Charlevoix to Mackinac Island, was on fire when it was sighted by the Charlevoix Journal when the accident which claimed the lives of more than a third of the passengers and crew took place off Smith's Island camp about six miles south of Charlevoix.

According to Charles A. Lachone, second fireman on the ill-fated ship, the fire started in his cabin below deck. He was awakened from his sleep by the sound of an oil lamp falling to the floor. In seconds his cabin was ablaze and he ran from it spreading the alarm.

This duty is comparable to that held by the dean of men in a civilian college. In this instance Captain Smith will be in charge of "cadets in their home life, grades, morals and discipline among other things."

A Coast Guard career man and son of Mrs. Oscar Smith and the late Mr. Smith, Captain Smith's career has been an interesting and varied one since he was graduated from the U. S. Coast Guard Academy and commissioned Ensign on May 15, 1933.

For the next three years he served aboard the cutter Saranac stationed at Galveston, Tex. Assigned then to Headquarters at Washington, D. C., he served as aide to the Commandant of the Coast Guard until May 1939. At that time he was assigned to flight training at Pensacola, Fla., and was designated a Coast Guard aviator in June 1940.

High School Band To Participate In Lilac Festival

The Charlevoix high school band and its director, C. A. Odmark, will leave here Sunday morning to participate in the annual Lilac Festival on Mackinac Island.

The local band is one of two bands invited to take part in the festival. The other is from Munising.

The band will spend the day on the island, returning home Sunday evening. They will make the trip to Mackinac City by bus.

Commemorates Reign Of Beaver Isle 'King'

The rise and fall of "King" James Jesse Strang and his bizarre kingdom on Beaver Island more than a century ago will be brought into sharp focus Sunday when the Michigan Historical Commission dedicates a historic site marker on Charlevoix's waterfront.

City and county officials, state legislators and representatives of the Commission will be on hand at 5:30 p. m., Sunday for the dedication at the city dock looking out toward the Beaver Island kingdom of yore.

The marker will be the first site marker to be dedicated in the upper part of the lower peninsula which is in keeping with the fact that "King" Strang's newspaper, the Northern Islander, was the first daily publication in this part of the state.

The dedication ceremony will follow a tour of the historic island located in Lake Michigan 20 miles northwest of here.

Here to participate in the event will be Dr. George May, historical site specialist of the Commission who will officiate at the dedication. R. P. Hoffman of Plymouth, president of the Beaver Island Historical Society who will present a photostatic copy of a 100-year old map of Beaver Island to Chester W. Ellison, a member of the Michigan Historical Commission.

The place to which will be placed on the bank of Pine River between the city dock and Memorial Bridge will be inscribed as follows: Mormon Kingdom 20 miles northwest of here on Beaver Island. In 1847 James Strang set up a colony for his followers, dissenters from the main body of Mormons and crowned himself "king" in 1850.

Hatred of the sect by non-Mormons led in the Battle of Pine River in 1853 at the present-day site of Charlevoix.

On June 16, 1856, because they hated his authoritarian rule, some of Strang's subjects mortally wounded him. Later in the summer main-landers drove the Mormons from the island.

Mr. Pemberton, who has always been interested in police work has served as a deputy sheriff for the past 2 1/2 years. Following his appointment to the force, he decided to dispose of the retail business, known as Pemberton Sales and Service, that he has operated here for the past 25 years. However, he will continue to do service work and will take care of all warranty service due on merchandise purchased from his store.

Certainly it can be said that once again the complete support of the city in preparing the diamond and offering its full cooperation has given everyone connected with the program a big lift, he continued.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

In Charlevoix the lilacs are almost gone but on Mackinac Island in the Straits they'll be in full bloom this weekend . . . or so the islanders hope . . . because it's the weekend of the Lilac Festival . . . our band is one of two that's been invited to attend . . . and everyone is looking forward to it . . . We can't blame them any because the island is a quaint place just dripping with history . . . So let's hope that the weather's wonderful and that everyone has a whale of a time . . . And don't forget the pills for seasickness.

Here's one for the books . . . As you know the current was to be turned off for 1½ hours early Sunday so equipment could be installed in the switchboard at the power plant . . . The workmen didn't get to it quite as early as they thought . . . And were they surprised when someone called to ask if the lights weren't supposed to be off . . . The caller was informed that the current hadn't been cut at that time but would be later on . . . Usually they get called because the current's off . . . not because it's on . . . But such are people.

Everyone, it seems, has a girl named Friday . . . someone who does all the little jobs that have to be done and keep the boss in business . . . Well, we have a "Friday" but we're different . . . Friday's a guy in our case . . . a real nice guy who'll drop what he's doing to take a picture for us . . . Last week he went out in the rain . . . to get the picture of Ernie Cassidy at the hospital . . . and in the past he's taken others . . . His name is Ed O'Neill . . . and we're real happy he's around . . . and we'd like, right now, to thank him for his generosity.

It's just a year ago this month that our postoffice was dedicated . . . at that time it looked like any other new building . . . too new . . . but this year, we notice, our postmaster, Pete Timmer has gone to work with his little green thumb and has the place looking as tho' it belonged with all kinds of lovely summer flowers that will be around till fall.

We'd like to add our words to those of other Charlevoixians who are thanking Robert S. Wilson for establishing the Wilson prizes . . . We think it's a wonderful thing . . . as well as so very thoughtful . . . The first recipients, we know will do us proud . . . Carrie Duerr and Terry Davis . . . It was designed to bring out the best in our seniors . . . We're sure it will serve its purpose well . . . Thanks to Mr. Wilson who is so much a part of our community although his stays are never as long as he'd like.

Almost every day there's another of those old pictures making its appearance around town . . . Bob Miles has done a terrific job in reproducing many old pictures that people have dug out their attics and loaned to him . . . It's hard to believe that our town once looked like that . . . But it's changed for the better so we can't complain . . . Some of the pictures aren't so old but it seems as tho' they were taken a century or so ago . . . Among these are the ones of the snowbanks that once lined old US 31 . . . not so many years ago.

And then there's the matter of the bass season . . . Under a new ruling the season will open the third Saturday in the month . . . which is this week . . . Wonder if our bass fishin' friends will be around by then or if they'll come later in the month . . . We'll be looking for 'em no matter when they come . . . We understand Jake White's taking Mort Neff of Michigan Outdoors over to Garden Island for the opening of the season . . . You'll be seeing it on his television program if they go.

Voice of Our Readers . . .

I do not wish to enter into a debate or engage in personalities, but I would like to defend the council in the action of establishing a Trailer Park for Charlevoix.

Several years ago when this city donated the former Trailer property as a site for the new hospital it was thought that someone would establish a Trailer Park; however, even with some inducements, the city could not interest anyone in this venture.

The land in question that was sold by the city with a restriction deed that it would always remain a Trailer Park is in the Township of Charlevoix and would have undoubtedly brought more money as residential lots, however, Charlevoix did need a trailer park and it was with this thought in mind that the Council voted for it, the legality of the matter can be easily defended by the City Attorney.

In the sale of this land for residential purposes any future taxes would have been paid to the Township as it will in the case of the Trailer Park. However, Charlevoix will have obtained added revenue from its occupancy by trailers whose owners will undoubtedly trade at the closest market area. Prior to the establishment of the park it would have been necessary for them to go to trailer parks in East Jordan, Boyne City or Petoskey if they desired to stay in the area.

Regarding the water line. We now have extended this to an industrial area which will be an inducement for future industries to settle in the vicinity where the City now owns property allocated for this purpose.

The above reasons are why I voted "yes" in this project and I believe every councilman was sincere in his vote for practically the same reason.

Graduation Speaker Offers Four Requisites for Success

There are four prime requisites everyone must have to become a success in any field of endeavor, Robert S. Wilson, executive vice president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., told the 1957 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school at the sixty-ninth annual commencement exercises held at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening.

A crowd of relatives and friends who packed the auditorium for the event heard Mr. Wilson list these requisites as professional attitude, knowledge, integrity and industry.

Professional attitude he described as your attitude toward your job and said that if a person is to be a success in any field he must like his job. If you don't like your job, he advised, get out of it for you'll never be good in it because of this attitude.

Knowledge, he continued, is power and added that in order to gain knowledge one must study. Only through study and learning by experience does a doctor, a teacher, a farmer or a housewife become successful in their respective fields.

Integrity he listed as the most important characteristic of all for without it, no one can attain true happiness.

Industry was very important also for no one can get anywhere without working. He said that work itself, the act of accomplishment, can be very satisfying. By this sense of accomplishment, you will lead happy and successful lives.

He told the class that they were living in the most exciting 50 years in history. Life today is a challenge and in these changing times most anything is possible.

In conclusion he advised each of the 66 graduates to live his or her life so that this world will be a better place because each had lived in it.

Immediately following the address, E. J. Edwards of the Charlevoix Kiwanis club presented Edwin Belfy with the first annual Kiwanis award for mathematics and science. The plaque will be inscribed with his name and presented to the school. The names of future winners will also be inscribed on the plaque.

Mr. Wilson then presented the silver bowls properly inscribed with a check for $50, to Carol Duerr and Terry Davis who were selected by their classmates and teachers for having done the most for their school during their senior year.

H. E. Bingham, high school principal, presented the class of 1957 to Albert H. Smith, secretary of the board of education, who then presented them with their diplomas.

The singing of the Alma Mater by the class and the National Anthem played by the high school band concluded the program.

Joyce Nielsen gave the salutatory and Carol Duerr the valedictory.

Supr. R. G. Bennett introduced Mr. Wilson. Special music was by the Charlevoix high school band and the Girl's Glee Club, both directed by C. A. Odmark and the latter accompanied by Mrs. Leonard Burns.

The Rev. Fr. E. Francis Denay gave the invocation and the Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp the benediction.

New Water Usage Controls Are Proposed for Michigan

There is a proposed surface water law for Michigan. At the present time this law exempts diffused surface water. This is water that falls on the surface of the ground and is not contained in a stream or lake. This proposed legislation states that the control of the use of water for all beneficial purposes shall be by the State. The Michigan Water Resources Commission is to administer this act and its powers and duties are prescribed.

This proposed water rights for Michigan states that there shall be two classes of water rights. Class A are those rights of riparian owners for water for domestic use, power, recreation and fishing. Class B are those rights arising from actual use of the water other than those of Class A. Class A has first priority. If there is any water left after Class A users have their needs, they will be allocated to Class B. All holders of water rights must use them in such a way that fish will be protected.

This law sets up definitions of the different kinds of water, the uses, and the kinds of water rights. Any existing water rights or reasonable uses of water at the present time will not be impaired. The act limits it to the reasonable beneficial use and it also lists the unit of measurement to be used in measuring water.

The action gives the Michigan Water Resources Commission the power to designate definite areas and list the steps that a user must go through to obtain a permit. First, they must make an application with the Commission. This application will be recorded and the Commission shall make an investigation. The act states procedure for acting on this application and it must be either approved and a permit issued or rejected.

Class B rights may be reserved and conveyed with the land or they may be separately conveyed. The act provides for recording of these separate water rights.

Holders of claims or licenses for use of water may change their point of diversion or storage or location of water works with approval of the commission. The water users may rotate and exercise their rights also with the approval of the commission. The users may receive permission to construct reservoirs for holding water. All permit holders must make annual reports to the Commission.

Class B vested rights and appropriation rights may be lost by intentional abandonment or it may be lost by non-use for five consecutive years unless the water supply fails or climatic conditions make irrigation unnecessary. This means that if a farmer has a permit to irrigate his land

Furnishes Liquor To Minor; Fined

Joseph R. Leiman, 20, of Charlevoix and Mancelona, appeared before Justice Charles Murphy in East Jordan Friday on a charge of furnishing liquor to minors on Jan. 5. He was fined $50.00, ordered to pay $5.00 costs and sentenced to 60 days in jail. He is to serve an additional 30 days if the fine and costs are not paid.

but because of heavy rainfall does not use the irrigation for five years, he does not lose the permit.

This proposed act for surface water in Michigan has some teeth in it. It contains injunctive proceedings to enforce the act, provides for penalty for misuse of the act and provides penalty for malicious injury to water works. The Commission is empowered to collect fees.

This act contains a clause which states that if any section or provision of this act shall be held unconstitutional it shall not affect the remainder of the act. It also provides for repeal of conflicting laws.

Grain Industry Offers Careers To Farm Youths

Charlevoix county young men who have a farming background and want to make this experience pay rich dividends can learn of the opportunities to do this in the feed and grain industry, June 27.

That's the date of the sixth annual elevator career day at Michigan State University, according to County Agricultural Agent Ed Rebman. There are excellent opportunities for qualified elevator personnel in Michigan and nearby states.

Two graduates of the M. S. U. elevator and farm supply short course, Ray Roles of Vassar, and James Erskine of Hillsdale will discuss career opportunities. Members of the trade will also counsel with interested persons.

George Greenleaf, coordinator of this short course, will explain its operation. He points out that there are many scholarships furnished by the trade to youths interested in the course.

Opening date of the course is September 26. It includes two terms at M. S. U. experience in a country elevator for two terms and two more terms of classroom work. Greenleaf says there are many more job openings for course graduates than can be filled.

The career day is sponsored by the feed and grain associations of Michigan and the M. S. U. short course department. More information is available from the county extension office, the local vocational agriculture instructor and from local elevators.

Students Survey Rural Mail Boxes And Report Improvements Needed

The annual Rural Mail Box Improvement program is being observed across the country during the first two weeks in June, Postmaster Peter H. Timmer has announced.

In observance of the event, Mr. Timmer enlisted the cooperation of six Charlevoix high school students who were asked to visit the postoffice to become acquainted with the operation of the postal service before accompanying Charlevoix's three rural carriers on their routes. Each team of two was given an outline which served as a yardstick for their survey of the condition of rural mail boxes among the 466 box holders in the area. They were asked to consider the safety of the mails, convenience for the carrier and the theme of "Beautifully the country-side."

Cooperating in the survey were Sue McBride and Esther Boss who accompanied Rex Davis, carrier on RR 1; Louise Brun and Donna Marne who made the trip with Carlton Smith on RR 2 and Mary Ann Berg and Robert Geer who accompanied Harold Withers on RR 3, veteran carrier with 30 years of service.

Their survey showed that of the 466 rural mail boxes only 69 were fully approved; that is, met all the requirement set by the Postoffice Department.

Of this number, 231 boxes did not have supports painted; 139 good boxes did not have names on them; 46 needed repairs; 30 were not the correct height; the approaches needed grading at 21 boxes 32 mail boxes on RR 1 needed painting (the figures on the remaining two routes were not available); a total of 216 boxes in all were without names and 56 were of the type not approved by the postoffice department.

Each of the six students who participated in the survey wrote of their experiences. The account written by Donna Marne is typical of their findings. It reads in part:

"As we started out we discovered to be in better condition in the more rural areas. Perhaps the reason is that the people nearer town are more conscious of appearances. Of course, even some of these mail boxes were in poor condition.

"As we rode along we discovered that the thing the people neglected most was to keep their mail boxes and supports painted. Many of them were strong and well built but did not look well because of lack of paint. It is surprising what difference a nice coat of paint can make.

"The second greatest defect was the lack of names on the boxes, or names that had faded so they were hard to see. The names are supposed to be painted distinctly on the side of the box in letters a minimum of one inch high. We saw mailboxes that were well constructed and painted very nicely but lacked this mark of identification. Often people who have moved into the area have left the names of the former occupants on the mail box. This could be confusing if our mail men were not so efficient. It especially makes it difficult when a new man has to take over the date boxes which are difficult mail routes.

"There were also a few out-of-date boxes which are difficult to handle but fortunately there were few of these.

"There were some boxes without flags, with broken doors and other similar defects. Many of these could be put in top condition with very little effort.

Though there weren't many, there were some boxes approved by the postoffice department. These people must take a deep satisfaction in knowing their mail boxes are really meeting the standards they should.

If only people would realize how much a little paint and few nails could improve the appearance of their property, provide greater safety for the mail and also help our mail man to give us even better service than they already do.

I enjoyed the trip and survey very much. The mail man was able to tell us some very interesting information about the people on his route. Almost everyone knew the mailman and there was a friendly and pleasant feeling between the carrier and the people on the route.

Mr. Smith told us that a mail man often has an opportunity to help the people along the route when there is a fire, when cattle escape from their fences and many other times. It is a rare job that gives one an opportunity to make friends just by waving each time you go by and helping these people along the route."

Special Graduation Ceremony

When an emergency appendectomy hospitalized Ernest Cassidy, and kept him from participating in the commencement exercises planned for the 1957 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school, school officials planned a special one for him at the Charlevoix hospital.

On hand to see Albert H. Smith, secretary of the board of education (second from left) present Ernest with his hard-earned diploma were (left to right) Miss Anne Baumgartner, superintendent of the Charlevoix hospital, Supt. R. G. Bennett and H. E. Bingham, high school principal.

Mr. Bingham said that was the first time in the years that he has been principal that such an emergency has arisen.

Anniversary Of Champlain Fire

We left Norwood at 11:20 Thursday night enroute to Charlevoix and were out perhaps 40 minutes when the fire alarm was given. I was standing forward on watch when a man, his clothing ablaze, ran on deck. I told him to jump in the tanks and instructed the second mate to go out and see what was wrong. He said "She's all right." I told the wheelman to put the wheel hard to port so we could get to land and head for Fisherman's Island. It was about six or eight minutes when the boat struck bottom about a mile from land."

According to other eye-witness accounts, everyone was driven from below deck when the fire started and the steam-driven engines, left untended, were going full speed ahead. The lifeboats floundered and were lost, as they were lowered into the water. Doors, fenders and everything possible was torn loose and thrown into the water to serve as life rafts as passengers and crew alike abandoned ship. Crewmen and other survivors agreed that it was only a matter of 10 or 15 minutes from the time the alarm was given until the ship was grounded on a sand bar and everyone was in the water.

The captain and other reached shore and joined with crewmen of a vessel loading at Smithson's camp and lumbermen from the camp in picking up survivors. Among those who lost their lives were six children. Late that night a tug was dispatched from Charlevoix to bring the Champlain to the south pier here where all fire-fighting equipment was brought to extinguish the fire in the smoldering hull.

On board the ship at the time of the fire were 23 passengers and a crew of approximately 29.

The 185 foot ship was later rebuilt as the City of Charlevoix. The ship was built in 1870 at the cost of $30,000.

The late Mrs. Harrison Bedford of this city was one of the survivors of the tragedy in which her sister, Mrs. Elie Smith, lost her life.

Of the 22 victims, 11 were never identified. They were buried in the plot of ground near the present Brookside cemetery.

Local Schools Annex Part of Hayes District

The Charlevoix county board of education in regular session Thursday, transferred nearly one-half of the former Hayes No. 3 school district to the Charlevoix school district, Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, has announced.

The closed district had voted to annex to the Boyne City public Schools on May 25 with the understanding that the county board of education would transfer that part of the district being served by the Charlevoix Public Schools. Their action made final disposition of the last closed school district in Charlevoix county.

The retiring treasurer of the annexed district, David Smith, together with his father have been the only persons to hold that office since the founding of the district. The present record book being used by Mr. Smith dates back to 1887.

In other action, the board named Mr. Robinson to another four year term as superintendent of the Charlevoix county schools.

Complete Driver Training Program At Beaver Island

Plans are being completed this week for a program marking the conclusion of the first Driver Training program offered on Beaver Island.

The program will be held at the island Friday. Among those who will participate in it will be Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, Sheriff Glenn E. Rose, and Robert Elzinga of the Secretary of State office as well as Robert J. Sternberg, driver consultant of the Department of Public Instruction who has been teaching the course.

All who have completed the course will receive certificates.

Announce New Air Mail Schedule

Effective Friday, airmail deposited in the Charlevoix post office up until 5 p. m. daily except Saturday and holidays will now make connections out of Petoskey, according to Postmaster Peter H. Timmer.

This new service is made available following the addition of new flights on the Capitol Airlines.

Place Plaque to Commemorate Island Kingdom

The first plaque marking an historical site in the northern section of the lower peninsula of Michigan was dedicated on Charlevoix's waterfront Sunday.

The plaque pictured above marks the site of the Mormon Kingdom on Beaver Island, the only kingdom within the United States. James Jesse Strang established the kingdom about 1850 and reigned as its king until his untimely death in 1856. One of his followers wounded him on June 16 of that year and after his death on July 13, 1856, his Mormon followers were driven from the island. The Mormon colony also published the first daily newspaper, the Northern Islander, on the Island. The historical print shop is presently being restored and will serve as a museum.

The plaque was placed here by the Michigan Historical Commission. The dedication followed a tour of the island by representatives of the Commission. Among these were Dr. George S. May who heads the marking program for the commission and who served as master of ceremonies for the brief program.

Chester W. Ellison, a member of the six-member Commission, spoke briefly on the aims of the commission; Russell P. Hoffman of Plymouth, who is restoring the print shop and who is also president of the Beaver Island Historical Society, revealed his plans for the island and thanked the commission for erecting the plaque; Mrs. Harriet Kilborn of Petoskey, former trustee of the Michigan Historical Society, outlined briefly the meaning of this plaque; Mayor James Hiller greeted the guests and said that it is we recognize the past so that we can appreciate the present and plan for the future.

Senator Frank Andrews, Rep. Clarence B. Meggison, Lloyd McDonough of St. James and Archie LaFreniere, president of the Beaver Island Civic Association, also spoke briefly prior to the unveiling of the plaque by Mr. Ellison.

At a brief ceremony on the island, following a tour, Mr. Ellison presented a photostatic copy of an old map of Beaver Island to Mr. Hoffman.

Making the tour were Mr. and Mrs. Ellison and two sons, Dr. and Mrs. May and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Hittle and son, Mark, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and Walter Wojan.

A number of Beaver Island residents returned to Charlevoix aboard the Emerald Isle for the dedication ceremony.

The officers will be installed July 15. Members are reminded at effective Oct. 1 the dues for 1958 dues will be raised. However, 1958 dues paid before that time will be at the old rate.

Remove Injured Man from Ship

Coast Guardsmen at the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station were called on at noon Saturday to remove an injured seaman from the Swedish motorship, Caroline Smith, of Stockholm, Sweden.

He was Jerker Hogstrom of Stockholm who suffered an injured shoulder when he fell through an open hatch on the ship.

He was removed from the ship and taken to the Charlevoix hospital for treatment.

Council Awards Contract to Build New Water Main

The Reamer Brothers Construction Co., of Lapeer has been awarded the contract for the construction of the trunkline water main for the city of Charlevoix.

The company's bid for $42,718.60 was accepted by the city council at a special meeting held Monday.

Nine bids for the construction of 5,746 ft. of 10 in. water main were submitted to the council on June 10. Reamer Brothers bid was the lowest and the bid of $55,447.90 submitted by Hodgkiss and Dourna of Petoskey was the highest.

The trunkline water main will be laid along a route beginning at Park ave and ending on the east side of Bridge st. Via Sherman st. and Carpenter ave.

Work on the project will begin as soon as the bonds are sold.

Men's Handicap Golf Tourney to Be Held Sunday

The third annual men's handicap best ball tournament will be held at the Charlevoix Municipal Golf course Sunday, Keith Carey, who has returned from Midland to manage the course for the fourth year, has announced.

The tournament will officially open the course for the 1957 season.

The 18-hole tournament will be open to all golfers who have established a handicap on the municipal course. Entrants may select their own partners and play any time during the day Sunday, Mr. Carey said.

All golfers who have not turned in their score cards are urged to do so at the earliest possible date in order that an accurate handicap may be filed.

The team of Hal Hill and Dal Henry are the defending title holders. Chum White and Bob Carey were the 1955 winners.

In announcing the plans for the tournament, Mr. Carey said the course is in excellent condition. Walter Henley has returned as greenkeeper. He has been assisted during the spring by Earl Block. Guy Swanson will assist during the summer months.

Mr. Carey will be assisted in the management of the course by Mrs. Carey.

The fleet of pleasure boats are scheduled to leave Sturgeon Bay July 8 or 9, arriving here for an overnight refueling stop. Weather permitting, they will then proceed to Mackinac Island.

Freedmans Win First Game in Softball Summer Schedule

The 1957 summer softball season got off to a fine start Monday night with Freedman's trimming Ellsworth by a score of 8 to 5.

In the second Class A game of the season Carson-Klooster, the defending champs, trounced the City Merchants 14-0 in a game called in the fifth inning under a ruling which permits the discontinuance of a game when a team has a 10-point lead at the end of the fifth.

Games scheduled for the week will find LaBlances playing Edwards and Dutchers meeting at 6:30 and City Merchants and Ellsworth playing at 8:15 p. m. tonight (Thursday). Lieberman at 6 p. m.; White Cross meeting Cadillac at 7:15 p. m. and Freedman's taking on American Mold in the nightcap at 8:30 p. m. Friday.

On Monday three games are scheduled with Lieberman meeting White Cross at 6 p. m.; Cadillac and the Pirates playing at 7:15 and the Coast Guard making its first appearance against Carson-Klooster at 8:30 p. m.

On Tuesday night it was Ted Witt take on Dutchers and American Mold will meet Ellsworth and on Wednesday LaBlances will play Morts and Coast Guard will meet City Merchants.

In the opening game Monday Ed Culbertson pitched a strong three-hitter for Freedmans enabling them to spoil Ellsworth's debut in their new uniforms.

On Tuesday night was Ted Potter's pitching which paced the game, which accounted for Carson-Klooster's victory over City Merchants by the lopsided score of 14-0.

At the brief ceremony marking the opening of the 1957 softball season, three of Charlevoix's oldest and most loyal fans threw out the first balls of the season. They were Robert Stafford, Robert Mitchell and H. E. Cunningham. Dean Davenport, soft ball director, introduced them and the managers of the teams which participated in the opening game, John Swanson of Freedman Artcraft and Art Drenth of Ellsworth. Dean Davenport Sr. was master of ceremonies.

Other officers are: vice president, Mrs. G. B. Saltonstall; secretary, Mrs. Karl Schultz; treasurer, Mrs. Don Gilbert and board of directors, Mrs. Homer Mason. Other members of the executive committee are Mrs. E. K. Shanahan and Mrs. Ted Malpass of East Jordan.

Plans for a bake sale to be held at the Geiken building July 5 and for the annual fashion show and luncheon later next month were made. Mrs. Gilbert also announced that a new supply of candy is here and now on sale by Mrs. Freedman, Mrs. Hawley, Frances Milner, Mrs. James Gallagher among others.

Life Guards to Assume Duties at Major Beaches

Lifeguards will assume their duties on Charlevoix's three major beaches beginning Monday, Hal M. Hill, city superintendent, announced this week.

Taking over on the beaches this year will be Robert Doctor, who has completed two years at Central Michigan college who will be at the north side or depot beach, John Connolly, a Michigan State junior who will return to the Lake Michigan beach south of the piers and Joe Etienne, who has completed his first year at Coe College who will be at the Ferry ave. beach.

The guards will be at beaches from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 to 6 p. m. daily Monday through Friday and from 1 to 6 p. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Swimming lessons will be given at the north side or depot beach only from 9:30 to 11:30 Monday through Friday.

All local youngsters interested in enrolling in the classes are asked to register at the city hall next week, leaving their name, address, age and swimming experience. They will then be assigned to classes and notified when to report for lessons. Registrations will be accepted on Monday and Tuesday at the city hall.

Mr. Doctor will teach swimming. He is a certified Red Cross instructor who has also completed his lifesaving requirements.

Candidates File Petitions for School Trustee

Three candidates filed petitions for trustee of the Charlevoix board of education as the deadline for posting petitions passed Friday.

They are John L. Boss, Harry F. Hooker and Henry P. Supernaw who will seek election to the position being vacated by Vernon L. Mathews who is not a candidate for re-election.

The names of the candidates will appear on the ballot in the July election.

At the same time the voters of the school district will be asked to vote on a millage proposal which would give the school mills for operating costs for the current year.

Hospital Guild Names Officers At Annual Meet

High School Band Plays at Annual Lilac Festival

The Charlevoix high school band, 55 pieces strong, travelled to Mackinac Island Sunday to participate in the annual Lilac Festival on the historic island.

The Charlevoix band was one of two in the parade, the other being the Munising high school band. An interesting feature of the parade was the international flavor given the event by the delegates at the Motal Reamament center, marching in their native costumes.

Following the parade the band members had about three hours to themselves during which the took advantage of the horse-drawn carriages, bicycles and the swimming pool at the Grand Hotel.

They made the trip to Mackinaw by school bus, leaving here at 8 a. m. and returning at 5:30 with a ferry ride to and from the island.

Accompanying the band were the director, A. C. Odmak, and Mrs. Odmak, Supt and Mrs. R. G. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Smith and Avirill Howard.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

You should have been there it was very informal but lots of fun with more nice people we'd never met before . . . plus many old friends . . . We mean the dedication or unveiling of the first historical marker to be placed in the northern section of lower peninsula . . . Our own city officials were there and Dr. Mays, Mr. Ellison, Dr. Hoffman, Lloyd McDonough, Archie LaFreniere, Senator Andrews, our own Clarence McGinnis to name a few . . . You'll be seeing the marker which designates Beaver Island as the kingdom of King Jesse James Strang . . . publisher of the first daily newspaper north of Grand Rapids . . .

Mr. R. P. Hoffman of Plymouth and his charming wife are the people who are restoring the home of the newspaper, the Northern Islander, the old print shop on Beaver Island . . . How they happened to come to the island is a story in itself . . . Mrs. H. said they had made reservations and plans for a vacation on the Gulf of Mexico when a girl in the Mr. Hoffman's office mentioned Beaver Island and asked why they didn't go there instead . . . Mr. H's first question was "Where is Beaver Island?" This girl soon told them and soon they found themselves going north instead of south, landing in Charlevoix just in time to be told there was no ferry . . . that it had been tied up at the dock because it failed to meet requirements . . . (That was the old North Shore) . . . But after coming this far they weren't to be discouraged so they flew to the island . . . fell in love with it and are now making it their part-time home . . . Who says little things don't make the difference?

You know, we've been getting quite a chuckle out of the summer clothes, especially swim suits, that have been on display in our stores . . . It seemed sort of unreasonable, if you know what we mean . . . But now it looks as tho' the laughs are going to be on us . . . With temperatures skyrocketing . . . not only on the east coast and in the south but here . . . and scads of people going to the beach . . . well, maybe it wasn't so funny after all . . . Oh yes, and don't forget that Friday's to be the hottest day yet according to the forecast . . . so don't say we didn't warn you . . . And for heaven's sake, don't get too much sun . . . Sunburn can lay you low, in case you don't realize it.

Have you noticed the beautiful English hawthorn trees around town that are in full bloom . . . and very shortly the peonies will be in blooming too we noticed the buds are so big and fat . . . the bright red poppies . . . blooming in the most unexpected places have certainly added a bit of color to the landscape . . .

A great big welcome home to our summer residents who are already with us and to those who will be arriving shortly . . . This is one of the happiest times of year for we're already meeting old friends and greeting them after an absence of several months . . . It's so good to see them . . .

Isn't it funny how a picture or a few words about an event you think you've forgotten will open up the archives . . . and soon you're recalling the event as tho' it were yesterday . . . That happened last week when the Courier carried the story on the burning of the old Champlain . . . Mrs. William Heise, the former Carrie Bartlett, called us to say that she could remember when the Champlain, evidently after it had outgrown its days as a passenger vessel, was again rebuilt at Swale's ship yard on the north side of Round Lake at about the spot where the Hamilton Moses boat house now stands . . . You will remember that immediately after it burned it was rebuilt and named the City of Charlevoix . . . The incident Mrs. Heise remembers must have been after that . . . She relates that her family lived in a house where the Westons now live . . . The whole town turned out for the launching of the boat . . . she's been invited to ride the boat down the ways but her mother thought she was too young so she had to watch it from their front porch where lots of their friends had gathered . . . The band was there . . . it wasn't much of a band, she said but the town wasn't very big then . . . some 58 or 60 years ago . . . She said she'd completely forgotten the event until she saw the picture and then it all flashed back into her mind.

Don't know who had the most fun . . . the adults or the kids . . . but everyone has reported a whale of a time at both Brownie Day and Scout troop camp . . . We'd like to add our praises to all those adults who planned both camps . . . and saw that the program was carried out . . . Thanks to them, your youngsters can enjoy these annual camping programs . . . We think they deserve a lot of credit and certainly a "well-done" from the entire community.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Looze had as their guests last week their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Southern and son, Bill, who spent a week here en route from Norman, Okla., to the University of Michigan Biology Camp on Douglas Lake where they will spend the summer.

Her son received his degree in vocational agriculture and will teach at Byron, Mrs. Hunn, who has been teaching at Durand, will teach at Gaines where she now lives.

To Complete Second Salk Vaccine Shots to High School Students

Before the close of the 1956-57 school year, 354 high school students in Charlevoix county over 14 years of age received Salk vaccine shots, Mrs. Walter Davis of East Jordan, Charlevoix county chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis announced this week.

All schools with the exception of Charlevoix gave the students their first and second shots. Charlevoix was late in getting started on the program so local students will receive their second shots Friday. When this is completed the county Chapter will have provided vaccine for 708 shots.

Doctors Examine 101 Orthopedic Cases at Clinic

One hundred and one children from the four county area which comprises District Health Department No. 3 were examined at the two-day orthopedic clinic held last Wednesday and Thursday under the sponsorship of the Michigan Crippled Children Commission. The district health department and the Northern Michigan Medical Society cooperated in the project designed to aid physically handicapped children throughout the state.

Orthopedic surgeons examining the children were Dr. Victor Mateskon of Petoskey and Dr. J. T. Jerome of Traverse City. Orthopedic nurses and a physical therapist from the Commission assisted with the clinic. X-rays were taken at the Charlevoix hospital.

in Charlevoix county was made possible by the 1957 March of Dimes. In late January, word came through to all county chapters that the National Foundation Medical Advisory Board had advised and approved that steps be taken to protect the older teenage group and those under 40 years, Mrs. Davis said. Figures released by the National Foundation showed the polio incidence in 1956 was higher among those in the late teens and the 20's.

Charlevoix county officials made plans for the inoculation program when informed that one-third of the funds raised in the county during the March of Dimes fund drive could be used for this polio protection program.

Charlevoix county, however, did not have funds to include the entire 14 to 40 year group so concentrated in the high school age group.

Eighty-five students in Charlevoix received the vaccine; 128 in East Jordan and 151 in Boyne City, Boyne Falls and Walloon Lake.

Road Officials To Attend Conference

The fifth annual National Highway Conference for County Engineers and officials, sponsored by the American Road Builders Association, will be held at French Lick, Ind., Oct. 28-29-30.

Charlevoix county road commission officials will be among the 1,000 delegates expected to attend the meeting to hear the nation's top county highway experts discuss "Trends" as related to county and local highway administration.

Would Establish Foreign Service Training Academy

Edwin J. Madill who has been attending the U. S. Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., before leaving for Calgary, Alberta, Canada, where he will serve as U. S. Consul has had the following letter to the editor published in the Foreign Service Journal urging the establishment of a Foreign Service Academy.

Addressed to the editor of the Journal it reads as follows: "Just from the limited experience derived during the past six months as a Foreign Service Officer at the U. S. Army War College, it has become startlingly apparent to me that if service schools benefit the military and good fortune to be assigned to those civilians who have had the them, how much more important, or at least equally so, it would be to have a full-rigged foreign service school or, if you will, academy. The role of the foreign service officer during the period of 1957 to 1977 will probably be more demanding than ever before in the history of our country. If trained and competent officers are needed in our military to win wars even better trained and more competent officers are needed in our foreign service to win the peace and or to keep the peace.

"I am sure that the present staff of the Foreign Service Institute has fully considered the necessity of such an institution and the value derived from assembling men from other branches of government if for no other reason than to learn to appreciate the other fellow's point of view."

Training Ship Schedules Firing

Naval Reserve Training ships will use the northern end of Lake Michigan for air and surface target practice June 19 and 20 and July 3 instead of June 7 as previously announced, according to a release from the Corps of Engineers district office at Detroit.

Showering Bride with Gifts Is Fun for Everyone

Make Party Gay, Gifts Practical

Showering the bride with gifts of lasting usefulness is a charming institution. And it's fun for everybody.

In fact, the bride is rare who would feel quite properly married without at least one shower in her honor.

The party itself is all frothy gaiety. But the gifts are practical as practical can be. As Vogue puts it: "The practical wedding present—for the bride."

The shower—which is given by friends, never relatives of the bride or groom—may center around a luncheon, bride party, tea or supper.

Usually the mothers of the bride and groom and girl friends of the bride's age are invited. No one should be asked who isn't on the wedding list.

Purpose of Shower

Invitations may be given by telephone or informal note. The theme and color scheme, if any, are included in the invitations.

The main purpose of a shower is to give the bride gifts she needs to start housekeeping. Since the same persons will have to give wedding presents later on, shower gifts are usually not too expensive.

But this doesn't rule out giving larger gifts. Often two or more girls—or the whole group—will pool their money to buy a toaster or electric coffee maker or rotisserie. These gifts make more sense than the cute but useless contributions that clutter an attic later on.

The most successful showers carry the theme through gifts and decorations.

Decorations, of course, don't have to be elaborate to be effective. Ingenuity and good taste are what count.

One good basic decoration—which can be varied to suit—is the opened umbrella, standing at an angle on table or floor, serving as a sort of cornucopia from which the gaily wrapped gifts spill.

Here are some suggestions for kinds of showers to give:

The Steel Shower

The latest—and most practical—kind of bridal shower features the many wonderful gifts of steel to make the bride's home more

For decorations a perfect note is a pretty umbrella—which can be one of the bride's gifts because it has steel ribs—placed open in the center of the table to frame the gifts. Around the edge of each steel rib, at the tip of each steel rib, attach a small steel cooking utensil—children's sets are ideal for this purpose—such as a small coffee pot, egg beater, spoon, etc.

A steel shower centerpiece may be made using a flower trimmed steel umbrella frame, inserted partially open, into an inverted funnel surrounded by a wreath of for-get-me-nots.

Kitchen Shower

Among gifts to delight a bride's homelike heart are the practical items to stock a well-equipped kitchen: Steel pots and pans in wide range of sizes and at least two sturdy steel can openers. Cutlery is ever welcome:

paring knives, potato peelers, bread knife, carving set, set of steak knives and butcher knives is important if they are to last. For this reason be sure they are made of stainless steel.

Steel Canister sets are attractive necessities. Other handy items are sieves, graters, funnels, spatulas, scrapers, measuring spoons and cups, and steel cake and pie pans.

To personalize the gifts, each girl could include her favorite recipe.

For decorations, a gaily decorated garab ge pail is novel.

Clean-up Shower

Why not fill a galvanized steel pail with cleaning supplies—scrub brushes, sponges, steel wool, scouring pads, cleanser, dust cloths, soap flakes, mops, squeegees, bottles of polish and wax. It's not an elegant gift, but its practicality will endear it to the bride. If the girls are feeling extra flush, several could go together and buy a vacuum cleaner or floor waxer.

Give a bride her wish, and likely as not she'll take electric housewares.

Either as a shower or a wedding gift, nothing delights the heart of the prospective homemaker half so much as an electric appliance. There's a vacuum cleaner or portable television or vibrator.

In the kitchen her coffee maker will turn out perfect coffee for her very first breakfast in the new home. Her electric mixer and waffle iron insures waffles just the way he likes them. No burnt toast will pop from the automatic toaster; the orange juice is just right aerated in the blender.

But the perfect first breakfast will be followed by a perfect dinner if she has been given an automatic skillet with controlled heat, a broiler, a rotisserie, a pressure cooker.

Then there are shredders juice extractors, deep fat fryers, egg cookers, food mixers, ice cream freezers, ice crushers, knife sharpeners, meat grinders, roasters, sandwich grills, hand mixers—all designed to let the inexperienced bride serve meals that look and taste like an expert's. With such first rate help constantly assisting her, how could she miss?

Other wonderful features of the many electric housewares available to help the bride keep house: They're easy to take care of, stay lovely forever and are a constant reminder of the donor.

Picture Pointers

Most photographers take pictures of the church decorations, house and bridal table before the ceremony. You'll need the clergyman's permission to take pictures during the ceremony itself.

Usually the professional photographer takes the formal pictures of the bride in her wedding dress either at the store during the final fitting or at the bride's home after the dress has been delivered, a few days before the wedding.

Inviting Invitations

When the bride and her mother have completed their invitations and announcement lists they should go to a stationer and settle on a style from the sampler of engraving. And remember to allow him plenty of time to deliver.

Shower gift is put to use right away by the new bride. No coffee-making problems here—not even for the girl who's never boiled water.

Birds Build Cups, Saucers, Boathouses Penthouses, Ovens—Just to Have a Home

Across North American millions of birds are hard at work making cups, saucers, ovens, boathouses, jugs, and penthouses in which to lay their eggs.

Some move into unfurnished apartments, old nests of other species or man-made birdhouses. A few gadabouts, avian parasites, build no nests but foist their offspring on chance acquaintances.

The architectural skill of birds ranges from the sublime to the nonexistent. For some birds home is any old spot on the ground where an egg can be hatched.

Almost every conceivable kind of building material is used, says the National Geographic Society. Mud makes up the juglike nest of the cliff swallow, and forms the foundation for robins' cup nests in city maples.

The chimney swift plucks dead twigs in flight, then glues them together with saliva to shape a half saucer inside a chimney.

Twigs don't interest an eagle. It thinks nothing of carrying limbs the size of an oak to its penthouse atop a tree. Eagles have been known to equip their massive, untidy aeries with lightbulbs, fish-plugs, and golf ball.

While most birds build a new

Michigan has 11,037 inland lakes, 36,350 miles of streams and 3,121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline—four times as much water covered area as any other state.

A stream in California is known as the West Fork of the South Fork of the North Fork of the San Jose River, says the National Geographic Society.

home each year, some take over the nests of others. For bluebirds and crested flycatchers, an abandoned woodpecker hole is high on the demand list of avian real estate.

The flycatcher almost always adds a distinctive bit of decoration—a dried snakeskin. Some have gone modern. When snakeskin is unavailable, cellophane will do.

On a woodland floor, the ovenbird builds the nest that gives its name—a dome of coarse grasses, weed stalks, and leaves that resembles an old-fashioned oven. The black and orange oriole knits together a hammock of plant fibers, string, grasses, hair, and bark. Its pendulous, gourd-shaped nest swings from the end of a branch.

Certain birds, in their search for nesting materials, need not look far. Ducks pluck down from their underparts to make a soft, warm nest lining.

Grebes pile up decayed vegetation to form a houseboat, moored to marsh plants. It rises and falls with water level, keeping the babies dry.

The marsh wren weaves itself a ball-like house among cattail fronds. Males arrive at the nesting ground before the female.

They occupy their time building several nests. To no avail. The female builds her own. The spurned work of the males may serve to distract predators from the real home.

The cowbird, disdaining to soil its beak with honest labor, lays its eggs in the nests of other birds. Many a hostess bird raises the intruder, fetching food constantly. In some instances, the baby cowbird is bigger than the foster parents slaving for it.

Cannier victims will build a new nest over the cowbird egg. One warbler built seven such nests in succession, isolating a cowbird egg in each of the six understories.
